I make ~~you~~ no excuse for this letter as I am sure you will be glad to hear from me to tell you that some Friday I am really more satisfied with the appearance of my Father than any ^{some} time his illness, & as trifles prove the comforts & enjoyments of life much more than things of consequence & weight I will give you two or three proofs which I build upon, the first that the Brown wig is again to be the constant morning dress.
Three news ones are broken, & then in talk any of his eyes he said that he had been sore, but now he was sure, that as the inflammation in the head owing to the violence of the fever was going off that it threw itself off on the eyes & made them appear more inflamed than they had ever done during his illness "at that sound well, we have had not a shadow from any quarter of any thing but the most perfect good humour so much so that my father nursed at the Septica, who ^{saying what can it be?} very judiciously said she would not take, but he is delighted so I trust in God some good has been done now about my Brother Mings do certainly not think there, for the other coming a very respectful proper letter came from Lord Maura enclosed to my fourth Brother for the which He very properly gave with her to the A. which He read to them wherein that I had you remember your telling me of es man troued, & wishing much to see them as He thought things now carried up properly w^d undoubtedly bring things to a favorable issue of He would have the honour of seeing & speaking with my Father that was refused instantly & during that time he was more agitated than I had seen him for sometime but thank God that went off but He is certainly aware, that he will not own it that He is to hear something concerning my Sister in Law for he afterwards dropt not before my Mother but before some of his "let Meddles, or repeaters do what they please they shall never make me alter my opinion of my Daughter in Law for I will support her against every Body even my own family I will you facts & make no monuments, you have acted most kindly by us. it is fair you should know every thing, & I must say that if Lord M. would see my Father I be allowed to speak the truth it might be of use but being My Brother's friend I will never be able to convince him that my sister in Law is or can be wrong. The only thing that has struck us is that as the Chan — as to see I do to day why cannot your friend propose to my Brother to see the S^d Chancellor with I do & then that I should propose to my Father to see I do with him they may be ever proper any presuming to mention it but I rely on you to forgive so that I am sure you will never attribute to impertinence for nothing I dread so much as either appearing pushing on forward, but then because was so much at heart that one really has with no peace nor comfort whilst it is going on in the manner it now does — I have said nothing of my writing this as I thought it better to open my heart to you fairly & honestly & without any other persons knowing it — I think it my Duty to state that My Mother never appeared greater or more truly dignified than on receiving the letter you saw, which she received with her usual great self command & she did her justice never taken up a word or said a severe thing since & God bless that she never took all what was done from the wonderable motives God bless her has on constantly burned on her countenance, & she has resented nothing the things have been occasionally said that must have wounded both about my Brother & my Sister in Law - thus also I like you in your ear for I have never made the remark, Silence is the best friend in so large a family as this & all one must try is to do no harm, if one can do no good I was glad to hear Edward make the same remark that he had never since last year seen my Father so well, & that these may be some minutes of anger they are soon over & he tries to soften off what he has said, privately it tells me but that is of little consequence - I think now you are all full of joy Christmas & therefore I may release you trusting that you & our dear Mrs & William may enjoy every blessing & many many happy returns of the present season, & what it you mutually enjoy the blessing of one another society for many a long year may you constantly meet with some fresh comfort which you both so richly deserve, no one on earth prays for all this to happen to you more warmly than myself for tho I do not expect happiness myself in this world I trust my heart will ever be open to enjoying that of all I love the most

I have I hope the presence of my friends. My very sincerely

Sir
I am desired to tell you that the oratorio of Mercurius Heat is to be performed at Grosvenor The first of January next Tuesday your company always wished & desired their your friendship has every day's support, therefore my brother desires me to ask you if you will come for it so invited it will be very well performed we know it would be an amusement to you & others words we know she would not come — We have heard no more since I wrote you may believe what anxiety we are in good summer regns here I may gather better do you know

Lord Hutchinson is to marry Miss Lane who refused him last year because she had been & now wishes them to oblige her friends Love to Mrs & Father

