My dear Mr. Butler the Queen has been very unwell with one of her usual Bowel complaints for many weeks she has better this evening & assures us she sees no reason for alarm & flatters herself if she has some good sleep to night she shall find her much relieved by to morrow - However as the Queen has such an avocation for Sir J. Ingham & Mrs. Beckwith has an colic she understands the Queen better than all the world put together she has thought proper to write to Sir J. Ingham to come down before she leaves

Hen.

thinking that he may have some conversation with him about the disease — as it is very clear the inquiries made on that alarming case, therefore I hope you will not take flight & come down as you may be sure of knowing the truth from Mr Henry Walford & of he should feel at all alarm'd would not have a command informing you of the state of things, but he is of my opinion at this moment that it is of consequence not to do any thing to alarm the disease
