

[1820].

I had my son in my hand to write to you just as you had written & sent after letter arrived & my name my my name & sent your thanks for all the kind & for the comfortable you give me of yourself — for to quote one old saying Rome was not built in a day ~~strapped~~ such an sleep you can not expect your strength to return but by degrees & the best chance is by giving out one year's goodness for a quarter of an hour at a time & a dozen times in the course of the day - which I am sure must be fatiguing work but the matters that give pleasure are improved by degrees to some for you there all the improvements in the world & I am glad of the best matters of the best this day contains / You will find a great improvement and & these your studies will not be improved - I hope the Pavilion is getting on so well & still more glad to find that you have not ventured to go out and enclosed Home & hope some will not attempt it until you can do so with the respect of empty of I heart to be secured of in particular in particular where my heart is full of gratitude for all the kindness I receive from the world some of kindness of I do not beg to be heart kindly remembered to all them who so kindly think of me, attendants must be made when I write to you or think of you I do not desire

I can not follow a thought in any one else as I do Section what from your mouth of late & the my peculiar situation of affairs you really are near out of my thought might ~~was~~ day & long sincere & ardent prayers offered up that every paper may attend you Pray above your country that I can look back with much pleasure to my dearest friends amongst them full than I was at last to them courage & her walking in the Duke's House by day it was a mutual satisfaction as I brought back to my kind memory a happy & joyful recollection - I went to see the Duke of Shalke - He is actually dying by degrees of a decline death in his face & mouth to run off his countenance some few minutes before but exciting himself to the utmost to keep him alive - The only object of real assiduity, in these moments his food gratitude to you for all your kindness to them & by their gratitude

See also whenever it pleases you to make them as actually stamp as all these letters all also was but when they called for to be they wished to present a petition to you which I have promised as I thought it better to refuse them I would tell you what they were so much as but that you will befriend & assist the son of a faithful and loyal servant who I should be wroth to go to Covent Palace & present the petition herself, but I am sure she would have succeeded in doing so & it would have perhaps given many an in such a state of ignorance - I have talked the matter over with Stephenson as to what sort of situation the young man was put in because & he thinks of in time you could oppose him one of the Pages of the Queen (which is what I want me to formally to call one of the 14 former's Pages be and perhaps that might not be the best trouble to you I have still one other subject to recall to your mind which is that last year you kindly said you would try & see if a little Honourable Pension could be granted to your old Godfather - He is certainly good & I have been at times that is pleasing must oblige to him - Now then God bless you, I have I last night that the Dumfries was done but I want to tell it you for further & that General Groom who you must have seen by the newspapers was as much consulted of (the two I do not recall, they have brought a Bill regarding the of Public Revenue against some Revenue they say was killed in the House - but I hope that ^{this} may be a subject upon which Parliament is held & then some more effort will be made to bring it into effect and to bring it into effect