I begg'd of Mr. ... to answer you for I was in the act of going to Church but will not put off thanking you till Sunday and I hope will you I should be glad you should say many things which I cannot write in a hurry I think you had the most workmen, but all don't think so therefore I may or may not be mistaken but so far I will say that towards my Father I am pretty sure no words has been said, for the regularly says I hope I have said nothing wrong? which shows she thinks of what has been said then there words certainly do not her feelings bearing my sentence I am constantly out of the house on that point I trust I have done some little good for I begg'd of her never to show she was sick, & always receive them with pleasure, & I have asked the ladies when a pair were there in a very striking difference when I spoke to both they to write to you I said do not tell them that we continue in good measure she answered "yea the contrary than morning therefore I suspect she thought so but as I did not perceive it I tried her not to write it as it was silly to write what one did not think I rather believe it was owing to her sickness & my father is much obliged to her when at Sevenoaks - he had the half afternoon right to the morning his yesterday's visit & praised the I surprisingly but I saw with the only that satisfactory hearing her way nothing was talked of the I ever & ever again I did not see any alteration within me summe or manner - You see I tell you the truth therefore it is for your self alone I write my father whom I do sometimes whether he will or will not have the Child, & begin now to regret God knows abundance - I own honestly to you I wish we could find some person who would so far befriend my Mother, & be able to tell her how were it would be to be perfectly silent upon the subject of my Sister in Law even before her own Children, I cannot do it for if I did it would be saying some thing you wrong, & spare myself by casting down others & that I would not do - but I find every hour how dangerous it is to give out our sentiments at all, besides the present sad topic is such a warring subject that to see it has been so talked over so pleas'd & assur'd that it is nearly worn thread bare, therefore it would be wise to stop it & never talk of it dont you think so — I thank the Visit of Mrs P. & the Middl-has been so full of service that it makes my Brother who has and he was an better business & as by in something to do what was wished however I will think that so much to be done & on Tuesday the — you again to Blackheath these visits have tried to be kept by some to my Brother I thank is gone to Lord Morrice thank Heaven he is any where than with that dreadful Gang you know where I thank the Lord my Father if my Brother was to have an ance she preferred

The one we had to the most beautiful beauty of 94. In your own I wish say that my Father will never know she exhorted my Brother to retake his old friends that would be believed but not as I suppose in your very great haste which I cannot help as it is near dinner time I give that dear Mrs Watson & George have been so unwell my kind love to them both

Y^r very truly

Your letter came to me this morning & I feel more obliged to you than I can express, you shall not say I am out of efforts to stop or do any more business for this year young Mr. Sed & I then tried for an additional business day, it is a pleasure to me to sit with Stalk with you, we have heard nothing yet of any kind the Dr. has not been here & the Dr. is in good spirits & remarkably well, much as we want to be seen the winter we are quarter have not been quite so early enough as usual but you know who is here, & that the town has & the court things are maybe a little the cause, & one need not be just then is quite for yourself, & what makes me think it is a wounded mind & not the business is that when I read the sermon that was my (which by the bye was a remarkable fine one & one who ought to be often read by those in every situation in life, on the wounds of the Heart She was so exceedingly overcome she could scarcely speak for some I did not appear to see it & she appeared to weight it & attend to it much

I wish with all my heart that that - would manage & get the business settled one way or other for I think it greatly concerns the the reformation here between Mrs L. H. & D. I have consistently valued them much for He talks with delight of a letter The Book the installation, & the Budding you on just as usual in who those things we do not need to say the truth yet I am willing to thank it as well as I believe it ever will be, and as I do not expect it can be even much better it is a new study to make up once more I to put once more & confidence in God + my Mother is an opinion that D. P. should quit the way Father you again to B. & health on Thursday I must say I never saw her with her work as well as wrote us the other day how much believe how anxious we are The child is improved beyond the life & I cannot believe that had you seen Mrs. O's Lady you would have been pleased with the pro-prietty of her conduct

My kind love to Mrs. O. I believe you must promise me to let me know the moment I hear safe on her bed

Believe me to have you ever so good as to mention regarding my words of the other day to some extent they spring from a grateful & honest heart who never feels kindness, but such as yours that your name can be remembered by those sincere Pray write me to forward the children particularly George

