My dearest Son. I send a Servant to London in order to obtain some account of Y^r Health, of which Sr Henry Hallford gave a better account on Fryday then I expected, but can not feel easy to be any longer without hearing how the new Remedies have answered. I hope to hear that Your Health improves.

Just as I was going to write I had a message from Robert Keate the Surgeon who wished to see me. He came owing to a report that You as Regent were to have two Household Surgeons instead of one, & supplicates to be remembered upon this occasion — His attendance upon poor Amelia for near two Years, & ~~the~~ which He did with loss to Himself, & likewise the four month constant Confinement with her, during the operation upon Her Foot. give Him a right to expect my marrying Interest for Him He also ~~also~~ attends I believe Your Daughter & is a very attentive Young Man in every Respect to His Patients. I have now said all I can say & know to His advantage, nor if Necessary You may learn from others & I only beg that You will be so good ~~to~~ when You have determined what to do to let Him know that I have kept my promise of acquainting You with His request.

I shall long to hear from You letter & am

My dearest Son
