

of one thing you may be assured I always act & speak with undeviating sincerity - had you ever resembled that young lady in any one article we never, never should have been friends - her character I dislike, did I want bread I would not be so servile as to belong to her - this is strong, pardon me but I must thank aloud to you Adieu my friend

I am incapable of mean reserve - where I give my friendship I give my confidence - if it only respects myself I agree with you - That reserve wounds & distrust destroys the sacred tie
