

Thomas Coutts

June 2 1801

10222

Sir,

The Happiness I have felt, upon being assured of Your Majesty's Recovery is more than I am able to express and it could only be exceeded by my being permitted to approach Your Person remembering, as I shall ever do, the kind words and manner in which Your Majesty spoke to me the last Time I had that Honour.

The inclosed Paper contains Truths that have plung'd me in affliction -
- I Hope my inclosing it may not be thought improper - I could not resist the impulse I felt to lay it before Your Majesty as indeed the matter has touch'd me in the tenderest part -

I am Sir, with the most Dutiful Respec

Your Majesty's truly Devoted

and

most Faithful Subject and Servant

Thomas Coultts.

Strand. 2nd June 1801.

C

M^r Coultts

2nd June 1801

10223

2nd June 1801.

On the 29th of April The Account kept at my House in Lord Cardigan's name was finally shut, by The Ballance being drawn out - & no transactions having since followed -

If The alteration has been made by The Kings Command - I must submit - and I will do so in respectful Silence, tho' my suffering in consequence of so severe a blow can never end but with my Life

If besides it were possible for me to suppose myself accused or suspected of any impropriety of Conduct (and who can always escape from The baneful blasts of Malice and Envy) I should feel a terrible addition of unhappiness - Yet conscious of rectitude, and nothing in my Heart but Duty and attachment, I would Trust in Heaven and The Kings goodness and Justice that The Day of my honourable acquittal from such foul slander would not be far distant.

Thomas Coultts.

[Faint, illegible handwritten text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page.]

Duke of Portland.
Burlington House 2 June 1801.

10224

x

The Duke of Portland humbly begs leave to acquaint your Majesty that Mr Smart, the son of the late Sir Charles Smart, has requested the Duke of Portland to receive your Majesty's pleasure with respect to the manner in which Mr Smart is to deliver up the Badges of the Order of the Bath which your Majesty would please to confer on his late Father. — The Duke of

of Portland further by leave to inform Your Majesty of the Marquis Cornwallis's return, he arrived in town this afternoon

Buckingham House

Tuesday, 2^d June 1801

4th p. m.

Henry Addington.

10225-6

Downing Street -
June 27. 3. - 1801 -
10 P. M.

Wth Addington humbly represents your Majesty, that, as the Embargo on British Ships in the Ports of Prussia has been taken off, and as the Court of Denmark has manifested a disposition, the most conciliatory, and pacific, it has been judged advisable by your Majesty's confidential Secretaries, that the Ships belonging to those Countries, and now detained in our Ports, should be forthwith released. These measures cannot however be properly carried into effect, except by the Authority of an order of your Majesty in Council; and it is obvious, that, if right in themselves, they should be executed without Delay. W^m.

Addington hopes it may not be very inconvenient to your Majesty to hold a Council to-morrow: if not,
He will, upon receiving your Majesty's Commands, cause Summons to be issued

Henry Addington.

10226

measures for a due Attendance, it may stand carried that your Majesty may please to Authority appoint.

to be

that, if could be

Mr.

to be

Majesty

if not,

Majesty's

is opened

Mr Wellington
June 3d 1801

Bishop of Worcester

Sir

10227-2

Hastlebury June 4 1801

The receipt of the gracious Letter, with your Majesty had the goodness to write to me from New on the 31st past, gives me a pleasure w^{ch} I cannot easily express. I had heard indeed from all quarters that your Majesty's health was recovering, but having the appearance of it under your own hand, & on this auspicious day, completes my satisfaction. I hope, Sir, the change of the scene, together with the moderate exercise w^{ch} your Majesty will take at Weymouth, & above all, a relaxation of that attention w^{ch} your Majesty gives to public business, will perfectly restore your former strength & spirits.

It was agreeable, Sir, to your Majesty's wish, to make your devout acknowledgments

Bishop of Worcester

10228 humble subject & servant

R. Worcester

at the Altar for this instance of the divine goodness to yourself & to all your subjects, & to carry with you to that sacred place so many ornaments of the Royal family, trained up in the principles of that Religion, in your Majesty exemplified, as well as professed. It is a sensible concern to me, that I could not be a witness, at least, of this hallowed scene, and that the unworthy Clerk of your Majesty's closet is wholly disabled from bearing a part in it.
 But the goodness to me & Cambridge in the choice made of the officiating bishop on this occasion, is in the usual strain of your Majesty's condescending politeness. I conclude with every wish for your Majesty's perfect health & long life & prosperity in all your great affairs, & am, Sir, Your Majesty's most obliged & devoted

The Bishop of Worcester
17th June 1801

ld, Braybrook to Gen. Buelé

10229_30

Governor Sturt June 5th 1801 -

Dear Sir,

When you did me the honor to signify to me this morning His Majesty's commands respecting a Painting of King George the Second, I was not without hopes of having it in my power to offer to His Majesty, with my humble duty, a very valuable whole-length portrait of the late King, painted by Pine in 1759: upon further reflexion however, it is quite clear that this Picture is amongst the Hair Looms at Audley End.

I have not in my possession any other painting of that great Personage, but I have a Proof Print from Pine's picture (and indeed the only remaining one) which is at His Majesty's service, if He should condescend to accept it.

I sent a copy of this letter to Lord Braybrooke 29 June 1946. The picture is still at Audley End - the only likeness of George II taken ad vivum. The circumstances of its execution are well known and narrated in the printed history of Audley End by a former Lord Braybrooke. Owen Horshead

If His Majesty should also be pleased to express a wish of having a Copy of Pines Portrait, I will either give directions that the Artist who may be employed to copy it, shall have access to it at Audley-Ind, or I will order the Pic. to be carefully packed up, & sent to any place which may be named, in order that the Copy may be taken.

As the picture itself is really curious, perhaps it may not be unacceptable to you, tho' it may be rather tedious, if I mention a few particulars upon the subject which Lord Howard related to me, & which makes me now quite anxious that a faithful Copy may at least find its way into The Kings Collection, and particularly as there are difficulties in introducing the Original.

Upon L^d Howard's expressing a wish to some Friend to have the Portrait of King George 2^d,

I sent picture ad v
and Lord

ld, Braybrook to Gen. Bude

10230 leased to ies Portrait, Artist who have accep den the Pic. sent to any order that curious, to you, the ention a which Lord when we Copy may King's Collection,

culties in ish to some George 3^d 2,

and his fears that there were no original portraits of him except those which were painted early in his life, It was suggested that this Picture by Pine existed, but that it was of that time sent to America: Lord Howard applied to the Painter who informed him that he had taken the likeness, as seen by the King, as he was speaking to one of his attendants at the top of the great staircase at Kensington Palace: Lord H. proposed Mr Pine to try to recover the Portrait, which was after a long time effected, at a large price, together with the Plate itself from which the engravings had been taken, and which is in my possession, uninjured.

I have, as yet taken no new impressions from this plate, but if His Majesty should be desirous of more copies than the remaining one which I have already taken the liberty

I sent a copy of this letter to Lord Braybrooke 29 June 1946. The picture is still at Audley End - the only likeness of George II taken ad vivum. The circumstances of its execution are well known - and narrated in the printed history of Audley End by a former Lord Braybrooke. Owen Horshead to offer, & with order as many to be struck off as His Majesty may be graciously pleased to accept.

I have the honor to be

Dear Sir,

Your most faithful

& obliged humble Servant

Graybrooke.

M.

The picture of the late King, as Audley had, is 8 feet 6 inches in height, (with the frame) and 5 feet 7 or 8 inches wide —

And Graybrooke to General Bunt
Jan 5th 1707

Mr Addington
June 5th 1801.

10231

Downing Street
June 5th 1801.

In transmitting the Warrants herewith enclosed, Mr Addington thinks it incumbent upon Him most humbly to express your Injustice, that they have been seen by Mr Pitt, who has stated, in a Note to Mr Addington, that they are quite conformable to his Recollection of what he had agreed to propose.
Mr Addington ventures also to lay before Your Majesty the Comm of a Message for a Vote of Credit to the two Houses of Parliament, and intreat Your Majesty's Signature to each of the Copies.

Lord Hawkesbury
June 28. 1801.

10232

London
June 28. 1801

Lord Hawkesbury has the Honour to send your Majesty the Answer to the Duke of Modena and Drafts of Answers from your Majesty and the Queen to the Archduke and Archduchess Ferdinand for your Royal Approbation

[Faint, illegible cursive handwriting, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page.]

Enclosure

Mr Coote

June 9. 1801.

10233

Strand. ninth June 1801.

Sir,

I hope I shall not be thought too presumptuous or departing in any shape from propriety or the modest Humility becoming my character and situation - far less from the respect and Duty with which my Heart will ever be fill'd, in laying the inclosed before Your Majesty A Person who has receiv'd the marks of Condescending goodness from Your Majesty that I have been honour'd with ought to feel something due on that account to himself on all occasions added to the general desire of supporting the character of a Gentleman.

I am, Sir, with attachment no less Humble than Sincere Your majestys truly devoted and Faithful Subject and Servant Thomas Coote.

[Faint, illegible handwritten text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page.]

Enclosure,

June 9 1801

10234

I had the impression of Integrity and Honesty made on my mind at a very early period by the best of Fathers and I learnt by His powerful example as well as by His precept that Honour and Character were the first acquirements to be desired in The World - and that Fortune should be Considered as the last, or rather as a thing which would follow to the full extent of all that is useful or desirable in the train of Common prudence and good Conduct: On this plan I have ever uniformly acted, and on Conviction if I had Fifty Sons - I would impress The same upon them by every means in my Power. My Family both by my Father and my Mother have been remarkable for an uncommon degree of Sensibility of Heart - overflowing with gratitude and feeling for Kindnesses received - It cannot be matter of Surprise that such a person, in particular, should have been proud of any degree of notice from The Sovereign of His Country, & of a Sovereign who has long reigned in The Hearts of His own Subjects and is justly honoured and revered by those of other Nations, and look'd up to by all good men - Lord Cardigan having said abroad that Your Majesty had withdrawn Your money from my House (and many who had often flattered me with the appellation of Your Majesty's Banker having express'd both Surprise and regret in showing me Drafts in The Royal Signature on another House) Cannot fail to operate strongly against my Character and Interest - but The mortification to which it has subjected me is inexpressible - and tho' certainly I can make no claim - and tho' in the face of Heaven my mind is clear of every inward reproach - yet it has been almost more than I have been able to bear - The blow comes heavily from such an Elevation - and my Family and Friends have express'd with much Concern the appearance of wasting and decay visible in my Countenance - The true cause of which remains a secret in my own Breast, having never mention'd it even to those nearest to my Heart; and there it will remain for the little time remaining of my life - without murmur or Complaint My only wish is that I may appear as I am in Your Majestys Eyes - and if I have been accused that I may not be condemn'd unheard - as face to face I am convinc'd there is no man would dare to injure me so falsly.

9th June 1801

Lord Hawkesbury.

