Sir

I am under promise to my mother to trouble you with a few lines in confidence concerning the money not to be committed but she thinks it right to inform you that her dislike is very great at the thing, talking of taking away the Child from my Brother & the Penns for the Money both money have their faults concerning it she is of opinion that at this moment it would do considerable mischief & be a cause for to occasion many an unpleasant thing between the Duke & the Prince besides the words who have ever attacked the Queen concerning the Jew cup may think it is some intrigue of hers therefore she wishes you to get that totally stopped for tho she has taken an opportunity of telling His Majesty that the world would blame her & hoped he would not take ill that she could have nothing to do with the thing. it has had no effect & it must come from those who have more power. I will speak with you when we have time candidly on the business & tell you all she has said which I think you will approve but at present of a pleasure to be so much on His mind that he told me he should employ Lady Sebastian to find proper people for the child that must remain between us but I cannot help remarking it is a very unpleasant thing that he should wish a person to settle this who he scarcely knows I am again to express to you how deeply we all feel our obligations to you

I did not like troubling G. C. H. with another letter till I had somewhat to communicate from my interview with the D<sup>ch</sup> & I must say there seems to be no disposition either to make the worst of the question relative to the Royal Child, but there seems to be a very considerable misunderstanding as to the situation of the question at present. I believe it is conceived from what H. M. has allow'd to transpire at various times that it was now before the Law Officers of the Crown & that they w<sup>d</sup> probably give such an opinion as w<sup>d</sup> force the Prince into a reference to the Twelve Judges — Such is not the state of the Business at this moment, but as I understand the D<sup>ch</sup> & it is only before the Cabinet in order that they / the members of the Cabinet sh<sup>d</sup> be prepared by timely reference to the Law Officers of the Crown <sup>step</sup> What will be the most expedient to recommend to H. M. to command to be taken so any act of the C. of W. demonstrate a resistance to the King's Pleasure relative to the Child all that is meant therefore by the C. being drawn into a reference to the Judges is that if he does not acquiesce in the King's will such advice will be given as will make it necessary some-:voidable for the question of right to be agitated by the 12 Judges but as for as I do not collect it seems the anxious with of the Lord Chancellor as well as of the Cabinet that an understanding should take place if possible between A. M. & the P. without any legal discussion or opinion.

This I think very practicable tho' we know that the P. has repeatedly declared that he will not allow the Child to live with her Mother at Windsor, or in London, are these events likely to come to pass?
than if there is a disposition for reasonable & good understanding they anticipate grievances & objections & before they exist stipulate against them? Pray Pray consider this reasoning quite private for you know the P. has advisers in all respects superior to me but it certainly is my opinion that it will be quite time enough to complain of or object to any part of the care management or education of the child when just grounds of displeasure sh<sup>d</sup> arise in the mind of Mr R. H. I do not tell them

The Queen commands me to say to you that she thinks it her Duty to represent to you that the A - g scheme as consistently not diminished every thing regarding Windsor she will most readily intercede but she thinks her own promises & her should be prevented at present, & that it should be partly stated to Her Majesty that she must give up her own the purpose being it is might worry her The idea is as strong as ever about number three which will certainly occasion much talk & the pleasure for getting so extensive that it would be a blessing to know that it cannot be - She thinks that if you are again so good wth as the L<sup>d</sup> & Mr J. if you may make them see the necessity of making Mr J. know the L<sup>d</sup> - what risks he runs if he over treats & fatigues himself & prevent an O. to remain at present here I mean I mean I mean you if he goes to Windsor we shall have music, dancing, & such recreations of people about that at quite alarming - But the great change within these last few days has been most wonderful & the Queen says that no longer we can remain here the Madam he will go - She went so far as to talk of the great change to turn which she heard to please him - & we are all sure that as he requires his strength he will do so many things which worry him now I have far I have read to the Queen & now must add a few lines from myself, which are to tell you I found a good opportunity for some conversation when we came home & was able to say to her that my father was in the situation of a sick child & must be humoured in trifles, so othing was absolutely necessary & any thing that would make him conscious of other feelings for him would please I was certain

