Your Majesty's permission to take this method of laying at Your Majesty's of being presented to your Majesty; His Serene Highness has desired convenience as to the Time, manner & Place

April 4. 1802.

The King most Excellent Majesty

Your Majesty has ever been gracious in permitting me to make known to you my anxieties; but on the present occasion, I am impelled by a duty I owe to your Majesty's Benignity, my own honour, as well as to the love I know your Majesty has for truth, to lay before you six the following.

There was one point in the letter which I had the honour to place in your Majesty's Hands at Weymouth, through the medium of Mr. Wyatt, which stated, that there was a plan laid to degrade the profession of which I am at the head (Said ^{there} by your Majesty) and to lessen me in the good opinion of your Majesty, your Family, and the country.

I have been recently told by one of the great movers of that plan, that "he knew—your Majesty had Disgraced me, and that he believed it was owing to my politics, and want of loyalty." My reply to this positive assertion was, that such an event was unknown to me — that there must be some mistake, as the King was ever gracious to me on my approaching His presence; that if His Mind was thus impressed towards me, it must be owing to some cause of which I was ignorant, and unconscious of having given any offence, that person has given to understand by letter, that he may have permission to give up his Authorities — so that I flatter myself, this matter will be brought to issue.

If any unfavourable impression has been made on your Majesty's mind towards me, the greatest favour you can grant will be to signify what are the causes

have produced them, that I may stand acquitted or condemn or that those who have with so much confidence asserted my Disgrace, may be made sensible of their error.

Would your Majesty be graciously pleased to permit me to give an account of what has been my lan-guage and conduct for the last thirty years respecting my attachment to your Majesty — your Illustrious Family, and this Country, and to submit that statement to any one or two persons that your Majesty can have confidence in; — this I mention not wishing to press on your Majesty's time and goodness. If the Lords of Har-court or Leicester, or both, or others more private — as Dr.
Fisher, or M^r. de Guiffardiere who will be able to report to your Majesty thereon — Or will your Majesty be gra-ciously pleased to signify to me at the present moment that I have nothing to apprehend from the malignant intrigues of those who have sought my ruin in the completion of their plans.

I hope to receive your Majesty's forgiveness for thus approaching you with this statement — and al-low me to declare myself with the most profound love and gratitude — your Majesty's faithful subject and serv

Sir

I trust that Your Majesty will pardon my thus transmitting to Your Majesty the Weekly News but being confined to my house by a feverish Cold which however is now better, it is out of my power to pay my duty to Your Majesty in person.

I have the Honor to report to Your Majesty that in consequence of a pressing message which I received from Lord Hobart and Mr Addington on Monday, urging the propriety of such Militia Regiments as were not already in their respective Counties being immediately selected and marched into them in order to their being disbanded. I have directed the necessary March routes to be sent immediately.

I have however declared entering into the second part of their Message which was to propose an immediate partial reduction of the Cavalry and Invalids, till at least a general outline of the intended Peace Establishment is settled, and till I have been taken Your Majesty's pleasure upon it, which I hope will meet with Your Majesty's approbation

I have also to report the arrival yesterday of Lord Hawkesbury has the Honour to send your Majesty six Ratified Copies of the Definitive Treaty of Peace for your Royal Signature. Lord Hawkesbury has caused three Copies to be prepared in English and French, and three only in English, that Mr. Merry may make use of either according as he finds the Ratifications of the other Powers in both languages or only in French. Although Lord Hawkesbury continues of Opinion that under the Circumstances of the Case It would be rather better that the Ministers of your Majesty and the French Government should have the Character of Friends than that of

Ambassadors yet as the French Government appear to press this point with some earnestness, and as the Reason given for it is not only intelligible, but respectful to your Majesty. It is humbly submitted to you that it may be advisable to acquiesce in the Proposal, that the situation in both Countries should in the first Instance be that of Ambassadors.

Allow me Sir with the most unfeigned Respect & Duty to lay myself at Your Majesty's feet. Penetrated as I am by the condescending Goodness You have shewn me, I am only anxious that Your Majesty should believe the grateful and personal Attachment I bear towards You.

Your Majesty is not uninformed of the situation in which I stand with Lord Buckingham: My Opinions differ so widely from his upon many points, that I wish to resign the Employment I hold under him at the Exchequer (under circumstances peculiarly unpleasant to me which if Your Majesty would condescend to hear I could explain to You). — My only object is to prove my gratitude and attachment to Your Majesty by devoting myself to your Service, and if I could hope now or future period to be placed in your Family, I should feel it the pride and happiness of my life. I trust your Majesty will not think me actuated by pecuniary Motives, in wishing to relinquish the Office I at present hold, for an Appointment more gratifying to my feelings and my Heart and I therefore throw myself upon your Majesty's gracious Permit me Sir to add my ardent hope that

The Lord Chancellor offers his most humble Duty to Your Majesty, and takes Leave to trouble Your Majesty by sending a Commission to pass Bills to morrow, if your Majesty shall be graciously pleased so to think fit. The Lord Chancellor sends the Titles of the Bills, & offers the Commission for the purpose of of the Bills, than such as is to be collected from the Titles, because he feels it unnecessary to give your Majesty that trouble.

He most humbly and gratefully thanks your Majesty for your most gracious kindness to him during his Indisposition, which has left nothing inconvenient but that sort of weakness, which he humbly begs may be accepted as an Apology for not offering his duty at St James's to day, which he could not do without suffering considerably; and he therefore ventured to hope that Your Majesty's Goodness would excuse him, if he employed himself in hearing