Yours
John G. 29th

You shall not say that I am unworthy of your services for I take up my pen to write as I wish you to get the same to think over My Father when I was with my Brothers share of 24 D. C. which I am delighted at for every thing that you do & ever be mind is a comfort to me, he talked of you the best thought, but added if I could on the subject every thing else is to be agreed to, that shall be for surely in a false manner of saying as he said he never would name any person that would be unpleasant, I must not do as you or regard the fact all will go on smoothly in the name, I remain your servant for I see my Mother circumstances infinitely worse again & what has occasioned it God only knows, I see it with a degree of anxiety & torture of mind I cannot express & assure you that I have been the most melancholy that ever I experienced from protection despicable & suspicious which I do not deny cut me to the soul then believe me is not said with a view of complaining but with a degree of grief easier unmagined than expressed & I tremble for the consequences, It has made me so insupportably low that I have scarcely been able to support myself in the room — & even in part my tonight the most unwell I am It manner of expectation has been said which tho I am most willing to bear, rather than it should fall on my Father's side I fearfully own after the severe year of trial I have gone through has near broke my heart, for I have the comfort of think ing that I have most truly done my Duty & am nearly worn out - I trust you will forgive me & know that I by your good nature has occasioned me maybe to say more than I ought & more than ever I have answered before but it is almost too much what ever I say is now answered with so much assumption & the reality says such things which the God knows I have long cloaked for how can we any be concealed & in short it is so very visible that it will soon I fear if it goes on as it does be known to every body which kills me because I can never feel who is my Mother how can Gods will be done, & may I trust not myself in such a manner that I may never say one word which can in any way be thought either disrespectful or unbecoming, but

A request & degree of Christian patience that surpasses all belief -

I thought my Duty to tell you that I was much pleased with a conversation you I have had with Mr. S. I am sure you would have been pleased to not surpris'd, for I believe her an uncommon sensible woman. I see who I formerly believe could no more chief & has said much to my father which I trust may be of use - She behaved herself in a manner to ward my father which does him the greatest credit I would take too much time to tell you all here how ever whenever next I write tell you I send you this & beg if you were ever yourself as great to Mr. P. I wish sent it when I come to town

My love to dear Mr. G. William & the Children & I remain

Tuesday night your sincere friend

I am in great haste but must thank you which I have never had time to do to day for your most kind & feeling letter one which I feel deeply & thank you for for in the bottom of my heart I wish to know how you both do for I am really anxious to hear that you have lost your God & dear Mother I'm safe in heaven — for some news I have told the my brother suffers much from a sad pain in his face — I as to my Father if I speak from my conscience I think I'm very safe & I mean to add that the old I'm truly grieved that he should speak very & attending upon so little does not like to say much frequently told

As he thought he never will be better you may believe that the oars of a sad out thought I has made me so low that I require more of our good and St Helena's principles than of Man alas I profess, it would be happy if I had seen from the sea with fisher blood for I was amputating convinced it to the only thing in our situation to have old blood I should then bear things better The excessive shelliness of the cable which was estimated killed in the trade of non-peders for in my life I never felt any thing like - my brother has been very good this time I told me that she intended to bring the Sweden on regular route over York and the who, if I knew how to stop I certainly for the first & constant thought that is spent upon her you can have no idea of & I want tell it yesterday poor Soul He was worrying all day about every thing the plans just the same of Balls concerts I consulted & I don't to day an answer is come from my Brother I wonder how in good humour but waiting for a letter from John to whom the Dr has also sent a copy by an express - but what the answer is I cannot make out only it is good humoured.

As for the letter to John I should it is the most violent abominable the thing I ever saw & only proves to me more than ever the utterance & silliness of the world for to sayful say there is nothing, I mean worse

Of those Epistles - I did receive millions at one time which nearly drove me mad, thank God of late some have saved me -

I have got letters today from abroad from my Sister & Mr Prof Orange The latter tells me that my Sister is married & as happy as possible & when you it was a very great comfort to me, & she has heard of friends here who had no intention what was in what they said there

You it must be more excuse this journal, I believe me grateful for every mark of friendship you show one who will ever be proud to own himself

Yours very sincere friend

You may easily believe how much I am to wish you to stay as I have got to tell you that my Father is gone to W - on the Monday, & that we last night & appeared pleased with the idea of going my Mother of course is so well being unwell that is certainly not carefull & their determination has undoubtedly made her not a little she is silent on the subject of our best friend I trouble you with this letter by for yourself I ask you whether you could in any way remark it to the S^r or who might naturally tell my Father it shows a great change the sickness to be from his family my Brother was here yesterday my Mother told me when a long how much she had been, for that undoubtedly my Father had shown a degree of sorrow before my Brother & that he had said nothing more he had talked time which was sad - & had been almost angry with her about the sale at London which she never wished to have nor had in any way proposed she made no answer - My Brother I must tell her that might be the best - had lost them self by marrying Lady De Clifford & how very desirous she would make at the present of the case that the case however I having got my brother perfectly acquainted on this subject, I must have been well again in short I am obliged to both of you I think I have gained a little some uncomfortable person gets hold of her & unites at the very little good I have been able to do ~~and~~ my power are a little like Bonaparte's war, what I do in the day is undone at night I am very poor had nearly perfectly puzzled & my heart lacerated for I am sure more than M^r had taken three uncomfortable determination of going alone & taking several measures the same interception business - he had, can have an idea of what we go through they have pardon for staying content although you would prefer to hear the truth from yr sincere friend of lock Monday

