My Dearest Charlotte

As I cannot but be deeply impressed by the consideration of how much You must have been afflicted by the long continuance of my Illness and the events that attended it; I cannot but wish to prevent Your having any further trouble concerning it, and therefore desire You will acquaint both the Prince of Wales and Frederick that though I do not mean to decline giving that Attention to Public business which may be necessary, yet that I propose avoiding all discussions that may in their nature agitate Me, and consequently must for the present decline entering on subjects that are not necessarily before Me. I shall ever remain

My Dearest Charlotte
Your most affectionate Husband
