

Her Queen

2^d. February 1805

2. Feb. 1805

GEO/MAIN/36544

Sir.

The Letter I have just received from Your Majesty, calls for my warmest acknowledgement & thanks for the interest You take in my Health. Dr. Francis Milner found the Swelling of my Face less than it was, & Dumirque found the long expected Abscess opened, but not sufficiently large to venture putting the Lancet to it, which He hopes to do in a Day or two, by the Promises I have the Prospect at least to attend Your parties at Your return on Monday, though perhaps not to venture with Powder to a Public Place.

Trijoiced at the Clearness of the Day when I awoke this Morning as I knew it would contribute both to Your Amusement and Your Health, I trust Your Majesty will feel better for the Clear Air at Windsor, & that it will chase away all the Rheumatic Pains You complain of, in which no body can Participate more Sincerely than most truly attached & Dutifull Wife

Your Majesty's

Charlotte

L. H.
the 2^d/ Feb^y.
1805

[Faint, illegible handwriting on lined paper]