The Prince of Wales

Sir

June - 1796

I have just received the Honour of your Royal Highness's letter.
It is in part answered by what I have already written: but, in addition to what I have there stated, I will beg your Royal Highness to excuse my waiting upon you to dinner on the point of most particular business; for the arrange-

-most of which I had appointed people to dine with us today; as the only hour at which I could be sure of being at home to receive them.

I am, Sir, most truly Your Royal Highness's Obedient & devoted servant