The answer You are perfect by right & I understood you & wish promore to do my best & will be contented if He wishes to go to the Great Lodge to make up my mind to every thing that will please It has given me so much satisfaction I would not be writing this down for so private can never take no notice of us she has suffered so much from the heat I told her I was sure if she would represent it to the
A. G. Monday he would let her off to morrow morning allowing her to go in her stead which she has said she would 3rd friend

Sir

I cannot help troubling you with this as my Mother wishes you to know that she certainly thought after this morning's walk my Father was more hurried both in body & mind - & has fidgetted up & down the whole day this scheme was on beyond all distribution you was greatly interested in at dinner the walk but when we came home Weymouth was never out of his thoughts an instant - this evening he was great for he slept the whole evening but when he waked at breakfast he was on these terms he was out of humour & very cautions when he was going away He told my Mother that he had been spoke to prevent her ordering many things he had already be speak for my mouth but that He was determined not to do what was desired & would have gone on like himself then was thought right hands should know as I assure you one & all agree the plans & scheme have been read full today

My dear Sir

I have obey'd Her Majesty's commands respecting the letters entrusted to my charge. They were receiv'd with that degree of respect, attention, and consideration which was due to their contents. If Her Majesty sh<sup>d</sup> be pleas'd to enquire at what time it w<sup>d</sup> further convenienc I spent an audience at the Court to whom I deliver'd them, He will not fail <sup>tomorrow</sup> to obey her <sup>Majesty's</sup> commands - but charg'd me to take an opportunity of expressing the strictest secrecy in the present state of affairs as a contrary line of conduct might unexpectantly be productive of unpleasant circumstances to the

I sh<sup>d</sup> get back till October

I shall try to make three months absence, the less I am here the better, I shall have the camps and then they have hoards, and that they may go on without me I must execute the same commissio<sup>n</sup> w<sup>h</sup> King formerly did, I shall then have no trouble about parliament or other business - <sup>for they may prosecute or call it together under that</sup> He then detailed <sup>commissio<sup>n</sup></sup> the form of the Regency granted to Queen Caroline and the manner <sup>(was his expression)</sup> they resigned it again, which he said

Sir

I have been talking with my Mother & she commends me to say that the subject of the Op dwells much upon her mind not that she thinks my Father in all senses wrong about the Child for she thinks that both Father & Mother have so neglected her that something ought to be done, but what ever is done should be managed in a manner not to make the breach greater than it now unfortunately is & that she should have nothing to do with her, not what is not from wanting in affection towards the Child but the dread of being blamed either by one side or the other I must privately say to you I think my Mother has been unfairly used concerning the Op for she has never allowed herself or us to say any thing against her, but in confidence I must tell you that The Op of Brunswick sent my Mother word when she came over

"if you say to Caroline. You are to do out "a thing you will succeed with her but "if you say pray do it it will never do.
I when my Sister was with my Mum she told her "I was sure Caroline would never succeed in England for she has been from child hood the most head strong creature living & what has ruined her has been the P. marriage even that she is lucky — This is not written with any idea of ill nature I give you my honour, but it would be injurious to me when you are so good as to speak confidentially to me that I should not be open with you — You were also good enough to remark that we are all of opinion that Mr Pitts excellent proposal marries with my Father has great effect & that when he is with him if he would want that what he says procure from Reflection as such as respect of would have double weight & must be by representing to them that doing any thing wrong by any Brother would have a bad effect on the movement on the world, as he has all the right of the side & my Brother all the reasons it might stop many of these schemes which are in agitation - I am I think still better today He tells us he has taken some Medicine this I merely name from what you said to me the other evening & my Brother says that Mr Pitts visit has had a very good effect by which several be put off & thus the Great Lodge & Law made the Providence further next two months far hindered certainly too public - & we are all sure that he perfectly well knows that he is not as well as he should be by his giving into these manners of living so quietly

