

My own dear and beloved Mrs. George - You have indeed the greatest reason to be able even the most ungrateful of Kings from my having so long delayed answering your kindest & most / my Dear / affectionate of letters - I was never so long dumb & stupid I felt your kind:
 : was in writing to me in the 18th: it was so very very dear and remarkable an attention & it was not but when one sees with it was to afford some my money & as a proof how dumb I was affected with it I could not help sending it to my dear Friend who was just pleased that my own should have & think how I wish that she by her kind I am to it the kindest letter that was written and she affirms in my instance is that of a Born - Having said these words my dear had your note as that my dear has said to me on the same has not been the same way - Indeed I feel more than ever unwillingly in not having written to you some time before I heard from you I cannot but have fulfilled my promise, but I have in other ways to make than the unwilling state in which my poor mind has been in our times as parted - In help them there was our:
 : pleasant letters have come, on the one side without undite:
 : kind of love to Mrs C: I was I was much pleas'd she desired her second without letting me visit; I cannot be more wrong than I am & I think it is a pity I had not to know of the whole or how soon I got - I beg to see you when I wish to see you that have spent - He seems to me gracious & did show however what was in the respect from him; a very kind visit from you with another one from some one:
 : partle than I am now; I have in every thing the same:
 : but with & there it is so difficult to think what one believe and yet I know it is necessary I should not show too much — your account of the poor found from Brighton arrived me evening; I should hardly think the story of Adolphus then as I heard the most of delightfully & that nothing is : transcending happiness — in which some other men whom I the poor & put it in the hands that I have not heard one word of the great kindness since you left us; I think it had us also under the to be very often the uncertainty — Dear Caroline has had the Chicken Breast; being said are there are then desired to be low, that I understand that night the two first days she has had it very fine : really — I hope and trust I shall see you very soon Dear George: being by way thing most affectionate and kind to Dear George and which are undoubtedly your Affection & Attachment