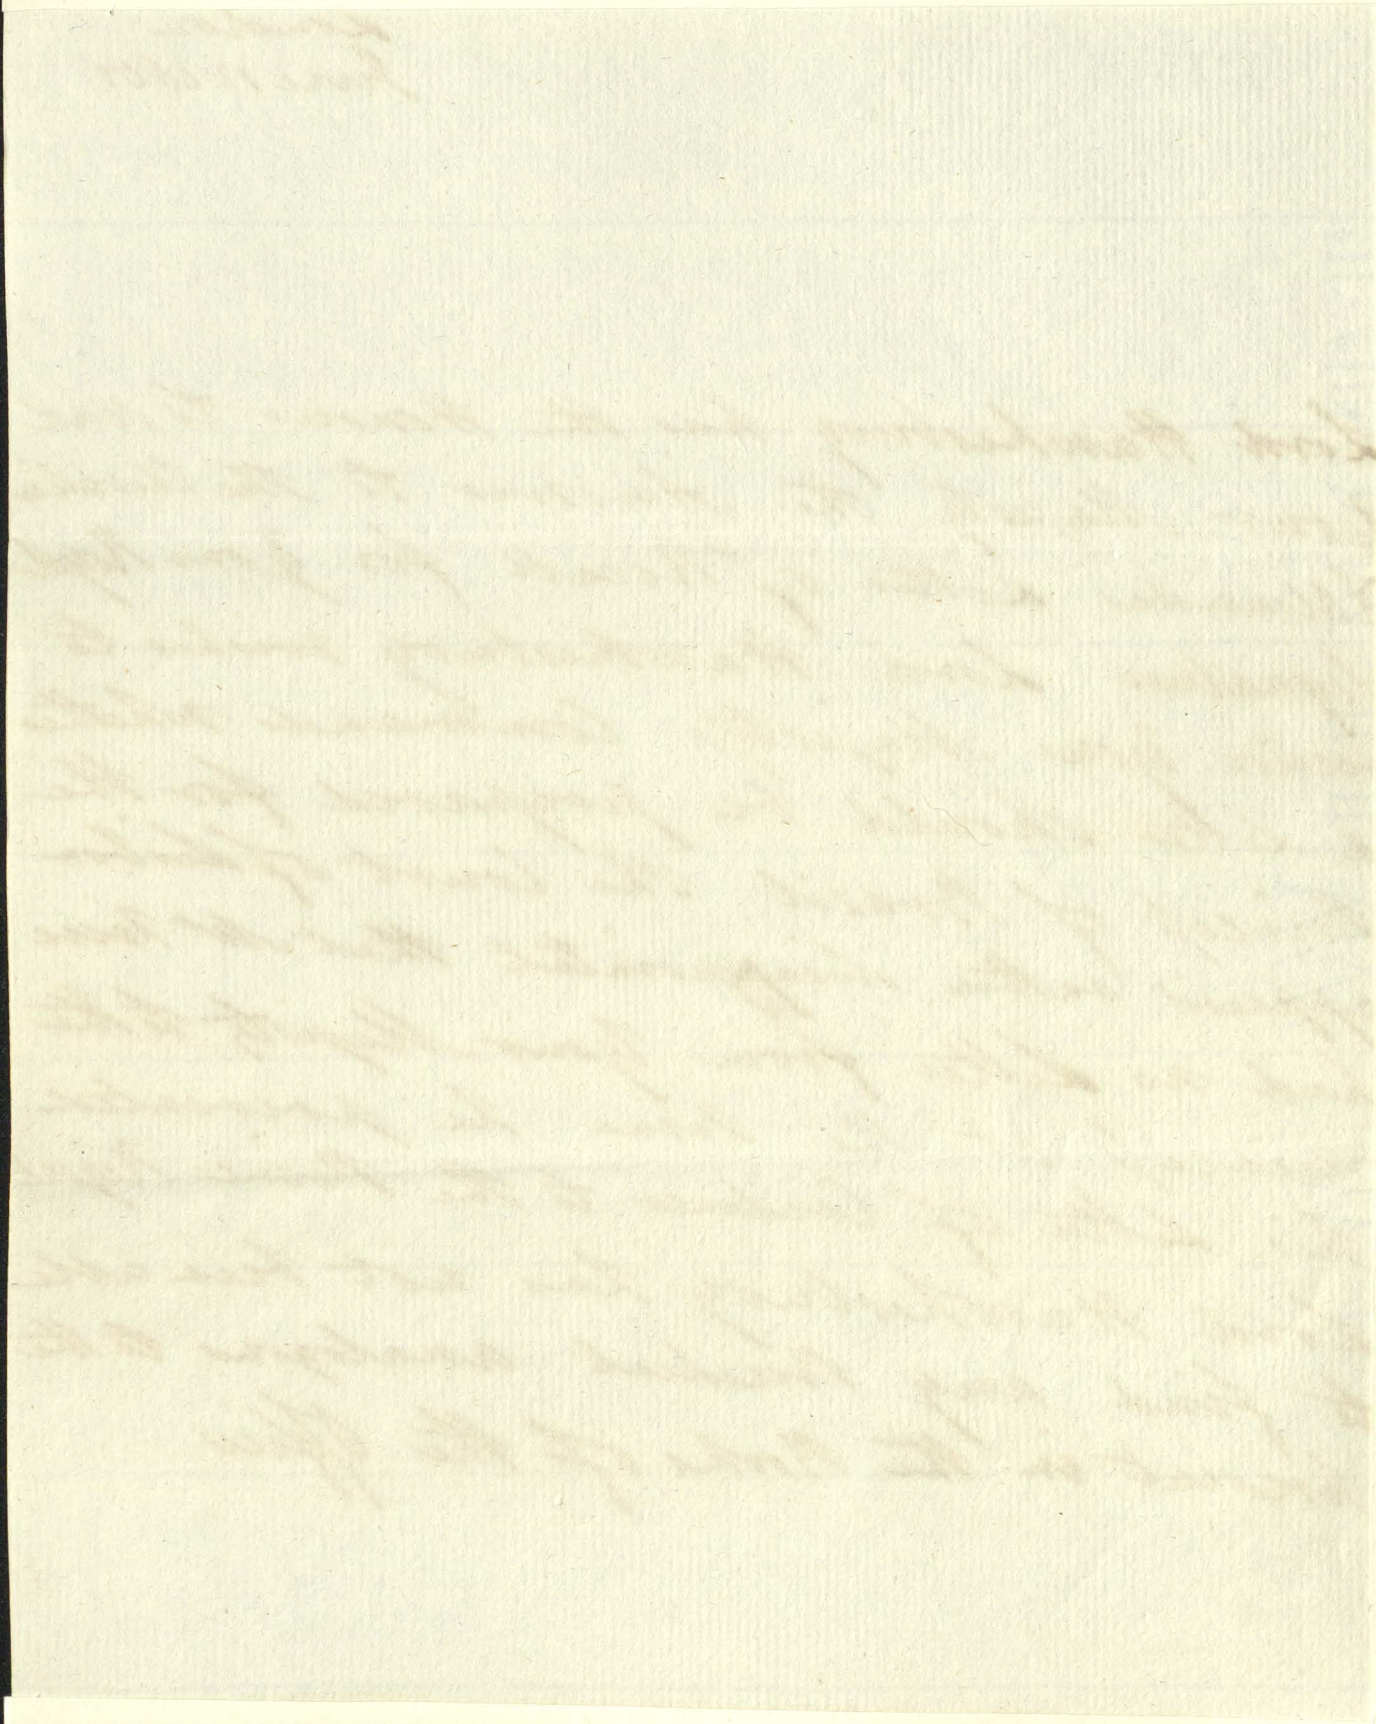

June 12. 1801.

10235

London
June 12 1801

x

Lord Hawkesbury has the Honour to send Your Majesty the Answer to the Chevalier D'Almeidas Letter of Recall for Your Royal Signature Lord Hawkesbury wishes to receive Your Majesty's Commands whether a Letter should be prepared for the Prince of Brazil. The Court of Lisbon appeared rather disappointed that we had no Letter from Your Majesty to the Prince at the time he presented his Letter of Credence to the Prince Regent Lord Hawkesbury has not been able to find any precedent analogous to the present in the Books of the Office

Mr Addington
June 12. 1801.

10236

+

Downing Street
June 12th 1801.
11. A. M.

Mr Addington has too long delayed to communicate to your Majesty the grateful Submission of Sir Charles Grey to your Majesty's Pleasure; and He now humbly requests Permission to lay before your Majesty the Sentiments of Sir Charles Grey, as He has expressed them to the Earl of St. Vincent, and Himself.
Mr Addington has only to trespass further on your Majesty's Time by shewing the humble Hope of Lord Pelham, that He may be allowed to avail Himself of your Majesty's gracious Intentions towards Him, by taking the Title of Earl of Chichester.

Duke of Portland

June 12 1801

10237 - 8

+

The Duke of Portland most humbly begs leave to represent to Your Majesty, at the instance of The Viscount Howe, the approben
-sons of that Lord & the other officers of the Board of Admiralty that in consequence of Your Majesty's having only expressed Your approbation of the augmentation, & having not taken any notice of the Regulations proposed in the Civil Branch of that Department that that they will not be authorized to carry the Letter into effect; an opinion in which although the Duke of Portland does not concur, he trusts your Majesty will pardon him for submitting to your Majesty the draft which your Majesty was pleased to make on the Cap which contained the Letter & the Propositions of the Lieutenant General of the Ordinance in order that, if your Majesty shall think fit, ~~the~~ words "Regulations" may be added, by your Majesty, to the Letter with such alterations as are marked in red ink may in consequence of it be address'd to the Lieutenant General by the Duke of Portland, the Duke

Duke of Portland

June 12 1801

10238

Duke of Portland further humbly begs leave to lay before your Majesty for your Royal signature a Letter to the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland for revoking the Patents of the Officers of the Board of Ordnance in that part of the United Kingdom.

Lord Craven who requests to be laid at your Majesty's feet & to offer to your Majesty his most grateful acknowledgements for the honor your Majesty has been most graciously pleased to confer upon him proposes to take for his second title the name of Affington which has been

Book of Portland
June 12. 1801.

has formerly a little in his Family, & is a place in which a very considerable part of his Property lies —

Buckington House

Friday night 12 June 1801 —

Mr Addington
June 13. 1801.

10239

Downing Street
June 13th 1801
11. P. M.

Mr Addington most humbly and earnestly hopes, that He shall be forgiven by Your Majesty, if, before He goes to Rest, He ventures to indulge the feelings, with which He is deeply affected, in consequence of the Condescension, and Goodness which have been recently manifested towards Himself, and those most dear to Him.

It will be his constant Aim, and pious Indevour to prove Himself not altogether unworthy of the Confidence, and I find myself with which your Majesty has been invariably pleased to honor Him, and which are perpetually animating the obligations of Duty by the strongest Sentiments of reverential Affection, and Gratitude.