I must make you an excuse for troubling you with them but believe me no one feels the pressure but you are acting by the family more perfectly & commends me to say that she wishes you would in ficulty how to show her letter which she could only have communicated by letter from then never being so shaken she had sent you word & begged you as a friend to the favour that you would take it to Mr Pitt & Mr Herrishe trusted to Herri as a friend proving he would do his best in this most important my subject & beg when He shows the letter to the King that He would on the strongest terms express her adoration & devotion for His Majesty & Her affection as a Mother both feelings so strongly abili-ted forth on the present occasion she feared mentioning case of poor Pitt & doubt not that under His auspices Her prayer may succeed - She wishes you to add that the letter to Mr Adington was occasioned as much as to say that she thought it best not to trouble Mr Pitt with a letter but only an open friend - not to say what she should say for

When you have done with the letter Mr. Mother wishes it to be returned through you ought she or ought she not to see the original?

To P. S. July

I have appointed an interview with Mr. D. tomorrow at eleven - His assistance is of great importance to the point we wish to attain that I hope he kindly will be graciously pleased to allow me to hear his sentiments on the very important subject already entrusted to his consideration I have entire reliance both on his learning & honor & he feels that if he cannot be of essential service I am certain that it is far unwise from his great mind to do harm. but I must humbly beg leave to state that he will have just cause of <sup>re heart</sup> ~~complaint~~ if the confidence of <sup>the</sup> has been plac'd in him & how hastily withdrawn without even receiving his Sentiments upon it.

I much lament not having an interview with Her Majesty or your Royal Highness, on a subject of the greatest possible importance & in wh<sup>ch</sup> I have propos'd to use my utmost exertions to bring about - However <sup>It does not seem</sup> ~~that~~ as ~~not~~ a moment seems to be lost for Her Majesty to avail herself of the favourable moment in wh<sup>ch</sup> the letter has been receiv'd, I will by leave willingly to submit <sup>wh<sup>ch</sup> it strikes me that</sup> ~~wh<sup>ch</sup> the time~~ Her M<sup>ost</sup> great conversation on the subject ought to take, namely that if the reconciliation be <sup>effected</sup> ~~permitted~~ faction would be in a manner annihilated, the hands of Government of course considerably strengthened - <sup>The confidence of</sup> Foreign Powers greatly encourag'd, besides that to so religions & affectionate a disposition as that of Her Majesty's the receiving a ~~repeating~~

So acting up to the <sup>Highness</sup> ~~Lord~~ official letters must be highly gratifying ~~not~~ ~~only to His Majesty~~

I had written thus far when I rec<sup>d</sup> the honor of Mr. R. A.'s letter (1/2 past 2 o'clock) &c.
I conceive ought to have come much sooner I must say that having brought this great shown on the occasion but upon mature consideration she orders me to say that she that Gen Pitt is acquainted that this letter is come & having sent she is of opinion that it would be as well to send the letter herself in the carriage & that if Mr. Kings says any thing she will endeavour to take no step till she has spoken to Mr. Pitt on the subject she tells me that Mr. Kings's horror & scolding of her writing a common note to a Minister will make her manage therefore at present she dare not venture it if you can get the letter back this evening to send it me within half an hour or before eight o'clock tomorrow morning I should be much obliged to you & relies on Mr.

Pitt's honour never to say he has seen the letter & trusts to you that she will not be within her pleasure arguing with the fact she is writing —

I send this with hopes of your sending off

My Brother wishes me to say to You that He is very anxious to know what Mr. Pitt I will was shown the letter to the King that He will say to Mr. Pitt that He supposes He will speak to the Queen on the subject that she may be the person he wrote to my Brother as she thinks that will please her - & she is afraid of making any mistake She wishes to know if the King asks her who she sent to Mr. Pitt that she may say knowing her opinion of You she had desired You to take the letter to Mr Pitt as she had no soul she could trust, & having said that after all the anxiety letters had occasioned to her family she thought it better to put it into hands, he was sure of it proving - besides which he was so excessively affected with my Brother's letter from her niece having been so much shocked this year that she could not possibly have given it to Mrs Ingham - if he ask when she saw you she will say what he was at ordinary the letter not having arrived till then & that she had not had secrecy from you -

