

H. Adams to Col. Kebleton

18263 - 4 Woburn Abbey -
Secret July 23. 1811

My Dear Friend.

I am most anxious to know how the arrangement has been executed respecting You.
It will be one of the happiest moments of my life if I shall have suggested anything that proves useful to You.

When Tucker was in Town he told me that Tyrwhitt resisted making Charles Carpenter a Steward of any of the Duke of Cornwall's

H. Adams to Col. Hekebon

18264

Cornwall's Manors because of the obloquy which prevailed against him - The Com:
inspiration of the Peace is given up on that ground - But it would be very hard if he was from the unjust extension of that prejudice to have a veto put on the other - And very injuri: ous to the P's interest - As Tubbs Hunk's Carpenter could be most materially serviceable - and he has been so already in the

The discharge of his duty as deputy Reviewer -

You know it is not my nature to press this on Lyons with in an improper way - and I wish now if having escaped me when we have met lately, that I may give you the means of knowing in your mind to dispense it when we meet.

I shall go to Donnyton on Monday or Tuesday that we shall be back in Lawn by Friday the 2^d

^{Raymond of}
of August to hold the 3 Score of years in this world - But I ^{am} more inclined by Lord Melville having told me that on Sat^{day} 4th or ^{the 4th of August} Sunday he proposes going to Harrogate to meet the Chief Baron - He asked me as to my time said he would wait for me some days. I have not seen him before His departure This is so very important as to make me punctual in my return.

Your truly's friend
Most truly ever
W. Adam
