

May very dear dear & beloved Mrs Gage - In words one so just to be my heart feels toward you - how heart & mind I have been at being & incessantly from both of you come to be read with me - I submitted to have done so & the hour comes for my next writing, nothing else could have humbled me, & though silent in the writing for my beloved - the truth of this that you are surely were out of my thoughts - I am in entire with your dear letters - The Day 4 - B - Oath forever; The Shawnee returned also & the three aged embraced themselves most warmly and kindly about you - Yesterday we had a very long sail - we went out since before - The I. Obj. & being staid it became a bid goodbye in that we had it do to ourselves with the dear aged who did not enjoy it. Well - Huffer continues giving the most favorable report of his eye & yesterday was of possible some require than the attending days; but the eye has recovered of the inflammation it will require do possible cure in the hour he's put out to staid the eye & have do I believe he will do his utmost with prevent him going to any place - he says the staid at Huffer, the best side attending after it do be instruction to have - Although we are Huffer about him, yet I do not get full out of the mire - You always had our heart here more myself; I am pretty well, that the first few days in this month they were our last I watched, I would, was here yesterday, but it was early & though had I did not in him - There in it to be - Believe as the 7th which average one; for have been I had the rest of things, & I feel left there was in a rainy mood - Tom & Fredrick arrived yesterday at eleven o'clock: he received our most kindly & really speaks me with his kindest

- My own has let me know from you more & tells me all about your school & your dear books; very things that encourage you in interesting to me; my most kind & affectionate love to my dear Suzanne & believe me unalterably

Your Affectionate & gratefully attached

Sally

London 2^d Aug: 1805