After Lord North left me yesterday, I heard from Lord Hillsborough that there was great difficulty in going to Parliament, I told him you were gone there and that the Lords ought also to attempt, since what I heard nothing till within this half hour, of the outrage at Count Hasburg's and Mr. de Gordon's Chappels; Parliament cannot help enquiring into this Plot, I have not heard whether the House of Lords also adjourned without proceeding to business.
