19682 - 3

If you could only know the state of mind of your friends at Butcombe, I know you would feel even more than you have done for our unfortunate situation - I have all the inclination in the world to do so, and I have been advised by my best Friends to rest my cause in your hands - Do tele me if any obstacle has arisen - or if you advise my preparing a Memorial In short pray let me hear from you - I am aware of the untoward times - But I think two small Pensions may be given of a description not to be noticed by Parliament - or a provision in the shape of a Civil Appointment for my Son would equally relieve this injured Family - If I could get a small addition my Dear Torrens, so as to place the Boy and Maria in comfort and in a way corresponding to their Education, I should be happy Excuse this hasty note for I am agitated beyond measure - I am quite sure if my situation can only be brought fairly before the Prince

Prince he will not neglect ^{will} me, as I know His Royal Highness's opinion of my unhappy case.
