

John Bryeres

July 23 1783

16399 - 400

Vire

I have ever been averse, & feel at present unwary, to trouble Your Majesty with the report of any irregularity in the department, An idea of total independency in the Receipts, is, I take it, the cause of their never giving notice when they lay out, from the residence of sometimes very short, or no notice of their Dining out. knowing Your Majesty's pleasure to be that Prince Edward should not except in cases of indispensable necessity sit down to his Dinner with one single person only.

of his three Attendants, keeps me cautious to engage, & even forces me often to break engagements.
As it happens that within these few days, the Prince will have been left with one single person at dinner, I think it my duty to inform Your Majesty of it myself, & not leave it to others to do so.

It has pleased M<sup>r</sup> Ferhill without any previous verbal or written notice to me, to go in the country for a few days, not knowing of his absence on Saturday I consented to M<sup>r</sup> Fisher's dining out on that day, & I dined alone with the Prince. A letter from my Lawyer about material business, obliged me, as Your Majesty

John Bryeres

July 23 1783

16400

will see by the note to be in Town Monday at 5 o'clock. The Prince dining at 1/2 past 5. I left Mr. Fisher alone with him. This day the same business forces me to be in town by four. Mr. Farhill not being returned yet, I must again leave Mr. Fisher alone w. the Prince. I hope for your Majesty's indulgence in a case of necessity, which I own distresses me. I had given notice to the two Secretaries that His Royal Highness would return home on Monday forenoon.

I have the honor to be with the most profound respects

Your Majesty's

Most humble & most devoted faithfull Subject,
J. Bryeres

Here - Wednesday 23<sup>d</sup> July 1783

[Faint, mirrored handwriting, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page]

Mr. Brough

July 23. 1703