Dear Sir,
 I have some times since a small case of drawings etc sent over from Dresden by the Baron von Kleist directed to you for his Majesty - As you stated at the time that they were sent without instructions, you could not give the Broker orders to send them to the Palace. Since that time the B. von Kleist has applied to us to send them back to him - We accordingly made application at the Custom House in the King's Warehouse where the case is still lying, and the officers there require your authority before they can give them up.

We are exceedingly sorry to be obliged to trouble you again in this business, but we shall esteem it
