Sep - the 27

My ever dear Brother how can I sufficiently thank you enough for the most kind the most affe-cionate truly angelick letter that ever was written - In my I. to try to Etimate I never could express the various sensations of my heart as well as Amelias in reading it who desires me to say how deeply & truly sensible she is for all your expressions of tenderness & affection toward her - She says is a great ease I think God has sent to the King was quite taken so you could write & send several letters to our service I am sure full of love & much the King with your attention we concerning I am very certain & you it has gone deep into the heart As to Sophia she is penetrated with your kindness & affe to her & says she never can forget it to the longest day of her life - I believe I may with truth assure you Amherst's cough has been less frequent since I wrote last & the nature on the chest quite better than the one on the side which is not inclined yet to do its duty at all therefore I give to my

 the warmest season
 in just the same

& yesterday was a very independent day with the sun burning the clouds which as I said before certainly is better. She was in the room till last night & was able to remain in longer than she has
 not be surprised at
 as it so exactly denotes

as to I must I really think the kindest thing I can do by knowing as to your own volent.
I feel I have not said but what I wish on my part to express concerning your kind letter believe me it is with pleasure and joy upon my grateful heart & that we are well I would we have not a letter or a more serious I would we there should I have the amiable Euse de Paul & only
I hope he is improved
the summer after
of his affections

Adieu
