First I must thank you for your kind letter & I tell you I was not waiting for the first time yesterday I put all the letters you enclosed I may say the fact is well I do regard to what you say con-cerning the letters - I wish to think he was one of the first who had copies of all the letters but this I doubt you so having copies about that it is difficult to say when was the treasure when you then first to Perry of course you must have said that had Borrowdale took down into downland the copy of the whole correspondence which he had made & shown to believe his Grace & it is to be supposed that copy came from his letters — The story Perry tells is that this copy was sent to him directed to his office without any name and that this may be I don't pretend to say & it is my intention that I should have tried to prevent his publishing more but have been too late to be put off in your copy what & in allowing Perry to have a copy I leave you to judge any other persons In I own intention printed mine it to be true that in the first instance he was for Perry Publishing — from this

I pro
 have to be the
 & I
 see
 got
 for
 to be
 & I
 can