Mr. Edington
June 16. 1807

10240

Dorsey Street -
June 16. 1807 -
1/2 P. 1. - A. M.

With your Majesty's Permission, Lord Alwasley, and Mr. Abbot will be most happy to pay their Duty to your Majesty at The Lucas's House at two o'clock to - Day; the former, on Account of his Elevation to the Secerary; the latter, in consequence of his Appointment to the Office of Keeper of the Privy Seal in Ireland.

Ld. Malinesbury

June 16 1801

10241_2

Sir,

Your Majesty will, I hope, not deem me guilty of an unbecomable liberty in thus presuming to address myself to you, humbly to solicit your Royal permission to dedicate to your Majesty a new Edition of my Fathers works now preparing for publication.

The very gracious and condescending manner in which your Majesty has often been pleased to recollect my Father and to mention his name, joined to the strong desire which prevails in me to manifest my filial affection for him by being allowed to do, what now is the most honorable & most grateful to his memory, as it would have been, was he still living, the most consonant and the most soothing to his feelings, emboldens me to say this my most humble request at

Sirs

Ld. Malmesbury

June 16 1801

10242 at your Majesty's Feet.

I am, Sir,

with the most profound Respect,

Your Majesty's

most dutiful & faithful Subject

Malmesbury.

Park place

Tuesday June 16th 1801.

Lord Malmesbury
16th June 1807

The Duke of Portland
June 17. 1801.

10243

+

The Duke of Portland humbly begs leave to offer to Your Majesty a list of the Lords who were present to day in the House together with one of those who took part in the debate upon the Marshal Law Bill, & also to acquaint Your Majesty that the House having continued to sit till about

about half a cloth it seemed to be the wish of every one that the second Reading of the Indemnity Bill should not be proceeded to, & it was adjourned accordingly to Sunday next

Buckingham House

Wednesday 17 June 1801

^m 20 p. 11. p. m.

The Duke of Cornwall
June 19. 1801.

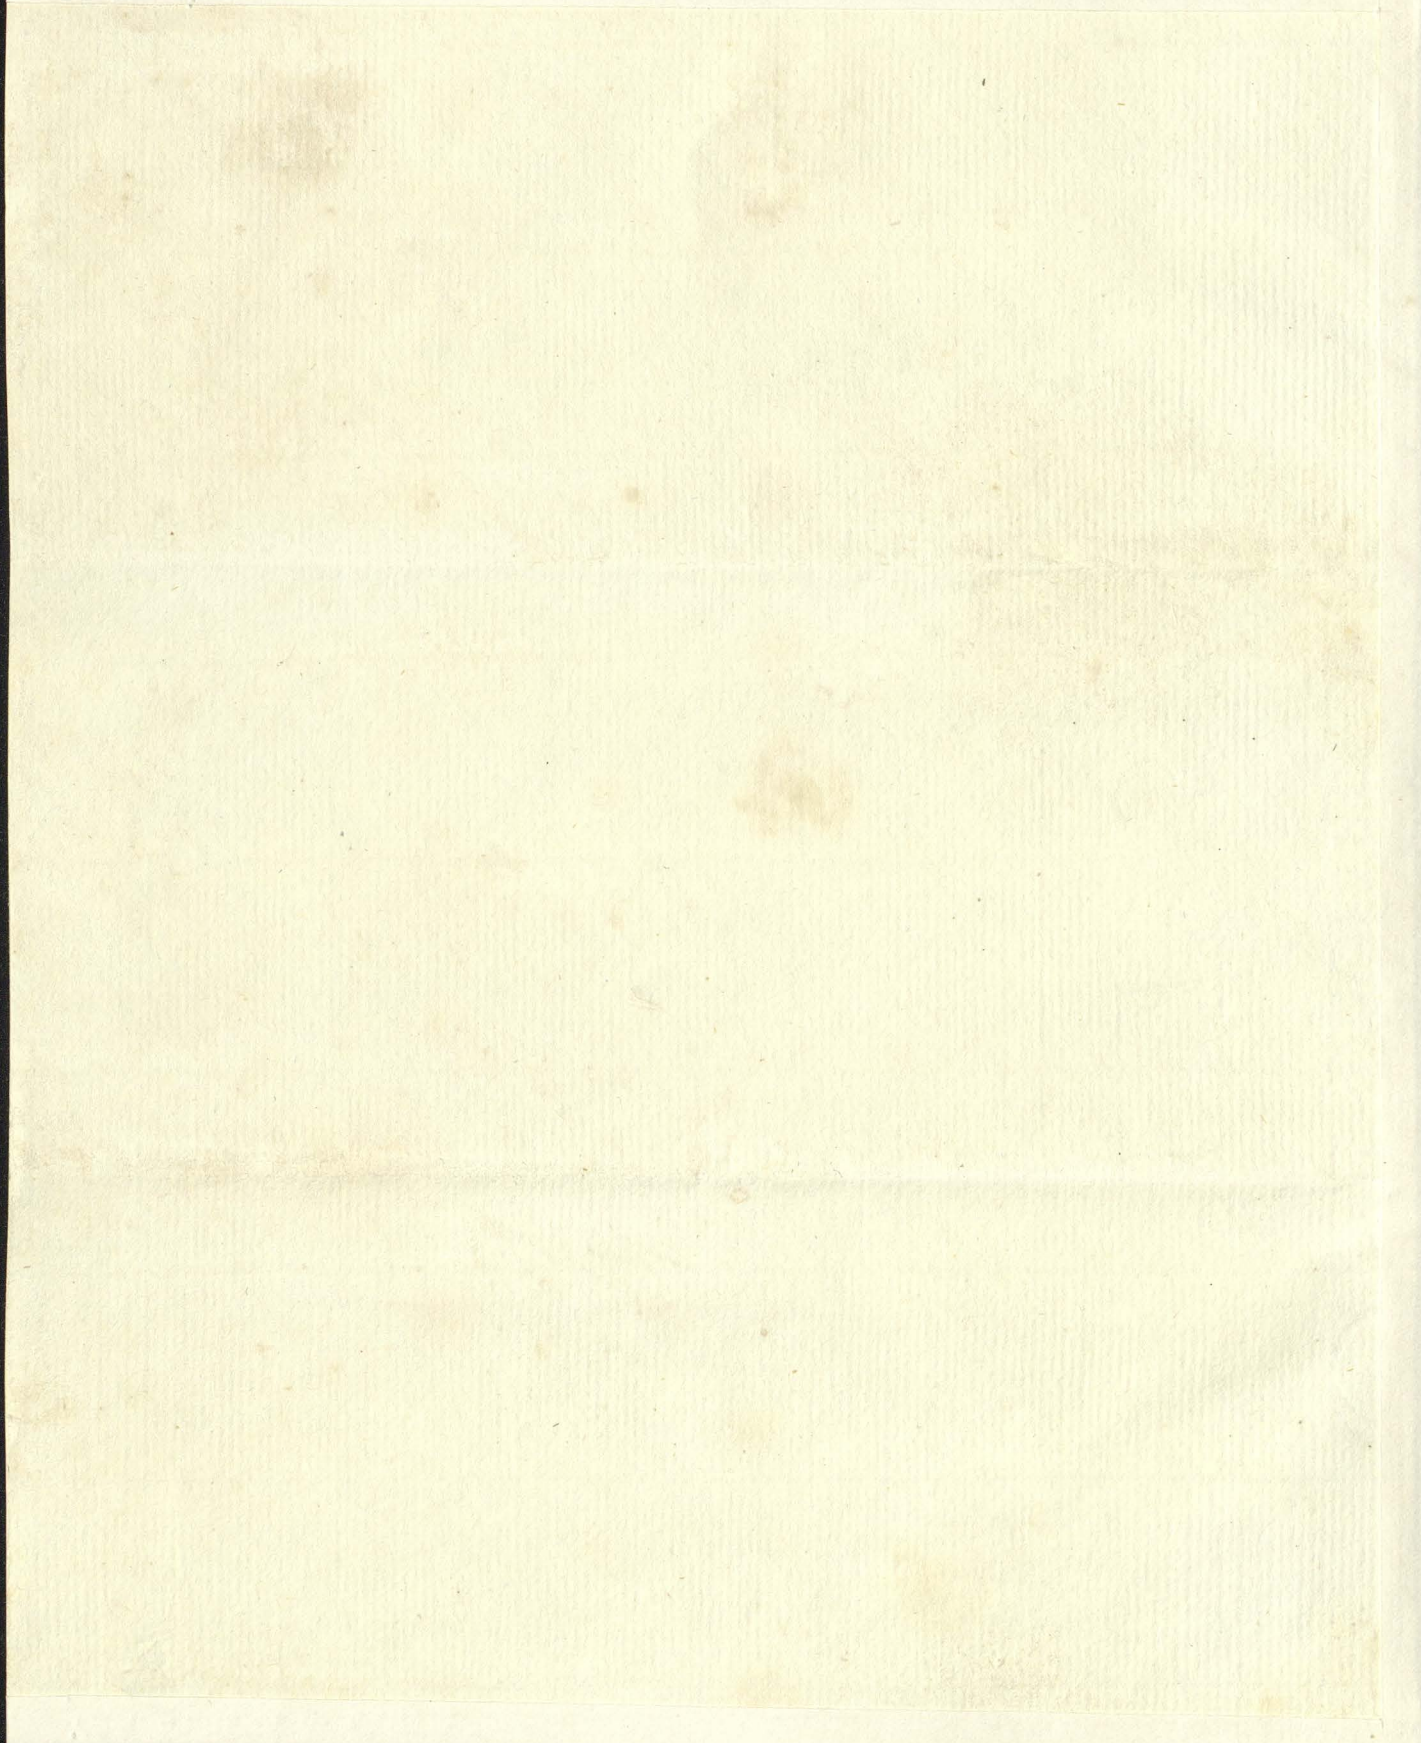

10244

+

The Duke of Cornwall humbly begs leave to lay before Your Majesty a list of the Lord's votes were present in the House to day. & a copy of those who spoke upon the occasion.

S

Arthur's House
Friday 19 June 1801
20 p. 11. p. m.

