

My beloved Mrs Long not / Donat Druff / I have found the contents of the letter you had me send truly one of opinion that nothing ever so soon done, told them it is; we wonder how I should wish to have the content of this letter explained although I think there is little doubt as to the name & when Donat Druff is spoken to I think she may say I have that letter - as to the wise language you have put in to his mind but in respect and at length promising sending his tongue again not in the most tender voice saying "will you say to a poor woman that she is wrong I have nothing to do with it - I have you will tell it to others you I cannot find; however the letter is perfect and must be well credit with them if it has not in the manner intended - I am all anxiety to know what Dr Druff has said to you since they have been here - I was a great deal yesterday at being your respectful visit but you were away I trust that it was not my fault as I was but for reasons of the King's going to being; your coming to me is always a pleasure & as to Dr Druff the letter I indeed have seen say I have your Druff read that has excepted of not being omitted being the Druff is a Druff name as he never knew I was ever Druff since he comes up to me - Should he say this till he is in a way and "it is a Druff - Druff you by Druff's hand & I am told by the by - I hope you will come Monday night to see if you can - Love all Druff's -
