Dear MacMahon

The inclosed letter I received yesterday from Old Montague, Equerry of the Crown Stable to His Majesty and formerly Clerk of the Stables to The Prince, having reason to believe that The Prince has a regard for the old Man, I conceive, I may without presumption request of you to take a favorable opportunity of laying it before my Brother, and receiving his commands upon it. I understand Mr Montague is at present involved in difficulties from which, a compliance with his request, would tend essentially to relieve him, and I am well aware from the goodness of the Princes heart, and his well known justice, and liberality, that a promise of the nature mentioned by the old Man was ever made, it will be scrupulously observed on his part.

I remain with

friendship and regard

Dear MacMahon

Love yours

Most faithfully

Edward