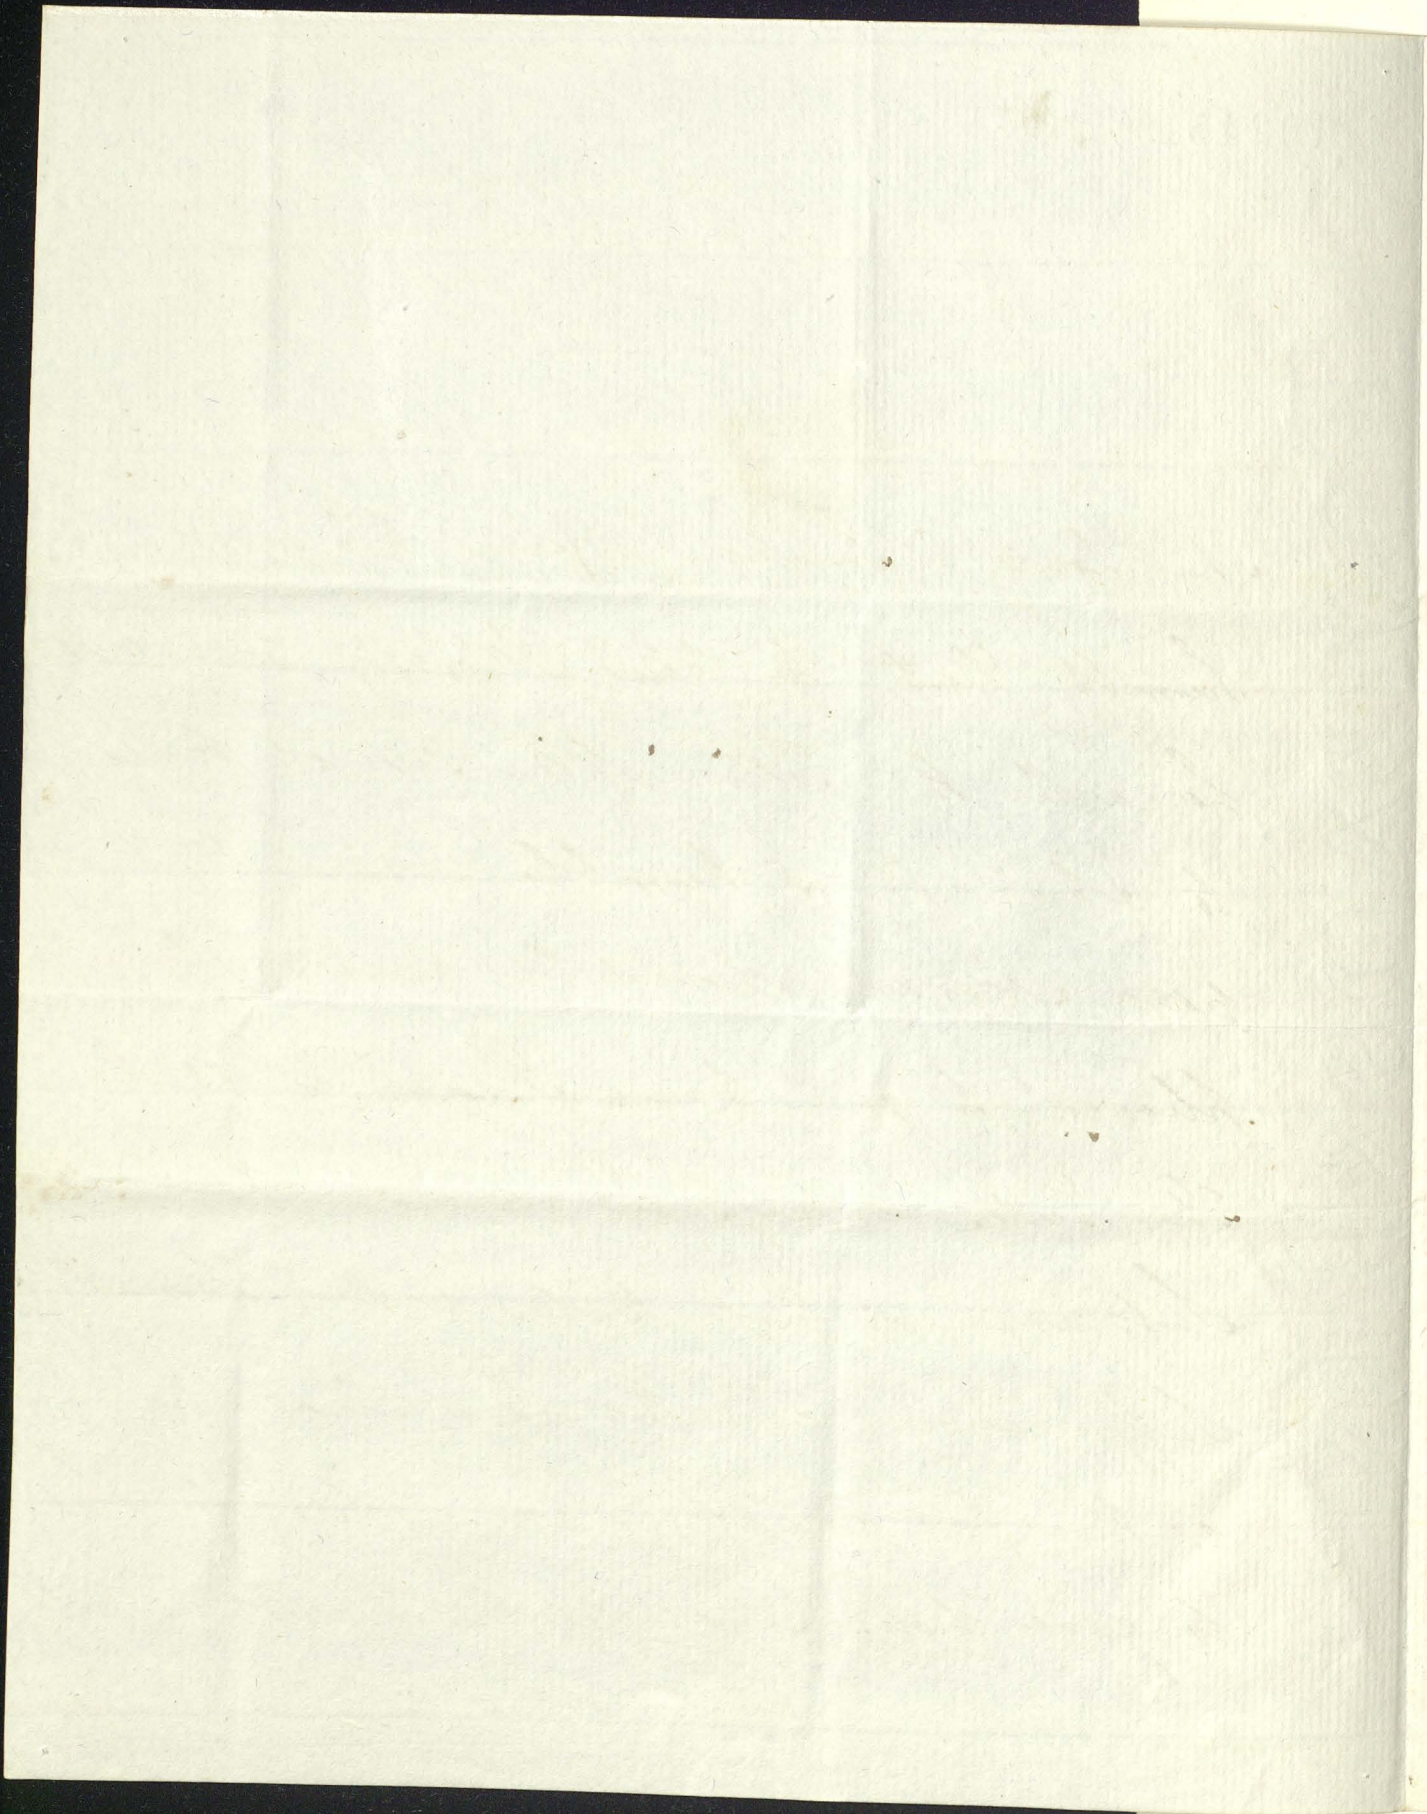

Ld. Chancellor

June 19 1801

10245_6

†

The Lord Chancellor, offering his most humble Duty to your Majesty, transmits herewith the Titles of the several Bills, to which it is humbly wished that your Majesty should be graciously pleas'd to give your Royal Assent.
The Titles express, in general, the Substance of these Bills with reasonable Brevity, and the Lord Chancellor is therefore unwilking unnecessarily to give your Majesty the Trouble, which