You will have the goodness surely to write in a manner whether it will be told the King to day or to morrow & say whether you will have the goodness to beg Mr Pitt to say that to the King concerning my Brother's writing to the Prince -

I am commanded to say to you by my father that the letter is quite safe in her hand. She will find a broken opposite note of giving it but wishes to know if there is any thing you wish her to say at the time & if Mr J. had enquired any thing concerning the letter that she could in any way do -

You know my Father's mind there in a fortnight & he has certainly misunderslood the paper that was given him.

I shall trust in God that some

Many may be taken to trust off for I suppose you mean unity of mind & body is too much for human nature to stand & one I am privately agree that he certainly is not in a state to go but that as for your self I wish you could ma-to think that many of the particular subjects of dispute we are still here

Sir I think it my Duty to inform you as I could not have the pleasure of see-ing you how grieved I was to hear my Father's conversation yesterday morn-ing, & had it it been in any power you would have been troubled with this before, I must tell you fairly that many things you think are more talk than may be proved in -re it will be put in practice for instance, it is not only to us but to Wyatt he has declared he will not remain one hour at the Sole after he gets there, & that he fully intends settling on the Isle without any of his fami-ly for the present, as we cannot move till we come from Weymouth, & his bed is not to be con--plac'd in the Apartment till he is upon the spot to see it moved himself - This brought on a conversation with regard to my mother, He told me he hoped she would know it was my mother's work he was no more with her, "I believe further that is a mistake; certainly not, why did she make one of her ladies sleep in the room? I thought it better to say it was my fault, that because she wished me to be in her room, but never mentioning her during the day, the anxiety & watching of the night would not go through, that I remained in the next room, "It is all very well but you are made to say so, I am not but if I am to speak I will speak the truth" He asked me millions of other questions & finding I was misled by myself what I had originally said, but There is one very good reason why I shall certainly not return to the D. & I. room & that is I hate London, & if I was with her I never would allow her to go. That, she would die like, & more she may go when she pleases. You may suppose this argument was so bad a one, & I found he got so incensed I had better say no more, but when I returned it gave me an opportunity of speaking very candidly to my Mother, & telling her that I had taken what he had taken so she on very self, for it was better his displeasure should fall on me than on Her, but that for her own sake I thought it was necessary she should be set right on this subject, as she would woud blame her exceedingly

He ended with saying Mr. S. was always be my friend & confidential, but I may have other friends - ~~the~~ the a great deal more papered which is too long for this letter, in the evening, he told Sophia about Mr. S. - I said if we did not show him every civility in the world & the greatest attention. He would never forgive any of us to his daying day, then struck her out a little & has disturbed beyond what you can imagine, we agreed then must not tell my Mother, for we worked her up in the morning to see they more seriously for her own interest, I proceed with her to attend her measures, for that He certainly was sensible of his error - I went through with it, because it was my study but never in my life had I so difficult a part to play of all sides—I understood some of the servants say his sickness are not <sup>any</sup> way given over, which God knows we are fully sensible of, he told me he intended taking I — I mean in to his service, & the German to which meant for my service is now completed — & that he intended to be there in a fortnight — what alarmed me most was his go: my back to the day he was taken ill, or rather so bad, & said Provi: dence shut the doors & Provi: dence opened the door just when they ought to be opened — violent upon all the Physicians — & in proposing himself very difficult to give what he does when in health — I hope of my Brothers letter, & said it was bad, & that was the manner in which he always got round my Mother, & spoke unkindly of her for a few minutes but that was soon over, & of course buried in my breast for I would not have it known by her for worlds —