I must add that he intended having a concert as well as what on the town by fifth Sunday at 10 as he said he would have it in the name of his Worship - probably some eight was very no then been - very happy he has done was said during that time

My dear Mr. Williams

I never by some mistake got your kind note till bed time last night. I would not write till today I was told I was read, for my mother has really been very unwell with a swollen face a great deal of inflammation & some delirium & it has not prevented my father going into the country in short he has talked of going tomorrow tomorrow & not returning till then day but that is not quite decided he is pleased about Lady De Clifford & met my mother yesterday with my mother they talked of numerous things nothing to the purpose my mother then said it went off with, she saw an awkward report to that effect yet better than she could have expected but I understand that my mother said in the evening that my mother looked well — the day before she saw

My Mother along time alone & told her almost word for word what I say.

William Adams of his conversation with Mr D Chapman - He is outrageous with my Mother in Law & repeated that were it proved it he would have forward every thing my Mother said again if you have not proof you only hurt yourself - at present it will appear pretty well I believe that something or other may occur.

For my father is rather doubtful if I hear more you had better

I am sorry you are both so unwell My Mother being best part of the day in bed I am almost disabled with my cough & down stairs I have hardly time to do any thing which obliges me to bid this

I have not heard of you which I am very sorry you got I must blame you again you certainly will hate me but my dear Sir you must remember friendship & friend ship begot confidence & therefore I must now communicate the events of this day a part of forty two miles has done us no good, & the rest much worse still going on with schemes & you will see the many things we talked of they will all be done; The worry now is the child is to come on Saturday evening & the new Government do you with your good heart think it illicitate to the old one more going man than to let him off? This I am commanded to ask you & whether you could not manage to get it advised my father toward Dr Hobbes to see for indeed I think it will be best — Now as I like to make people happy I must wish you joy of your new post know what it is? but for fear of your getting a sickle, might I wish you you are to attend on my sister in law — my Father said some Souphore Thomas was not on Medit the eye, he always has been. Even I take him want lodge them & I shall make crammy her said to say she dont want him on school was completely angry & added G.

Believe particularly belongs to me & she shall attend them for I wish not have them call her own cash or her servants (as if she ever had, I hardly ever saw her more angry & maybe you may hear of it & I promise you the difficulty the terror & alarm I am in about the best shaped all which I read very much more than on four times over to him & I really believe if it had not been for my constantly looking at my work I must have died with fright however I do not mind that after a time for I reason with myself till I grow with pity I reflect how narrow living it is trust in God it may be better I try to get myself up for the next storm & so on but like now it really has affected me so much of late that within these few days it has given me spasms in my stomach but I do mind & if I die I trust you will recall to your mind a serious friend in Germany surely

By the bye at the papers as to be taken to town for the 20th or to be sure, I wish that may please God to open the (to our ears eyes & mouth & that he will really be just to all parties the majority has put me on the earth heaven — I am delighted that is a subject of much gratitude I long long may God put her ground — Love to dear Mr G. V. & they went on their side to (various when they saw how Gardner who said that he heard you were well but that Mr G. V. had greatly mistaken her time to the no small annoyment of my sisters who said the man said it so seriously that it was perfectly ridiculous — They told me the house will be charming & finished in three months

I have advised the university to make no difficulty to take every thing in your part that I was sure it was wisdom & I trust I have gained a little with a torn and so doing

My Mother wishes you to know that tonight in conversation my Father told her. He had asked to the Lord (or about) several times, & that he answered them I do not believe it - are you not sorry he did not enter into it at all? You believe me when he hears it it will make him pensive under the seal of confidence I will tell you what you may already know shut it in my Duty & I think many proofs of friendship I have received from you to tell you what I mean - it is about my Sister in Law opinion of my Father but it would do by itself. I hope dear Mrs G. Vernon is better. My Father has spoke kindly of Mrs P. & that delights me. My Brother was here today & my Mother & your names were with my Father. How necessary my Mother was harsh & severe on them but a perfect silence kept every thing more being said.

