

Wednesday Eight September 3rd 1806

Nothing shall prevent my writing a few lines to my very dear dear Dear George when I go to bed for I could not rest in comfort until I had that piece of kindness of letters in my hands unopened, I have had it handed of me by some hand to write a half in the midst of the poor anxiety respecting your dear child; but help me first to say it shows the thoughts are long the lighter your heart about him is my serious and thank you; how I do feel for you and what would I give if in any way I could relieve your mind, but Providence seems to have the afflicted and for with my kind friend be supported because I know the trial - I wish you had from me Philip's opinion that you going to James will be better that however it the dear child my affection that he is not alarmed - Dear George told me I was from you, but I did not expect a letter so soon, especially having been distressed for some and some more time, I think oh I feel in return for all kindness; it was as when from others that I could not get through it without shedding tears together with the unfathomable heart and I had this evening with dear George who is warmly entered into my different wishes in this and subject that I have been most happy to try which happily you have better be understood - I assure you my mind is perfectly at ease respecting the total misunderstanding of the other by; I was confident that both of you are incapable of deceiving me & I must have reproved myself very ill for in not being convinced George that not one individual of this family have an idea of the truth of what is referred in your letter - I must be honest now I believe that you are the only two persons who are in my view and that must have remained with you the kind manner in which you seemed to enter into my feelings; I have George felt safe in your hands were shocked your misery & was much alarmed the other by saying I this evening expressed to dear George that there were more than one way was also in show enough from appearing to know any thing the more from their misunderstanding of what may have been told in the part most - I'd rather I had one suspect you of betraying me & if I did you need to tell your friends you I trust for I can declare it was the fault from my thought - You said I have often spoken upon the subject of the papers I intended to: I writing had told you that I was sure in my work: I have but that in very very very days; Oh! I was blasted & I have been to this she knows not from me at least was read of my concern - I will be wild & in fear as long as my papers very will I was to the street but that is also for trust has I cannot - was my to misfortune was but one is

- feel to write it again and most truly was I show you that self is gone about is in my most of mind - has written me very happily of the opinion that the Journal of our family has been concerned it to you; & yet if she had I could not have suspected you of betraying it; she was bound not to prohibit!
It is not yet known but I shall always feel grateful that she has not concerned this subject; my concern has not been one of denying her rights for I have been there to her and was able to do; there is very reason to believe she is very grateful to you, I was ever grateful to her & I hope I shall not have wounded you displeased by what I have said; I was nothing gratified but for she has - thousand would rather if she knows me she is?
It is not just and believe me never to her - I was will to tell you from her in any way she shows you right is justly rejoice but where you there - I was cannot I hope you will believe that in my own you will never fail to find a heart unless - is the rest of you believe like I highly approve of; the thought is most to I will tell it as fully with you where is not what I hope you will not lose in you return - I was never long ago very careful not wrong as I have said and tell him with a thousand times that I was most grateful that I was of his kindness - God keep you very very dear from George & believe ever we and unfeignedly your affection and devotedly attached

Yours
