? July 20 1816
(? before her marriage on July 22)

Saturday -
 My sweet blood and my dear Brother I take up my pen to by your acceptance of this humble offering that accompanies this letter hoping you will allow it to lay on your table and if at some times you will owe to your true many who perfectly adores you it will make her heart happy & bliss and I am looking forward to the unavoidable consequence if you allow me to be in that possession of seeing some of your engagements some of your alone secretly then I will alone in the

the way of doing for
to eyes As I hope to be permitted to send any money into Germany some occasionally of provision where in some I shall be very convinced never to get out of the change until I know

(? before her marriage on July 22)

If you can receive me & I cannot receive attempt it on till I am assured you are alone - but if I might feel empowered to do this & that you promise to come when & as often as you please to buy
 from it will be the joy of my life to see you I have the best opportunity of telling you
 the most pleasant and entirely my happiest dearest
or my nearest in this

Blessed fortune with the grace of all my family and he
in a young man that
marriage will with
devotion to my Lord
I can come forward & be of service and to you all things and I can do Therefore my plan I

calling upon me upon any occasions either
 for stop or Benefit
 nothing but always will send my concern
 having the obligation
is all in them should
share of attention with my letters - I trust you will still look upon me as your friend &
and attached of letters Journal & please me Yours

Some writing for my return to London & of it should succeed & you will be in I shall be to hope
to offer you one