You may like to have a line from me before I quit this place just to tell you that I thought my letters reassurably well yesterday the agitated mind about business down as my satisfaction told me I was false - but I believe was in right to be in fact that the same had told him that it was easy for the mind for the winter - Sir Dr Clifford was presented yesterday by Lady Dunbarke not much surprised but what did I see to tell you my own feet showed me & then said my very handsome to see - then I heard from my mother afterwards different things were talked of who he said he never would forgive an enquiry upon which Lady Anne said that forget was one thing but forgive was another & saying that one felt happy to what she said & that she would soon be talked of her name & she then said I mean Lady Anne that she would have been so happy to see you & I am sure she would say any body / My Mother said she thought that struck her in the evening before she what I mentioned first she said to the L of New was so it was soon open yourself - I think it might you would be present by yourself of this it strikes me that the B. Bishop of Wiltshire was when she & her said they say she is a a good & a merciful person ever will try to console me of as we have who has — of I am wrong pardon me —

My love to dear Mrs G. Villiers who I long to hear as safe in her bed I believe me your friend

I have promised to write you a few lines tho' you wrote your letter the night of my former writing. You can't say now I have taken any thing ill for you will I can report your words & think me very kind but I must be careful & not talk my Father as full of the Child & talks of sending down for the Child's servants & the Spu, & make them come down to settle everything for them, but fortunately I think not do it till the 20th has been asked about it it was thought right you should have a small conference it for indeed the thing & worry that these schemes which to have been beyond measure & the thought has really been necessary I think them very good that necessary

I was to have sent Mrs. J. now but think it wou'd be better to send it to her before she who will forward it early for I wish you much to know that there are two or three things which you particularly to consider I shall however not be the form having heard from me one in this my Father talk of inviting the Prussian Minister & his Daughter I wonder if the other Foreign Minister it has alarmed us exceedingly as we think it will occasion jealousy & much ill blood amongst the rest pray understand Mr. Southwell D. H. who can say more than most people would say a word will with Vienna say Russia Denmark &c. &c. He has just now warned the business of the House & the Child in short when we are find a friend who will soften Speak truth & patience I am sure it is too true in this case that Our dear friends — how good might Lundström's story be! I believe me

It is impossible to thank You enough for your kind letter.
I agree with you perfectly as I ever do, & feel that if we were like you very dear Sir this world would be too good dont think that a compliment for I never make one hate them & despise who ever think it necessary to make one & that you may believe thro I have been brought up at that nasty place (called Court) — I think it right to tell you that yesterday I never was more comfortable for an my life I never saw my Father worse in to extreme of expression to a degree that shambled me — I could dare by save my head I am so little used to swearing & cursing from them that it liberally killed me & if I should not say to one self it is complaisant one really could not stand I did not own it to my Mother to whom I have again taken the liberty of speaking strongly & begging her to make the best of the many unpleasant things that are constantly accusing for it does do no good reflecting & what ever ones private sentiments are to look with an eye of pity at seeing a character so perfect, so attuned & try to reflect it is all on the hand of a good & merciful God I regard it as a curse & bitter pill to swallow, & with being she she certainly has felt it more sensibly of late but it takes such hold of her temper that it makes her often appear I fear to disadvantage yet affluent she is our Mother & she never knew affliction till in the winter of life & then one is not so well able to bear it as when a summer seen in the appearance of a good kind Friend like yourself lends one an ear when she has none for tho she might she has a little grace of God & would herthat becomes one if you knew me thoroughly you would find I have a degree of warmth that at times is more to embarrass me for what I love & I believe I could bear any thing from the being on whom my affection is placed therefore I do not understand these dew drops of snow which become icicles in a cold breat in that of Pity melt into

I most anxiously congratulate you that dear Mrs G. Williams is safe & recovered & recovered hope your anxiety is alleviated — How you will be gladdened with having the care of so many children was I what I wish I was a private person with what pleasure would I fly to any recourse in the corner of my own room I promise I would not plague you I fear you will think my letter & notes troublesome beyond measure I beg you to forgive me — I received yours of this morning I rejoice that you have had the note from Mrs B. of Exeter whose good intentions & sentiments no one can doubt I wish my Brothers would come down for the sake of for no thing else & go away before supper that I suppose can never be brought about — I am Dear tragedy much in the same way a good deal of hurry. He showed the two women to my sisters & Henry told me privately he had said that he was sure there would be many quarrels but that was what it would be would support my sister in her through thick & thin if you was not the best soul in the world you would think this very disagreeable at this moment I only hope it will not as well appears so black - a bright cloud would appear to us when I see you I will tell you several things which I will not write for fear of your thinking me a foolish boy you subby the thing of all them I hate the most I read the Ball & had as though you were the poor child with a great source of wealth up to every body I understand it is the intention that I do I. as to Henry the shall I proceed to the Queen & see the King but if Mr. Bur had not thought I should see a treaty one hour before I have more to say I will write I now will only thank you again I suppose that the Bishop has got the better they may send to Mr. G. Walker, remembering my dear Sir ever yours &c

