

Sir

I have been this instant inform'd that Mr^s Hornsby purveyor of oysters is dead, and if you are not already engag'd, I hope you will give the service to Mr^s Rounde, & Mr^s Banks at Brainford, who had a debt due from the late Prince of Wales, of sixty odd pounds; and also another loss from the late purveyor Geo: Hornsby by serving Oysters for him at Kew, for which she has never been paid.

I hope, as the persons I have recommended are in great distress, and no other friend to apply for them, you will excuse my taking this liberty.

I am Sir

Leicester Street
 Sunday one's Clock

Your most Obedt.
 Humble Ser^t

John Grove