Ld. Chancellor

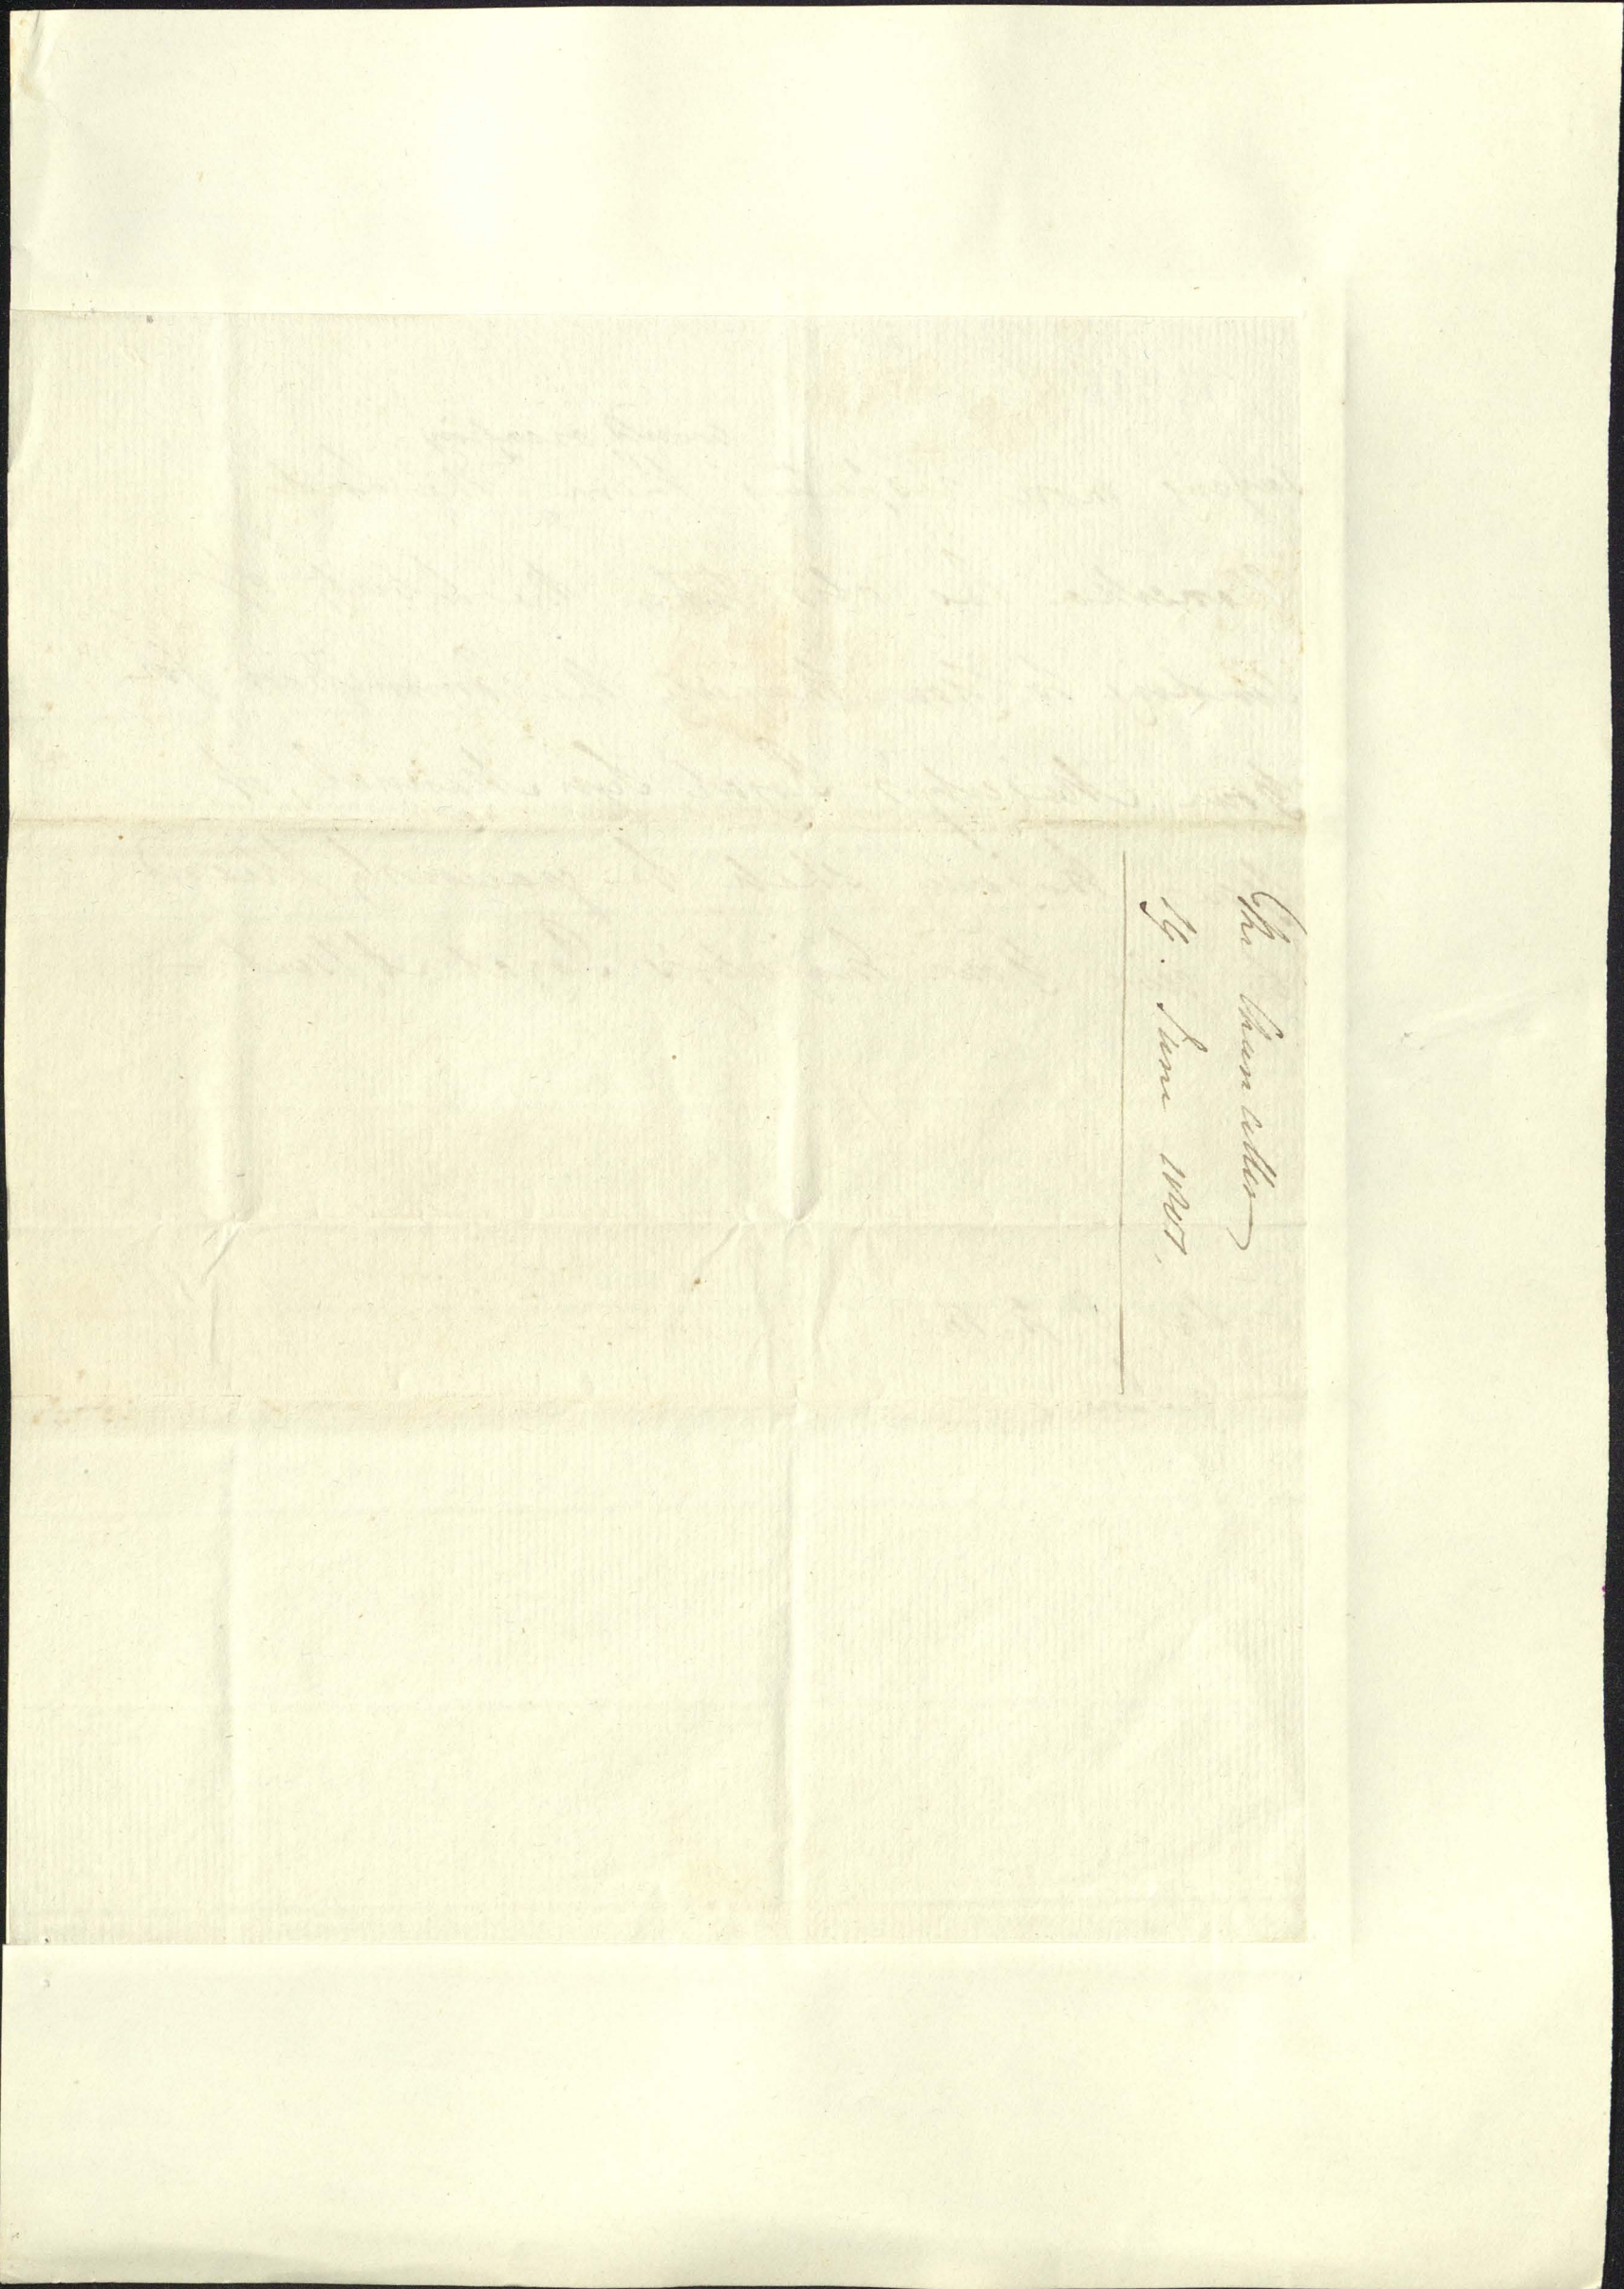

June 19 1801

10246 saying more respecting them ^{would occasion}. The Lord Chancellor has also taken the Liberty of sending to Your Majesty the Commission for Your Majesty's Royal Sign Manual, if Your Majesty shall be graciously pleas'd to give Your Majesty's Royal Assent —

Friday 8 p. m.

19 June.

Ch. Darwin
14 June 1881

Lord Cotter

June 20. 1707.

10247

Sir

It is with the most sincere attachment to your Majesty I presume, in my present decline of Health, which has long prevented my dutiful attendance in person on your Majesty, to address your Majesty with the strongest assurances of affection, which during your Majesty's Reign I have zealously endeavoured to wince by the most Loyal exertions in your Majesty's service, my limited situation would permit, and having at an humble distance partook of the general Blessings of your Majesty's Reign I hope my earnest Desire of receiving from your Majesty's own hand some mark of your Royal countenance will be considered as a further proof of my affection, and of the high value & the esteem I place on any favour flowing spontaneously from your Royal Benevolence.

Permit me Royal Sir to Mention that it is now near two hundred years since my family have held the same rank in the Peerage. Should your Majesty condescend to take it into your Royal consideration & advance My family to the honors of a higher Rank it would for ever be remembered & esteemed as a most lasting and valuable mark that during my life time I enjoyed the favour & countenance of my beloved Sovereign.

It is with the most unfeigned Loyalty and affection
I have the high honor of assuring your Majesty That I am

Your Majestys most Dutiful & affectionate
Subject
Pitt

Park Lane
June 20th 1701

A. Pitt

The Duke of York
June 21. 1801.

10248

Callands June 21 1801

Sir

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of Your Majesty's most gracious letter, and beg leave to assure Your Majesty, that I see no danger of Your Majesty's favourable intentions towards Major Deby, in permitting them to sell the Majesty of the 13th Light Dragoons, which he did not purchase, becoming a precedent of Your Majesty will be pleased to allow it to be done at Your express command.

I have the honor to be

Sir

Your Majesty's

Most dutiful son and subject

Lockhart

Ld. Chancellor

10249-50

21 June 11 AM.

The Lord Chancellor offers to your Majesty his most humble duty, and his grateful Thanks for the honour done him by your Majesty's gracious Letter of Yesterday. He is afraid that the necessity for passing the Merchant Law Bill for Ireland, and the Indemnity Bill aforesaid, will oblige him to trouble your Majesty by offering a Submission to the Royal Sign Manual on Tuesday Morning, and another on Wednesday or Thursday.

