Ld North thought it incumbent upon him to ~~report~~ ^{transmit} to his Majesty the letter he received this morning, because it seem'd to throw a different aspect & appearance upon the state of his Majesty's affairs in Parliament, not by any means intending to obscure his Majesty, but to stand clear as having given notice of every thing that had happen'd. He is is ready to stand any danger, & he knows of no man he wishes more for his companion than Lord Kelly-borough, to whom he has no objection that the seals should be given as soon as his Majesty thinks proper.

& he has talk'd to every person in that state, so that it is generally understood that the Southern Seals are disposed of. Lord North, having given notice of every thing of importance to his Majesty, is willing to carry on the public business as well as he can, & his Majesty will find that in the midst of the approaching storm, he will stand as firm as his health & abilities will permit.

Tuesday Evening.

P. S. Perhaps, his Majesty may be willing to give the seals to Lord Hills borough tomorrow; He will attend the meeting tonight, & take care his Majesty will find in him an honest & virtuous man, an able supporter, but the fire is out, & nothing is left but to fight as well as we can.

 These Crores, & these alarms are dis--treasing, & absolutely drive her Majesty to madness.
