

Ed. Helderne 22

15926

London April 22^d. 1771.

Sir

In humble obedience to the command contained in the last letter Your Majesty designed to honour me with I have turned in my thoughts how Mr Salgas's absence might best be supplied till his arrival, for I will not suppose he will decline the generous offer made him; various considerations occur which I shall submit to Your Majesty's determination whenever it is is your Royal pleasure to permit my attendance.

I have the Honour to be with the most profound respect

Sir

Your Majesty's
most Loyal Subject
most faithfully devoted Servant

W. D. M. C.