Sir

I was very sorry that both in October and now, I could not have the honour of seeing your Royal Highness, from your being out of town the only days in which I was in it. But although I have not had that opportunity I am sure your Royal Highness does not doubt the sincere & lively interest which I take in every thing that concerns your honour & interest, and I need not say how ^{truly} in those points of view I am rejoiced at the many step which your Royal Highness has taken, & which I have no doubt but you will pursue with the same firmness of mind which enabled you to make the resolution. Permit to take this occasion of repeating to your Royal Highness the assurances of that attachment with which I am

Sir,
your Royal Highness's most obedient Servant