The Lord Chancellor, under the Influence, as he can most sincerely assure, of an anxious Concern for your Majesty's health, has hitherto abstained, from expressing, as he wished to express, his Gratitude to your Majesty for the unmerited Favour, which he has received. He meant so to do soon after your Majesty was pleased to place the Great Seal in his hands, & to tender in Terms, which, in consequence of your Majesty's Indisposition, he had not an immediate Opportunity of representing, his Gratitude for the Goodness, which he had experienced for many years, & especially for that Goodness, which had induced your Majesty to to place him in the Common Pleas, & to permit him to enjoy in that Court the professional Situation, which throughout his life he had ever considered as the most to be wished for, more especially as the duties of it were such, as, with Attention, he might hope to discharge with remarkable Sufficiency. He has since abstained from expressing these Sentiments because he felt the Importance to your Majesty's health of abstaining from giving your Majesty the trouble, which he now occasions.

He renjiced the Common Pleas with a degree of Pain, to which nothing could have reconciled him, but the consideration, which most effectually reconciled him to it — the Consideration that Duty & Gratitude called for the most prompt Obedience to your Majesty's Pleasure.
It was therefore that, when your Majesty was pleased to call him to a higher Station, he represented, what he now repeats, that, as your Goodness had enabled him in the Retirement, which he enjoyed in his former Office, to regain his health, he was most ready, as he ever will be, to sacrifice it again in your Majesty's Service.
It would be Ingratitude & Presumption, unpardonable in any Subject, & especially in one, who ought to deem himself of himself, not to consider his having ^{been} pleased, but for a day, in the Office of Chancellor, as an honour.

Ed. Chancellor

10250

of the highest nature. for him it is honour more than abundant: His happiness is as complete as in this world it can be, if it shall only happen that, whenever your Majesty, sooner or later, disciplines him to a private situation, he can carry into it the Approbation of his own heart, & the Assurance that in it he may hope to possess your Majesty's Regard. It is on account of his most anxious wish so to do that he now proceeds to recall to your Majesty's Recollection that, soon after he had the Great Seal, it became his painful duty in some of the Conversations, with which your Majesty honoured him, to state that he trusted in Providence that the Time would soon come, & he offers his humble Thanks to that Providence that it has arrived, when he should throw himself at your Majesty's feet to implore your Pardon with respect to Circumstances, which he need not present to your Majesty's Recollection, and he now relieves his mind from what has deeply oppressed it, by most humbly asking your Majesty's forgiveness for himself & for all others, who, with him, have been situated in what has past, as he can most solemnly assure your Majesty, by a loyal, dutiful, & heart felt Concern for your Majesty's health and welfare. He looks back with a Consciousness that there is too much in what has past, that requires your Majesty's gracious Consideration as to the good Intentions of all that have been concerned in the Restora-tion of your Majesty's health, to have presumed to take any further Step, which, by any Construction or possibility, could appear to your Majesty to be improper. He had however your Majesty's Permission, repeatedly given, to mention his humble Opinion to your Majesty, respecting the degree of Attendance of your Majesty's Physicians & others employed by them, as a Point, regarding your Majesty's health and Honour, might require. He considers that health as, under the Blessing of Providence, completely restored, but gratitude to Providence calls even for the overcautious Exercise of all human Means, that are proper, to secure, what he trusts is secure, the Conti-nuance of that great Blessing. This Consideration induces him humbly to state, and he hopes, makes it in some degree excusable to state, before your Majesty goes to Weymouth, his anxious hope & wish that your Majesty would be graciously pleas'd for your own sake & your family's, if you can so think fit, to command the Attendance, at last for the present, of Dr. Robert Wilkes, who, as being of the College, attends your Majesty as a regular Physician. This Court can not be extreme, even if it be unnecessary, in a matter of such high Importance. It will be altogether for your Majesty's own gracious Consideration to decide whether you will command, & in what degree, occasional visits from both or either of the other Gentlemen of that name. As to inferior Persons, who were employed in their Service, when your Majesty was indisposed, God grant, and I have an humble Confidence in his Providence that he will grant it to me, ever to say, what I now humbly, dutifully, and anxiously state to your Majesty, that I should betray my duty to you, if I did not, under the permission you gave me, express my Conviction, that the most mischievous Thing possible would be that, for any Reason whatever, any of them should be about your Majesty's Person. They are all unwillingly taken from Situations & Occupations in Life, which render it wholly unfit that they should be in Stations of such high & delicate Trust & Honour.

10251-2

But, if they were of the highest Character, Your Majesty will feel that the Attendance of any one or more of them must occasion Suspensions about Your Majesty's health, which, God be thanked, there is no ground to entertain, and uneasiness in the Minds of Your People, when, God be thanked, they have Reason in Your Majesty's health for Joy & Exultation. Under such Suspensions, & such uneasi-ness, both unnecessary, it is too obvious that Your Majesty's Government would be weakened.
It is therefore, under a Sense of imperious Duty that I have presumed to trouble Your Majesty as to this point. Your Majesty's gracious Nature cannot admit that You should be without Intentions of kindness to Your People, & other Means may be found of most liberally indulging that Kindness.
It has occurred to the ^{Strength} to mention this Topic to Your Majesty from having heard that there are Men, who judge of what most concerns Your Majesty's Interest and Honour, by the Influence which they draw from facts of this kind. 10252

The Lord Chancellor now throws himself, most humbly, at your Majesty's feet, praying that, when he shall have the Honour of seeing you Majesty on Wednesday, you will graciously condescend to intimate that you can, & do pardon what has past, and the additional presumption, of which he is now guilty: he has unburthened his mind, and, acting from a Conviction of Duty, he can submit cheerfully to any Consequences but your Majesty's displeasure.
May God Almighty preserve your Majesty in that Health, which he has restored — may he continue to your illustrious & beloved Family the Blessings they enjoy in the Restoration of it — and may he belong to the great Family of your People, dutifully, loyally & cordially attached as I know them to be to your Majesty, a Security, in the Enjoyment of that Health by your Majesty, for the Continuance of those Blessings, which they have derived from your parental Attention, and from that Example, which has diffused amongst them those Principles of Morality & Religion, without which a People cannot be Great or happy!

The Lord Chancellor

21 June

Ld. Hobart

10253 - 4

+

Ham Common June 21 - 1801
4 - 1/2 P. M.

Lord Hobart presents his humble Duty to your Majesty and begs leave to acquaint you that at a meeting of your Majesty's confidential Servants it has been determined to recommend to your Majesty, that a Detachment of one thousand Infantry and about fifty Artillery should be immediately sent to the Island of Madeira - The situation of Portugal with regard to France has excited a strong apprehension that either by Force or Artifice the Enemy may endeavour to obtain possession of that valuable Island, and as in that case property to a very large amount belonging to your Majesty's subjects would in all probability be confiscated it is judg'd advisable without loss of time to embark the propos'd force ^{for} that place with a view to prevent so serious a mischief - as well as to deprive the Enemy of those means of annoying the Trade of your Majesty's dominions which would be the inevitable consequence of Madairas falling into their hands -

It is not intended that Force should be resorted to for the purpose of introducing your Majesty's Troops into the Island - and therefore much difficulty may occur in effecting the Objct - but it is imagin'd that by selecting an

Ed. Hobart

10254

Officer for this service upon whose principles and address a well founded confidence can be placed, the most sanguine expectation of success may be entertained -

Under this impression from a thorough knowledge of the Character and Talents of Colonel Gullerton Lord Hobart humbly takes the liberty of submitting his name to your Majesty -

Handwritten text, possibly a signature or date, written vertically in cursive script.

Lord Hobart

10255-6

X Ham Common June 21st 1801 10 P.M.

Lord Hobart presents his humble Duty to your Majesty and begs leave to acquaint your Majesty that he this morning paid his respects to the Duke of York at Battersea for the purpose of communicating with his Royal Highness upon the subject of the propos'd detachment for Madeira -

That Lord Hobart intimated to his Royal Highness his intention of submitting to your Majesty the name of Colonel Bullarton as an Officer peculiarly qualified for the command of that detachment - and that his Royal Highness having suggested an objection to Colonel Pullerton upon the ground of there being a difficulty in recommending to your Majesty that he should have a special commission for the purpose of that command, on account of the particular circumstances under which he holds the rank of Colonel in your Majesty's Service, it was conceived that the difficulty might be removed by a small detachment from Colonel Pullerton's Regiment being ordered upon the service in question - and the Duke of York

Ld. Hobart

10256

being pleased to agree with Lord Hobart that such an arrangement might be calculated to obviate the objection intimated his intention of issuing orders accordingly -

Lord Hobart has with great deference to submit to your Majesty that the objection in view would seem to require that some step should immediately be taken, and that he humbly waits your Majesty's commands -

Lord Hobart has been honoured with your Majesty's commands of this day's date -

Lord Ashurst.

June 21. 1807.

Ld. Chancellor

10257-8

Thursday 21 June 1801
D. I. M.

The Lord Chancellor offers his most humble Duty to your Majesty, and begs to be permitted to state that, Wednesday having been the last Day of Term, and, there having been a very considerable Business of Business, which could not be postponed, the Lord Chancellor found that he was obliged to be in Court till a late Hour, as the Master of the Rolls, being indisposed, could not attend in his Absence; and the Lord Chancellor hopes your Majesty will graciously show him to represent that he should have apprized your Majesty of this Circumstance, if he had not, through Misapprehension, understood that your Majesty had prepared to come to Town on Wednesday; in Truth, that Misapprehension had so strongly influenced him that he had written to Mr Pitt to request that he would lay at your Majesty's Feet the Chamberlains humble Apologies for not personally waiting upon your Majesty.

The said Chamberlain humbly requests your Majesty's gracious Permission to represent, if occasion shall require it, when your Majesty's Presence in Town might be wished:
and, to save your Majesty unnecessary Trouble, he proposes, if your Majesty will graciously condescend to permit it, that some of your Majesty's Physicians should be allowed to wait upon your Majesty on Saturday at New-Whitst. The said Chamberlain feels it impossible for him to express, in any Terms, an adequate Notion of the Happiness he enjoys from the Accounts of your Majesty's Health, he

Ld. Chawcelor

10258 humbly presumes to hope your Majesty will permit his happiness and that of the Publick to be confirmed by the favorabll Reports, which your Majesty's confidential Servants cannot but receive from your Majesty's Physicians.

Majesty
is for Majesty.
My requests to represent your be wished:
of health,
various of your need to lay at the impediments an adequate from health, he

[Faint, illegible handwritten text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page]

At Chancellor's
21. June 1801. 8. P.M.

Lord Hobart

10259-60

Grosvenor Place June 22^d 1801. 10. O.M.

