

Rev. J. D. Perkins to
↓

19314-5

Dartmouth, Devon
Feb^r 24th 1892

My Dear Mr. Mahon

Language cannot express what the Feelings of every true born Briton must be at the exalted Conduct of the Royal Prince Regent!

Turne the Page of History where do we read of such Magnanimity, such Wisdom, such Virtue, such Patriotism? I verily believe no Prince ever stood so high in the Estimation of Mankind as our Royal Master does at this Moment;

The West of England has but one Mouth and it is loud to proclaim their Gratitude and Duty for the consummate Sagacity and disinterested Benevolence exemplified in the whole of His Royal Highness' Conduct; - long may He live for the Blessing of this Empire! -

I read with the liveliest Emotion of joy your excellent Speech in the House of Commons, from the Sentiments therein expressed, founded and confirmed by

Rev. J. D. Perkins to
↓

The Prudence & Duties of many years, the Word must be at a loss which most to admire, the Wisdom of a Prince in selecting a Man or the Gratitude and Faithfulness of that Man in the Service of His Royal Master?

I do feel proud whenever I consider I have had the Honor and Delight to be one of the ~~oldest~~ ^{dearest} and most intimate Friends of that "faithful and good Servant" since his Return from America, and that I am permitted to give him an opportunity to prove the continuance of that Friendship to this very Day: - This Permission I have frequently renewed but never more cordially than when I had the pleasure to see him in London last November.

Allow me therefore my Dear ^{Friend} ^{in Christ} to request you will do me the kindness to present my humble Duty to the Prince Regent and to say how gratefully I should be if 19315

His Royal Highness would be graciously pleased to authorize Mr Perival to give me the next vacant Stall in the Cathedral at Worcester.

This Favor I am sure you will readily grant me and you will believe me to remain with greatest regard & esteem Your Obedient, & ever sincere affectionate Friend

J. D. Perkins

J. D. Perkins

July 25. 1812.

24^K