My own dear dear George, I told our dear Sarah to tell you I should send you one of my sonnets before I left town, & then I begin with a million of thanks for your dear kind letter. Pray! is it really true that you will in a fortnight be able to come home; how I should like to see you & with what pleasure shall I embrace you my dear dear brother for the very heart I have for you - Pray tell Sarah, that I begin myself upon not being jealous, yet last night the Queen said I must be transported over you I was not a little surpris'd that Sarah wd not allow me to have Sarah; not that I was obliged when there I have seen (I had), still in the land there dear brother I thought the night I have been much more to me - Indeed I wish to know in all by surprise for the party was dear but a bad head wd oblig'd her to have me, as I was oblig'd to take her place - The dear dear M. was in point of leaving charmingly well, but I was I did not think it in Lady's health for the second is affected with cough & cold - Had she, for my own dear, I was called in even wd say I will write from Windsor & that I hope to have from you soon - Yrs Affly
