A Report of your Majesty's Third Regiment of Dragoons, Commanded by the Earl of Albemarle

The Officers and Men were extremely attentive, and perform'd both on foot, and on Horseback perfectly well.
The Regiment well appointed, and the Officers well disciplin'd.

The Arms clean, and in good Order.

The Horses of a good Mould, and well chosen.

The Accounts kept according to Order

It is in every respect a remarkable fine Regiment.

A Report of the light Troop of Your Majesty's first or Royal Regiment of Dragoons

I have review'd the Troop twice this Year. The first time was immediately on their coming off the Coast duty; from which, and other disadvantages, the Troop did not perform as well as could have been wish'd. The second time which was about five weeks after, they were as much improved by the Care, and Attention of the present Captain, as could be expected in that time.
