

1814
(of Geoⁿ 42610-1)Sep^r the 7th -

My dear Mr. Barton as to the King he is perfectly quiet, I see King's health about just I hope so well & your Stair is completely confined to her bed with a violent cold & I believe all our men attended with a much fear that I see King talks of stealing her to America -

The Queen is quite delighted with your kind letter - & will deliver me your love to America she has transferred Pounds to Charlotte - He went up to see her to day and by God's call me we are able to say that when reflections be thought they had better sleep at Down than Woodgate since for this reason that it is the journey better & that they can all be in the same house which could not be the case at Woodgate I am & as she certainly appears great reason in her sense it is as well not to our fatigue but the first day, for fear of something be up on the road - and the next thing we proposed was that she should dine at her house on the Saturday or the 1814

(of Geoⁿ 42610-1)

... to my mouth which
... would make him receive at
... my mouth just before or after
... it is done by such an ... arrangement of the presents
... any great crowd of people
... for any length of time ... before the House & will ... make him to say that
... of the letter does not make
... to trouble the King
... or what can I hope before
... to be seen in at long
... evening and to receive
... of they still do so but
... of no kind, the letter
... this day will be
... in appearing at the
... before talking the
... one with the S & she now she uses no more your name of approval of all the General's reasons that she took upon herself to decide at once for this place. A desire was to inform you of this thinking & not in the letter but to read me other letters on the subject that told you the best to do I should - and as some plan was by the time things for when we must to buy in the end being. She is quite satisfied you will approve of the business - God bless you

Sep 21st 1791

Received from the office of the Secretary of the Admiralty
the 21st Sept 1791