I am glad that I should be that should you the Bishop & I & I myself but as by I am aware that the will be properly over Saturday I shall be to be moved here that day the 20th on Sunday evening I suppose shall be the 21st but of that I am not now I must beg you to let me tell you what I think for I shall like to see you for the best of you I think you will be Wednesday - I am, however I must beg you to excuse such a

I had not time to say more to you yesterday besides what I say tomorrow You when you was was just in the midst of that panic by which you by William's being safe & well - it would have been to have felt myself your tomorrow when had known I felt to me how much you tho' situated as we are you cannot do much for us in regard to ourselves presumably you have done more necessary points I should have said more true & warm friend I do you will not have time to answer & may be better not for as I am always in a hurry when I see you I had better tell you at the of what ^{has} passed to you how you can do of the misery I indeed we go through you must know - first my mother really is a very so enjoy a cruel task,

down a part of waves me mad yesterday I was knocked up broken hearted & could not able to stay so my own room was my best place & there I sat thinking what I could do to make things better My Pa then always talking of my father in law & the child whilst I remained in his room & she never speaking a word but, he did say in the course of the evening "The wife drive me frantic" by not an swearing that expression struck me to the heart but so completely got the better of me that I said what was true I am so etc I must go to my room the accounts I afterwards heard from my younger sisters have made me so miserable that I determined to see them & speak my own to them (blame me if I have been wrong) but I felt so very miserable, that this evening I followed them into her room, she said I go to town with a very heavy heart, I am very sorry for it but believe me if you would enter into conversation with my father you might eventually ease Mr. Smith; I would not do it. It hurts me much you will not, for tho' no one shall know from me anything unpleasant, allow me to tell you the story in brief. I told me "I really want advice, & the never me further" by not speaking.

That shows me I am injuring him more for answer. I shall for considering his steps I should be unpardon-able if I did not do so, truly be but I am so provoked & angry that I should say something wrong, tho' tho' you fortunate you had I then be silent for you never would forgive yourself if you did; tho' you I should for tho' has injured me & I am so wounded I can hardly bear it. I am grieved to hear you say so but given manner if you could see it much as I love you I must tell you, tell a great you on the world & tho' you may not feel it I do for I cannot bear to hear you harmed, tho' you I don't want you to

I hope of my fulsome besides you cannot I can go on solemnly but if I once talked I should talk & shall I like you that she said? I cannot at times so bad I would not have my broken heart further sunk I wish to be your lady. in short I am wretched if you wish me to do any thing else I wish any thing to not right but God knows that is I believe the Protestant Puritans I if it was not for hope & a good conscience you would hear of me longer for it does me mad - such a patience & happiness as I have ever such wretchedness & misery I now see Frankly I wish say to you she is gradually undoing herself I wish to stand by her as long as I can & she requires all the breadth of my ground back for her support but privately it is happy for her that no one was present for Oh my dear Sir I never ^{am} such symptoms of anger it shall be told to none but yourself I promise for I wish to my duty but it is

I write so worried in mind you can scarcely understand me I fear My Father's mind is much eased by Mr. Lamb's acceptance of the situation which she has done in the most sensible manner & I do not buy her & the child Thursday to the Queen I hate taking your grievances but I never remember so much for my Mother as I do now. I trust I never may act wrong but am so perfectly miserable I cannot answer for ^{it} certainly my poor head is quite wandering from working to see things in a better light than they now are only think of my Father when Mary & I were not miserable with her, she would said nothing how good she I have no more time but beg you to believe me with the best love to Mrs. M. G. Yr. Obedient

I have promised my Mother to write you a few lines as you have become good and enter into her feelings concerning her anxiety about my Brothers Affairs & the terror she lives in for fear of things coming to a further breach She commands me to tell you that the said Character sent the papers that had been put into the B. of Exeter wards to the King He did not show it even for he returned it immediately with a paper of his own desiring the K. to talk the matter over with Mr Pitt which he did & that today he has done twice & that they had come to the determination of putting it into Surgeons hands He has advised the Crown Lawyers & the Confidential Servants of the own, this has frightened my mother dreadfully for she thinks some in lawyers hands it with occasion the breach to be so much wider that she trembles she dreads you not own that this comes from her. How does it shake you?