I think this is the chief substance of what that paper, but I cannot help saying what grieves me that at this moment my Father (I am sorry to add) must be put in a fright, for if he is with any one he fears he is well, if not he runs on so he knows not what he says — only a trink of this in any public place! Lord how it does frighten me —

I really is shocking the thought of it, but I must be true to Forgive it I thought all this of the much consequence for you to be ignorant, of, place the fault may do to the Seas not the Shore for that is doorked here not withstanding the trials - God will be true - but we are in a melancholy state believe me

Sir

My Mother commands me to tell you she is of opinion that nothing has yet been said about her journey to the she thinks it may be beginning for Sir H. Duple will say & that the Duke will not be ready till the the week after next however she is uneasy she is so alarmed for fear of this daring journey that can be taken wh - that for you to think over & the same reason holds good if we would not go last year how can we this however we tried some other way, perhaps to succeed it - Some conversation has passed about the subject more interesting to us but nothing is to be done till my Father has: your own Mind & I will be upon it that is all I know & the confidence you have so kindly shown me made me very anxious to communicate what I know Privately I own that I speak B—n very sincerely about my Father I wish you would have some talk with him — He then even owned he did not think them so well the day before yesterday & that was a wonderful thing for him to say — who never will allow any thing about him

Sir

I have received the Queen's commands to inform you privately from your own & the L<sup>d</sup>'s knowledge that my Father was much agitated on receiving your letter he called my Mother out of the room & bid her go & I added I will see the O<sup>p</sup> first, then in vacation as we fear it may hurt my Brother & do mischief He spoke angrily at first but my Mother advised him to forget old stories & to look upon him as lost & forgive again this affair I am much He then said that he was angry my Brother had said in his letter that the O<sup>p</sup> should have nothing to say about the Club he would retract them & he ought to be excused. In I would promised to be civil. He answered I would have been true with us, but will you be an approbation, if you do that how can you prevent it? He said he would as rather had wrote to tell the D. Chancellor that he would see him first. Then you will have the goodness in conference to let the of possible for. He means now stop it you may believe we are all in an agony that the reconciliation should be over. You will tell the truth the he is better than serving our country has never been quitted for an hour. since we saw you I I assure you I have much to say to you on a score which literally racks my brain when I think of it I have done my best yet for I have not succeeded I hope for human assistance I never was so watched in my life, & assure you the not the least of a broken engine - and I see so black - that my heart blinds - for I cannot bear to see happiness so close - I pushed away in a manner not to be borne by a reasonable being - it is such a trial no more was gone through before I do believe - so most finish with the truth of my own God. will not seem to be done" but I think the - all the schemes are the same I had you been in town yesterday your good heart could not have stood it for God sake do I am not forget the meeting soon - Don't think me contradictory if I say that it would be no bad plan the 15th being soon when the meeting takes Wish that Mr. Lord should bring my Brother from the Act to my mother at present the C. in the Minister who have some

Sir
 You wished to hear how we passed cannot say comfortably Saturday last better yesterday & so determined about sending a troop for my sister in law that we were very much alarmed being sensible that if she did so it wd be all over with my Brother however however says he wd not I dare not do it like Mr D'Angone he goes to Town to morrow to pack up the Outfitter for the cattle etc and down with the saddles which are to go to Weymouth by the Packet in about great heavy state continuance & dissatisfaction against Frederick who he abuses constantly — I believe he is a cheat to him which he feels — I was told from son: however this, therefore work done as by the Post Post was many more it safe —

can walk most off quarters the too very some to pick reason I fear noted without some kind hand supports no far that will be to be established & he is to go into long apartment he is all of opinion that perhaps may do much & that of my Father is told any change may cause much talk at with a laconic kind which I be sure is the only thing now it grows one to say so but it is the truth — He talks of settling immediately about beginning & means of the way to set out the day fortnight but not till he has seen some friends here — I hope you found your children well & that we shall have the pleasure of seeing both soon & Mrs. & Miss as well as we

