Trafalgar
& Victory

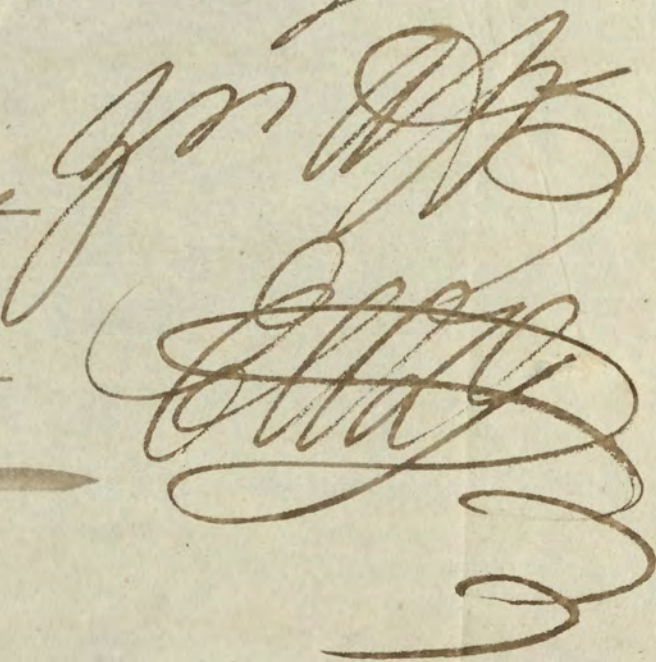

My dear Lady Cha

I must have written to you to congratulate you upon this glorious news, we have lost our Hero, but his name & great deeds must ever live ought we not to be grateful? all I trust is that we shall ascribe the victory to the Almighty is it not most striking that it should be on the 21st of October the Day that Buon aparte made that flaming speech to the Austrians & when he said "all is now wanted was maritime force of the colonies in short does one not see that it was the merciful hand of God stretched forth to protect us - The dear & beloved King received this news with that pious confidence he ever places in the goodness of the Almighty he was most amazingly overcome - & the Queen has felt in the same manner, but you know of old they place the victory with grateful hands at the foot of the throne of grace & tho' they feel happy far from exalted -

We thank God received the news just before church time so we all attended divine service when you may believe we felt the full force of the good sup of Providence

I now send you Lord Ayleford your humoured & anxious & hope I have not hurt you by writing this

Yours Oth
