

H. R. A. to the Queen -

Feb. 15 1796

39135 - 6

My dearest Brother,

I am now oblig'd to trouble You with this Letter as I had not the good fortune to see You this morning, & indeed the necessity for my seeing You is become more urgent. Not wishing to trespass upon the King, I had intended to have laid before You, the Papers that have pass'd between the Commissioners & Myself, in short not to detain You, when they have prepar'd & recommended Proves abundant by the opinions of both the Kings Attorney & Solicitor General, it being

H. P.
3

contrary to Law. The consequence is, that judgment having pass'd, an Exemption may be expected in the same Manner, & that I am positively in a worse situation than I was before the last pass. I am surpris'd to be oblig'd to intrude upon the King during his few Hours of relaxation in the Country but I entreat with my humble Duty, that You will inform him of this circumstance & as I must in consequence come to Windsor Morrow to know his pleasure, I will bring with me those Papers that have pass'd, &

H. R. A. to the Queen -

Feb. 15 1796

39136

which are not many in number, when I trust that you will at least have the consolation to see that no blame can rest with me.

I am, my ever dearest Mother,

Your affectionate & dutiful

Monday. 6 o'clock. p.m. Son,

Feb. 15. 1796 -

George B.

[Faint, mirrored handwriting, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page]

The Prince of Wales

to

The Queen

July 15. 1796