Lord Hobart presents his humble duty to your Majesty and begs leave to offer his gratefull acknowledgments to your Majesty for your having been pleas'd to acquiesce in his recommendation of Colonel Gullerton, and at the same requests permission to be allowed to submit to your Majesty the reasons which induc'd him to believe that such a nomination would not have been objectionable in a military point of view - Lord Hobart had understood that Colonel Gullerton had commanded an army in India during the years 1783 and 1784, and that he had received the most honorable testimonies of approbation from Lord Macartney under whose Government he then served - Lord Hobart had also been inform'd that Colonel Fullerton had been selected in the year 1796 for the chief command of the land forces upon an expedition which it was at that time in contemplation to send to Spanish America under Lord Hugh Seymour.

These circumstances connected with the Knowledge Lord Hobart had of the Address and conciliatory manners of Colonel Fullerton had led him to think that he was well calculated to succeed in the very critical

Lord Hobart

10260 and important service upon which it was proposed to employ him -

Lord Hobart having thus ventured to explain to your Majesty the motives which actuated his conduct would not discharge his official duty in the manner which he feels it incumbent upon him to perform if now he is apprized of your Majesty's sentiments upon the subject he did not humbly submit your Majesty to be permitted to withdraw the name of Colonel Gallatton and to be authorized by your Majesty to mention Colonel Clinton to his Royal Highness the Duke of York for the command of the Detachment under orders for Madeira -

Lord Robert.

Nov 22. 1887.

As to date
See Peerage
(Hertford)

Lady (Anne) Horatia Seymour (wife of Adm. Genl.
Hugh Seymour)

10261-2

Clifton June 22. 1801.

Sir.

When I think of my presumption in Addressing your Majesty I can scarcely hold my Pen - but let me

As b date

humbly request my Situation will plead my Cause, with that excellent heart which your Majesty possesses, as it is written by a Person, to whose Providence has preserved for three years in a wonderful way - but I have relaps'd, and I do not feel I can now last when I left Jamaica. Lord Hugh Seymour said, "that Providence which has preserved you hitherto will I am confident make the Voyage recover you - and then being restor'd to six of your children." If not yet to be restor'd, and that you like the Idea of - If you recover I have no wish to part but for the Happiness of my

As b date

Lady (Anne) Horatia Seymour (wife of Adm. Lord Hugh Seymour)

10262

Excuse, with my respects, the evidence has today - but I now last said, that it will I as you - and if not yet to if you receive think of my children - and here my ambition steps in, and I own if I could but distinguish myself in my profession - and that the thing would make me an English Peer, ^{I should be truly gratified} unless for the same should be coming here there is no chance of that. At the same time he feels most sensibly Your Majesty's goodness in giving him (so young an Admiral) such an appointment. Altho' he has not been fortunate My petition has Majesty to join with me in begging forgiveness of Your Majesty - but I do think if Your Majesty could see the object I am - your Majesties would forgive me, for the of L^{td} Hughes last Spent to me almost - May ever preserve your Majesty.

is the constant prayer of your Majesty's most faithful Servant.

Horatia Seymour

I have been held up to write.

Ms. A. 1. 1. 1. 1.
June 22. 1801.

J. Harbyr to?

10263

Greenwich June 23rd 1801. -

Gent:

In Answer to your Favour of the 17th Inst: (which I beg to apologize for not having sooner noticed) I have to inform you that the House at this Place occupied by the Princess of Wales (not the Princess Royal) is not the Property of Dr. Robertson, but that of his Grace the Duke of Buccleugh - The House now occupied by Lord Lewisham at Blackheath, was about three Years ago, used as a Residence for the Princess Charlotte of Wales - The late Dr. Robertson formerly held a Lease of this House under the Earl of Dartmouth, but about a Year before his Death he disposed of his Interest in it, to Lord Lewisham -

We never were concerned for Dr Robertson in his Life Time, nor are We now for his Representatives.

I am Sirs

Your most obedt Servt.

J. Hartopp.

M^r. Addington.
Downing St. 23. June 1801.

10264

Downing Street -
June 23^d - 1801.
10. P. M.

With your Majesty's gracious Permission, Lord Arden will pay his Duty to-morrow at The Queen's House, and humbly submit to your Majesty's Design for the new Gold Coin, adapted to the Union between Great Britain, and Ireland.

M^r. Addington will not fail to obey your Majesty's Commands - little before one o'clock to-morrow, when He hopes to lay before your Majesty some Information, which He trusts will prove satisfactory, respecting the proposed Arrangements in your Majesty's Government.

M^r Addington

May 25. 1791

10265

X

Downing Street
June 25th 1791
1/4 P.M. P.M.

M^r Addington humbly desires to receive your Majesty's Commands respecting the Time of holding a Council previous to your Majesty's Removal to Weymouth. If it should be your Majesty's Pleasure that it should take Place to-morrow, M^r Addington will cause Directions to be given for covering it at the House, which

Your Majesty may appoint: but the ventures to add, that a Delay till Saturday would be attended with the Probability of such Steps being taken, as would remove the Impediments which have deferred the Completion of the remaining Arrangements in Your Majesty's Government.

Wm. Pitt to Henry Addington

10266-7

Park Place.

Friday June 26th 1801

Private

My Dear Sir

As I understand any further Delay in Mr Foster's return to Ireland would be attended with Inconvenience, and as he cannot well venture to go back till he is enabled to settle the secret account on which we have had occasion to converse, I have thought it best to send you a written Statement of the Circumstances relative to it. It appeared in the course of last Autumn that there had occurred a saving on different Articles in the his h^h Civil List, which left a Sum disposable by the Lord Lieutenant with His Majesty's approbation, to the Amount of 18000 £. This Sum it was proposed to apply to a very important and pressing Purpose which was then explained to His Majesty, and which He was pleased to approve; and as the best Mode of doing so, the Sum was directed to be paid over to His Majesty's private Purse, it being understood to be His Majesty's gracious Intention that it should afterwards be paid

Wm Pitt to Henry Addington

10267 into the hands of Mr King the Under Secretary of State or of Lord Cattermole or Mr Cooke

The money has under these circumstances been expended by the Irish Government, who borrowed it from a fund to which they are indispensably bound to replace it but which they have no means of doing, but by His Majesty's being graciously pleased to give effect to what I conceived to be

His Majesty's intention. ~~When~~ when these circumstances are submitted to the Majesty they will sufficiently explain the nature of the transaction. I am, my dear Sir

