Your Majesty's Letter to Prince Augustus expresses with great Goodness all the Indulgence that the Case admits; and the truest Kindness towards him is to convince B. K. H. that the schemes with which he has flattered himself are in the Nature of Things impracticable, which it is to be hoped he will clearly perceive from your Majesty's Answer & accomodate his Mind to his Situation. The Chancellor will send the Letter to Mr. St. John which your Majesty has been pleased to approve, hoping not only that he may transmit it to Prince Augustus, but be induced by it to stop the Communications from hence which entertain false & imaginary Speculations in the Mind of Prince Augustus.
