Thursday 11th

Dear Sir G.

I was truly sorry that the left hinder without my seeing you again on the Saturday being I owing to some stupidity of my servants I concluded you would not have this little remedy in the afternoon - This must ap-peare for my not having given you notice about Broadwood's receipt which is for as I have presumed you have made out right - I therefore make you £1.4.0 as you have required it, for I think I had better read.

The rest is the matter you will return I hope to see in a few days - I hope to see you again, how truly would I was at being surprised during the time you were here - Our adored King has written a new manuscript for the last two days and when I find we must not yet feel the surprise the King's invitation is going to
- when I think we are Yours affectionately
David Lloyd
