My Dear Son, I received on Thursday your letter, I view with the same degree of serenity that seems to affect you the present Crisis, but it is accompanied with a consciousness of the rectitude of my Cause, the fullest trust in the protection of Divine Providence, and in the warm support of my Subjects, which is daily more manifested. The command I have given you of the 10th Regiment of Light Dragoons, should the Enemy succeed in their intentions of invading this Island, will enable you at the head of that brave Corps to shew that valour which has ever been a striking feature in the Character of the House of Brunswick. I ever remain