Yours most faithfully

Wm Pitt

W Pitt

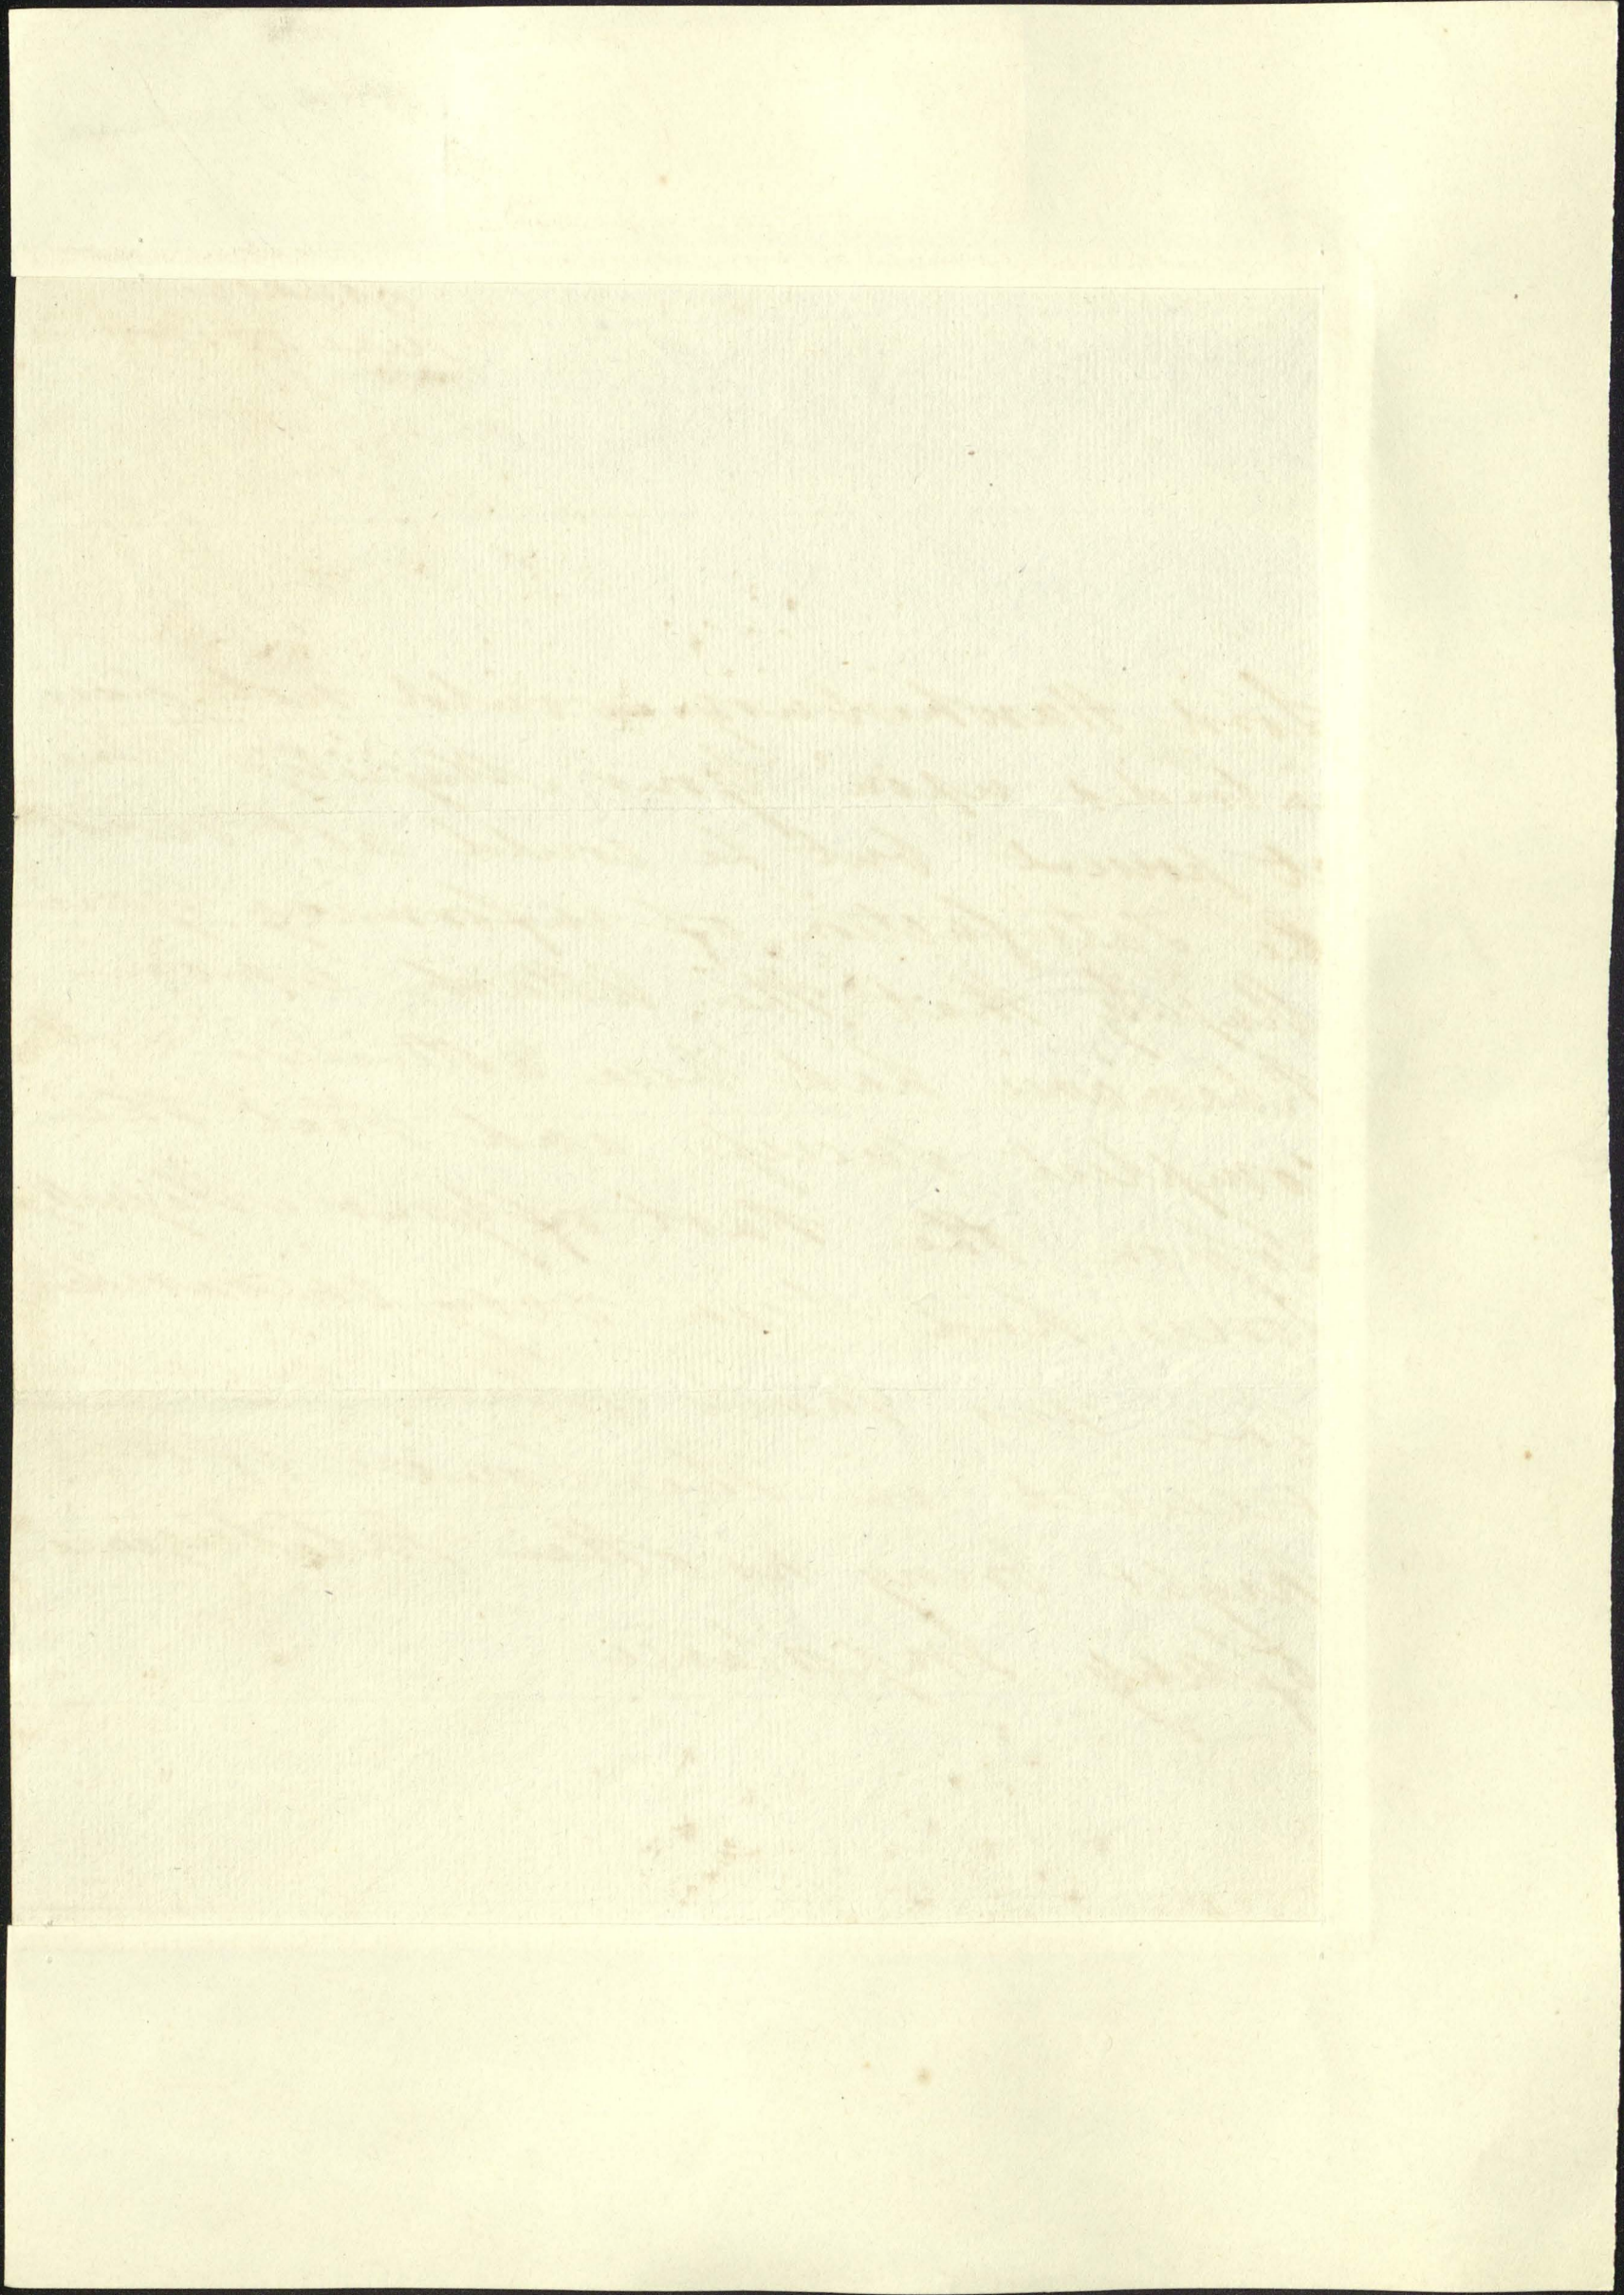

Mr Pitt to Mr Colman
June 26. 1787.

Lord Hawkesbury
June 29th 1801.

10268

London
June 29 1801

Lord Hawkesbury would not have intruded upon Your Majesty's time at present but he could not resist the satisfaction of informing Your Majesty that the Attack upon Rhamani had been attended with compleat success, and that the Loss on the Part of Your Majesty's Forces had been very inconsiderable.
The two Traits which were received in the Course of the Night bring no other Intelligence of any Importance

Duke of Portland

June 30 1801.

10269-70

†

The Duke of Portland most humbly begs leave to acquaint Your Majesty, that in consequence of the necessity which has been represented to Your Majesty of obtaining Your Majesty's order in Council for the prorogation of the Parliament, the Duke of Portland Lord Grenville the Vice Chamberlain & Mr Long will attend Your Majesty's orders tomorrow at Whitehall at so early an hour in the afternoon as to constitute a Council, if it shall be Your Majesty's pleasure, in the course of it, so as that the Commission may be returned ^{in person} on time, the next day, for ~~presenting~~ the Parliament

Every means will be taken to procure the attendance of two other Privy Counsellors, but the Duke of Portland entreats & desires to flatter himself that Your Majesty's goodness will dispose Your Majesty to forgive his presumption in obeying to Your Majesty's

Duke of Portland

June 30 1801

10270 that it had been suggested to him that His Royal Highness

The Duke of Cumberland is at Southampton

Buckingham House

Tuesday 30 June 1801

^m 20 p. 9. p. m.

it shall be your
- Commission
the Parliament

- of two other
- of several upon your

as Majesty me

Duke of Portland
30 June 1801

Ld. Chancellor

June 30 1801

10271-2

The Lord Chancellor, observing his most humble Duty to Your Majesty, has the Honour to transmit a Commission for proroguing the Parliament to be signed in the usual manner with Your Majesty's Royal Sign Manual, if Your Majesty shall graciously so think fit, after Your Majesty shall have been pleased to make an Order in Council that the Parliament shall be prorogued. The Lord Chancellor has also the Honour of sending to Your Majesty a Commission for passing Bills, which are ready to receive Your 10 Majesty's Royal Assent, if your Majesty is pleased to approve them. He transmits also the Titles of the Bills, which, in general, express their Contents, or the Substance of their Contents; and he is not aware that his duty to your Majesty requires that he should give your Majesty the Trouble of more particularly stating the effect of any of them.

He cannot conclude this without expressing the heart felt Satisfaction, which he enjoyed, when he had lost the Honour of being admitted to your Majesty's Presence, from perceiving in your Majesty's completely restored Health the Happiness, which have resulted from your

ld. Chancellor

June 30 1801

10272

His Majesty's condescension to be your own Physician: a Satisfaction so great, that he could not have resisted his wishes to offer, in Person, the Papers, which he transmitted for your Majesty's Royal Sign Manual; if he did not know that your Majesty would more approve his attending his duty in administering your Majesty's Justice in Court to your Subjects.

Tuesday Evening

11 o'clock P.M.

30 June 1801.

ST 101

30 June 1807

The Marquis

Mr Addington
June 30th 1801.

10273

+

Wimbledon -
June 30th 1801 -
10 P. M.

Mr Addington most humbly informs Your Majesty, that, in consequence of an accidental omission at The Queen's House on Friday last, it is very material that a Council should be held without Delay, for the Purpose of receiving Your Majesty's Commands respecting the Prorogation of Parliament.
The Duke of Portland, and some other Members of the Privy Council, accordingly intend to proceed to Whitehall - morrow to leave your Majesty's Pleasure on this Subject. Mr. Addington herewith transmits to your Majesty a Paper of the Contents of which He earnestly hopes that your Majesty will not disapprove; and He has only further to express his Regret that any Circumstance should have arisen, to break in upon your Majesty's Convenience during your Residence at Suffield.