So for my Father he is much as ever I saw him a little instable this morning about trifles but otherwise I never saw him better. I fear you give me some comfort will upon me in my own room between eleven & twelve my Father will be out of town - I write to say two or Went through to you & thank you of I have done right if you do thank me so may say it for but a compliment & rather would have you say I am fool than think it is not blame so, - I hope Mrs. W. G. Collier does not suffer from the weather we have had what a sweet day it is today.

March 12th G. M. very sincerely

I cannot resist a few lines to you to congratulate you sincerely on dear Mrs. G. Vellous's being safe & your having an addition to your family in another fine little Boy - I think you was lucky to have arrived safe in Town - you have often heard me say "Procrastination was the Thief of Time" this has been truly verified in regard to my self who intended writing to Mrs. G. Vellous & which I did after Saturday to say how well we off I understood perfectly & my Father appeared perfectly well & did it now as ever - every body was pleased & the Dinner went off to perfection afterwards we saw none of the Grandees, but I had mouldard who told the evening Sept. was also here very extraordinary very entertaining & a real curiosity he showed much feeling for speaking some in speaking of D & A M - He yet she was wishing - The news of yesterday was very pleasant & makes one hope that the party may even be held as high as it is now I think you will be pleased with parts of D - & Duckworth's letter -

News little or rather none from here tho by the bye rather an event has happened here, C. G. Buckley being seized with a fit of the Gout - she was so bad last night she could not stand & to day was ^{lifted} ~~carried~~ into the carriage - we sent an express for the Bishoprick of Ely - but the Bishop nor Diocese are arrived - He will be in a grand fuff - I suppose I must sing the song of "How blessed is a country life" for none of those flurries disturb me it has happened that we have been sent for more than once from hence to Town & been off in less than two hours - I don't think I E. would pack up her letters & follow the Doctor that I could do easily but I don't wonder it so don't you be uneasy about me we are to have the Darners on Wednesday Lady Madron on Thursday D. H. Nelson is now here always delightful & pleasant - but he is to be snatched & therefore must not stay too long I wish you could have heard L. W. when she was in law you would have died of it she is pious to like them all - but her favourite you can trace in every word she says a Yonkers manner I wish you could have seen her my brother it would have been a good subject for a Drawing - I hope you will continue to let us know how dear Mrs by William continues - if ever I can write any thing to amuse you with I will write else I hate to worry or become a Boan I think Amelia certainly better & I hope to have her quite well soon by making her more comfortable in her rooms for she has not comforts enough for an invalid - remember me affectionately wholly to dear Mrs D. & Believe me with every good wish for both your happiness Tell Mrs D. that I'm sincerely - Dear Mrs D. looks interesting on a Donkey which she shows off upon in a grand style a show finey interesting beauty is her come you will see by this that it is no answer to you having written it before I knew of your kindness to me I will answer you properly tomorrow — but this was written with every body in the room & behind my back for I have not been in my own room hardly today I now think I shall be so I may say that I was not of Monday my Brother was heard the evening to me but you shall hear

You know of old you are always the good kind friend I try to imitate, because old friend my Brother told many times that he would not let what the Lodge thought upon the Antistha tion but at Harris with a large party, their names for my the then has said the 10th the names the names are ready & the names are names in the Lodge for the gentlemen they challenge sized at the table now we will want from yourself to get them arranged to them I have not seen them only come my from the forest when he was in good humour but that asked with ceremony in the morning what I said of Lord Ashurst's Inquiry announced, and Mary, Blye water potatoes to our then friends & never enters in any subject that she thought wrong to talk of, that silenced him & I thanked Henry much — Ernest has told Mother that would I sleep at Thurston, that was friendly! & he has often warned at some — I am hurried and young life grows I did not see dear Mr. William yesterday with variations however, for other the father & mother rooms I am nearly as kind I am now young I want to say more. I hope you are better if I had been consequently a private person what God knows I wish I was I would have called to have seen you for my own satisfaction - I may let me know how you are -

