Wey

My Dearest Maie

The Assurances which your kind Letter of the 12th & yesterday conveys of your Amities & Regards are extremely satisfactory to me, and although it cannot keep pace with my impatient wishes, it is as great as, under all circumstances and the very severe Effects of the Journey, I could reasonably expect. I had attached great Importance to my getting out in the Boat, believing that the Parturition would be more easy than that of the Linnenage, and I sincerely rejoice that the first Fruit has answered so well.

I am &c
