Whitehall $\frac{3}{4}$ p. 11. A. D. May 1. 1790.

Mr. Grenville has the honour of transmitting to Your Majesty the minute of a meeting of Your Majesty's confidential servants held last night, on the subject of the transactions at Rootha Sound.

W^m.

Mr. Grenville begs leave humbly to express to Your Majesty his hopes that the measures submitted to Your Majesty on this occasion will meet with Your Majesty's approbation, and that they may produce their effect without the necessity of Your Majesty's having recourse to those extremities which might otherwise become unavoidable.

Enclosure

Whitehall April 30th 1790.

Present

The Lord Chancellor

The Lord Privy Seal

Duke of Richmond

Duke of Leeds

Earl of Chatham

Mr. Pitt

Mr. Grenville.

Upon consideration of the information which has been received from Mr. Meares of the detention and capture of several British Vessels

Encl

Vessels at Hootka Sound on the coast of America and of the circumstances of that transaction, as also of the papers which have been delivered by Mr. Del Campo relative thereto,

Your Majesty's servants have agreed humbly to submit to Your Majesty their opinion that Your Majesty's Minister at the Court of Madrid should be instructed to present a memorial demanding an immediate and adequate satisfaction for the outrages committed by M. de Martinez;
And

Enclosure

And that it would be proper, in order to support that demand, and to be prepared for such events as may arise, that Your Majesty should give orders for fitting out a Squadron of Ships of the Line.

The conduct of the Court of Spain makes the measure proposed necessary though far from desirable. I own till the answer from Spain arrives I shall feel most anxious, as I am not sanguine that the conduct of that Court may be such as we must naturally desire.

By the Messenger that will bring the letters arrived this day by the Dutch Mail I ~~shall~~ ^{to change a line of} ~~shall~~ ^{Mr. Green} ~~shall~~ ^{to} whether a post will be necessary for equipping the Squadron proposed and whether the Privy Council for that purpose is recommended for Monday.

Mr Pitt humbly submits to your Majesty that as the objection to Grants out of the four and an half per Cent Fund has prevented the Completion of your Majesty's gracious Intention in favor of Dr Willis in the mode originally suggested, there now appears no other way of carrying them into effect than by an Application to Parliament, and he has therefore taken the liberty of preparing a Draft of a Message to the two Houses, according to the usual Form on similar occasions, and has the honor of transmitting two Copies of it for Your Majesty's Royal Signature, if the Measure meets with Your Majesty's Approbation.

the Honour of being presented to Your Majesty on that the same mark of Your Majesty's favour should be extended to Mr. Shore, who has served with so much credit as a supreme Councillor at Fort William

There is a clause in it which empowers Your passing of the bill, but not carried into execution.

Mr. Grenville has the honour of transmitting to Your Majesty some dispatches received this morning from Lord Dorchester; and

and as from the tenour of those letters, and also from the accounts which have been received from India of the motions of Tippoo Sultan, it appears probable that in the event of a War with Spain great difficulties would be found in making any considerable detachment of troops in diminution of the present military force either in India, or in Canada, Mr. Grenville humbly begs leave to submit to Your Majesty's consideration whether, in order in some degree to supply the want which will be felt of troops for offensive operations, Your Majesty would approve of sending a body of Your Majesty's Hanoverian troops in the same manner as was done in the last War, to augment the

the Garrison of Gibraltar. Mr. Grenville begs leave to mention that if this idea should be approved of by Your Majesty he will take immediate steps for directing a sufficient number of transports to be sent to such place as Your Majesty shall see for the embarkation, and at such time as Your Majesty may be pleased to point out.

Mr. Grenville is not sufficiently apprized apprized of the detail of the arrangements which have been made on former occasions, but he hopes that if Your Majesty should approve of the general idea that Your Majesty will have the goodness to direct such explanations as Your Majesty shall think proper, to be given respec-ting Your Majesty's intentions on the subject.

H

If Your Majesty should think it practicable to afford this assistance, Mr. Genoville hopes he shall be excused for taking the liberty to add that the facility which would thereby be given to the operations would be greatly increased by the troops being ordered to hold themselves, as soon as possible, in readiness for embarkation.