My Mother desires me to thank You for Your kind manner of letting her know Sir L Milman's opinion which she commends me to say she as far agrees in, as Braron is no more with the Dr, she lives in a agon for fear of mischief & no power of getting at any medical assistance for tho' the Dr may be of little use now, still the Dr is in awe of Her. The reason why she is so alarmed is that the Dr told her but yesterday he should for the future live in a state of false hood & no more tell truth to the Dr or his Gentlemen by which means she should be able to follow his own plans, which he was quietly doing now, & told Mary this morning that she had misde-

How forward all his Schemes were already - but that nobody knew it The commands to add that she far from wishes to meddle but that her state of anxiety is great for that there is an appearance of cunning which frequently shows itself in a most painful manner to her, it is her duty as well as ours to submit to the will of God but of all asistance is away we are undefor you know the present favourite servant will not tell truth concerning her - & every plan is as much determined on in her own mind as ever.

Your friends but on this occasion is deeply felt by all but by none more than

I have just been sent for by my Mother who has inform'd me that she wishes me to confer with you to let you know that she has just heard from London that Sir G. B. & Madama has been out voted & Sir G.
& Dejeu has prevailed that Mr G. is to quit the Id. entirely & has proposed Dr Hobson as the person to watch the King's health. You know the matter Sir & as therefore is concerned it is done with a view to do Miss & that being the Id. & with such young hands as Madama she is sure that the Id. will never be quarred by him & income quarred lost if you can manage to see Mrs P. before he sees the A. G. & that she should see Brown it will be still of use she can mandate me to say; what will become of us. for my Mother told me just now that after the last attempt when there was an idea of Dr. Stoberden attending the A. G. He promised & under the seal of secrecy informed her he would not undertake it this she thinks you ought to know. I never saw her more wretched & unwilling as every body I own I tremble the schemes this morning have been terrible & if Mr D<sup>r</sup> goes he will most likely sleep to night in the castle & consequently he does still talk of your friend August with

My Mother heard the last meeting was without Mrs P's knowledge very likely there may be some if so then very likely nothing ought to be said of this

My dear Mr. Wilson

As I promised you a few lines I take up my pen. As you know how we are landed safe after a long journey which you will be glad to hear went off well I do not say without having had perfect good luck. Today is hardly fair to judge as he is delighted to be here but some plagues of having suffered much yesterday with redness pains in his stomach & feet but we did not know it till this morning. As I took the liberty of telling you how he was in Paris several times, he appeared in the uniform of the German Legion This morning I ordered wear ing the German horse Guard.

This evening tomorrow at March the Sea uniform of Parade the Field Marshal uniform & in the morning the Draped Sea uniform This is merely a private hint to show you that we will certainly be would do it but all that is of little consequence of the manner but as good humour as he is now he is so charmed with Pamela there has made us all go over it to day & appear quite satisfied with his journey & every thing

I took the liberty when we got to Mystfield to tell my Mother how very honestly he had spoken of her & how desirous he was to make her happy & he upon the footing of an old friend & wholly without her knowledge with a smile & entire satisfaction perception I assured her of the would come to them straight be of the greatest consequence to her own happiness & if you do it I would speak to the Duke & my Mother to try & give in talking & saying to me he the rejoice these pleasant circumstances having had their talk I had the happiness of hearing her promise she would do what lay in her power & he has twice said the journey had gone off to perfection than I think with pleasure you — He has been but one hour in bed & then got upon his horse to see the German Regiment when he returned he came to Breakfast & has since walked with the 2<sup>d</sup> — & has upon the Infantry —

Butman has seen my Mr.
then I spoke strongly to her now so I believe that she loved & has since been with me, I take leave of the case:
not succeed now can I who have neither weight nor power, tho' I suppose her ten minutes ago that I would come into any thing was I but that the blame might not fail on me — for I would not bear self reproach — I beg pardon for this long hurried account You will have the good news to becomet when I read ~~to~~ to believe me with true content to Mrs. Kellum & love to the children
