

1809

Sept 27th 1809

My dear Person I am happy to inform you that for the last three days weather is enough certainly has been less frequent which I think is owing to the season and the chest beginning to set I wish I could add the same on the side was in any way which the present season are much the same I can tell the season will perform its duty we can not expect any change for the better for with all the care and attention and the number of things tried the season on the side does not appear to advance as readily as the one on the chest

She certainly looks better some days than others & never complains but when she can not help it - by anxiety to give you an account of Amalia must plead my excuse for not having thanked you before for the kind letter I received some days ago & which as all your letters do give me great pleasure - We expect the Purbits yesterday but they are not arrived yet I have the honour to remain your devoted
