Sir

Lord Cholmondeley will be at Carlton House before twelve according to your Royal Highness's orders; he will send early in the morning to Capt^t Payne, to tell him he intends calling upon him. — I have obeyed your orders; & have acquainted the Princess, with the reason of your not having seen her to day; her Royal Highness is much concerned that the answer from the Chancery, is so unfavorable to your wishes.

I am very much flattered by your Royal Highness's kind inquiries concerning me and I have the honor to be.

Sir, with the greatest regard & respect, Your

Royal Highness's,

Court House most faithful & most Monday even? obliged humble Ser^t.
