Queens House March 8. 1767
m 2 past 7. P. H.

My Dear Lord, The very good issue of the Debate in the House of Commons on Friday is a plain proof if firmness is shewn that with common care every difficulty will vanish; I do not mean to take up your time with any Comment on the conduct of the Majority of the Cabinet, for you are too well acquainted with My Sentiments for that to be necessary, but temper, resolution, & the following no paths but those ^{that tend to obtain} ~~of the general~~ honour & advantage ^{for} my Dominions cannot fail of meeting in the end with success, I hope you remember my earnest advice of not stirring from home till your Physician gives his sanction to it.
