Sunday Night

My dear Mr. Papan. Pray receive my grateful thanks for your kind letter & for being so good as to enclose me the account of Dr. Wright & Mr. Wright. He is going on as well as the nature of his present situation will admit of. Sir Henry Hallford has made me most happy just now by repairing me the first dropping of the hand was gone off well. Therefore if fever can be kept off I hope in God we may still have the blessing of seeing him restored to health.
Mr. de la Cour has passed but an indifferent day as to pain in the side and inward heat, but the irritation of the stomach certainly is better than it ever was days ago & enough nourishment has been got down thought with the pleasure yet she refused Anthony offered & has not been sick to day - She went into the warm bath this evening & found it comfortable, but certainly is very much weaker

 since this last attack
 as the smallest exertion brings on fainting in consequence the latter fatigued and her spirits have been low and depressed more or less all day - Sir Henry's visit has so much cheered her we do not find her

 suffer
 as the
 of me
 After
 is m
 her
 it is
 she
 tell
 I can
 me
 a m

more but comments she
moment that she complains of must be attended to.
After so long an illness it is not to be wondered at that her spirits begin to suffer it is only necessary that she has kept them as she has done for nearly till this last attack I can hardly say I have seen them flag but for a very short time & then it has been caused more from want of sleep than depression — In fact I am happy to say in latter & all circumstances put together and comparing her situation to day to what to thank for she is still preserved to us - with every mark of duty affixed & as usual I beg you to believe me your

aff. Mary
Monday morning accept my most sincere & hearty congratulations on this day & every day hoping attend you my ever devoted Papa. to the in this world & the next She has had one of her best nights of sleep in all & is still as well in every way and even her eye