A kind & friendly letter from You always does me good & I assure You my dear Sir I wanted it for I have been laid down in a manner I cannot express for believe me when I say, I have so very sensibly that I feel infinitely more for my friends sufferings than my own my friends wife for my beloved lady Mable has been sick & unwell for near & indeed longer than eighteen years, & really continues above thirteen she is the only person rather in an end of my own family who I have ever in my life truly understood was care & sorrow every way or hope than for the prospect of ever loving him is a very very hard blow besides knowing that she literally adores Lord Melville & would rather bury herself for life with him than ever appear knowing him than severely wounded, in which I think him as regret that as long as he lives I never expect to see him in England upon an old I wish it for their both for delicate, & has too much real feeling to bear the crueler she movements with it is true some when one is suddenly that I will probably tell you it has made quite ill, but I do not wish it known & that I was obliged to remain in my room two or three days. I have thank God power enough to appear as I have often done with a merry face & an active heart for for above a year I have had my own & hard private trials to struggle with which have considerably spoiled my mind & not having that redness which in some senses might be a blessing (tho I do not think it in our situation) It is with difficulty I can now struggle through what I do However I must please Providence to soften & soothe in one sense I am really comforted & that is by seeing my Father unhappy so miserably taken that I am quite untouched & except my a moment of grief for their misery I declare I have not seen him so well I know not where & that I fear you as a gift to my heart is to be described; It has been said fair, & great, showed much feeling justice & dignity in their melancholy business of poor Lord Mel.

I suspect that the thought the measures so unmerciful that it was hurried ~~down~~ ~~down~~ & unlike the real character of Englishmen showing such brutality, & throwing stones at a fallen man — Some people have used to make them believe that both Mr Pitt were not so well together but Mr J. conducted to all Paris the present & most affectionate that ever was known & friend & You agree that it is a sad & hateful Government & that the Resiapparent is swearing down the leg. of the Throne — I neither bear malice nor do I blame any one for saying what they think I am no politician but I am that the P should be so blamed & I earnestly pray the present Glorie which is over his eyes may be removed ere it is too late I have taken great care to say no thing & have seen no soul in my room & in public it would be most unbecoming of me to touch upon the subject — but you would smile now by little & little I have been played this week I have kept a most extraordinary letter from Dr G. B. B. by to show you, I hope you will approve of me for how now I like you to say what you think & I do not want to be approved of if you do not really think me right but in general I have been blamed with taking an impertinence too when by. I hate harshness & only wish to show that I had honour to bear & generosity to forgive an injury You may suppose who is aggravated me in this business from the antagonism Mary & Sophia have behaved like angels to me - You see how situated I was & whether I am writing to you I only fear you will think me a trouble some person unrepentant & wish me further but I am truly sensible to Gratitude & I think I owe you much, we all do but at this moment self must be thought of in general it is with me I think I can say with truth set aside, but you have so often shown me friend ship that I cannot help showing you confidence - when we meet I wish you more - but let me thank you again for fatherly for me I am really an object of pity & am at present very busy at Leominster & not in heart to do it cheerfully at the willingly & try to please them whichever I am truly watched both you & Mr. Walker may like to know about this I am ashamed to trouble you but it will save my pleasing you with a letter today as I have many to write and fortunately - Monday would be best to Mr. Walker because

The many like to be quote Tuesday all The show piece you know & the K has inspired himself delighted at being with them — Wednesday a Review of the Guards on the morning The Gentlemen to wear in the town say the Draped Windsor Uniform with Black as the last Sunday you was here the Ladies mourning Thursday a review of the Blues the & of P. (don't smile in the Uniform so you will see from me looking like the Surgeon of Professor wife visiting the camp in the Cavalcade Front — I wish write under mine "Duty comes at a general intention & Good Sense —" Muskets Jewels & side in the evening now You will be glad that I should say to both of you God bless you & believe me very sincerely

My dear Mr. Wilson

We heard you were anxious to be at the Installation The Queen is too kind by command in her promise to you & you which she feels she owes to Mr. G. & I will & personally not wish to be much trouble in trying to accommodate you you will have a room in Mr. Stone in the town I went down myself to see it & have signed on the 10th the apartment for you as you know it is a convenient quiet one that what God has joined together I will never (nor however I should not reconsider I wish it was better but such as it is it will be ready for you Monday 22^d in the evening by Country two keys & keys & by Queen are in the House I will mention this that you may know who you are to be with but winter now as there will be little enough theatrical money make use of them remain with you I will draw you a little plan for Lady. Mr F. is lodged by the G. but the G. will know no more of this for I cannot hear you not being comfortable

My name that will serve but I am dead which means twice I must be at Chapel - God bless you
