to Col. Lee Mahon

Madras July 6. 1715.

Your invaluable Kindness & My Dear friend to push on to fill my bosom with every feeling of sentiment of gratitude, which it affords me the most implicit confidence in making known to You, every wish I have which from my present situation I am enabled to form in reference to my own Welfare and future benefit.

On this subject I have written by this opportunity very fully to Lord Buckinghamshire, whose many friends
The Right Hon^{ble} Colonel W. Mahon

Acts and instances of kindness I am ever most grateful for, and have communicated to him the object to which I particularly aspire should it become attainable.

The justification to Sir Geo. Blyden's appointment as Commander of the Forces in Bengal with a Seat in Council which he resigned when he was superseded in the Chief Command of the Army in India by the Earl of Moira. I trust you will not deem me over presumptuous for looking up to ^{fill} the station in question after that I shall have filled my present one for The space of two years which must nearly expire before this matter can be determined and finally known here. — If you will have the goodness to speak with Lord B. on this subject I dare say he will show you my letter and I venture to think you will find His Lordship well disposed to accept my views as far as circumstances may admit of. — It is my manner in your power to add to His Lordship's kind intentions I feel most confidently that I may rely thereon as the object to me is no less than whether I shall be enabled in a few years to return home in Circumstances somewhat easy or somewhat the reverse which at the period of life I shall then be in of no small consideration You will I am sure learn with pleasure that nothing can be more flattering to than the expressions of approbation and kind opinion which I constantly received with from Lord Moira.
