

On the anniversary of the 25th of October
1809

The strange vicissitudes of fifty years
Have chequerd England's fate with Hopes and Fears
But in that space no change the People knew
They loved a Monarch who to Them was Gone.

