London, 11th 1810.

My Dear Friend

I will not say that I was very apt to meet you in London when I lately made a secondary appearance there, because I am sure your being at Cheltenham was much better for your health. Had you been in town, however, I should have rejoiced in the opportunity of shaking you by the hand.

It delighted me to see the Piece so admirably well. The growing Distresses of the Country will speedily call the eyes of People to him. The rich harvest which strictest industry has sown is ripening fast.

By a question in a letter of his Highness to Lady Lardan, it seems that his Grace's billie cannot have received my acknowledgments for two magnificent Pearls which he had the kindness to send to Lady L. I returned, at the time,

My thanks for the beautiful present in terms adequate to my Missy's attention: but I regret infinitely to find that my letter must have missed him. If he be still at Cheltenham, pray explain this, & write
-rate to him by appearance of the sense with which I met that polite cor-spondent.

We are just breaking up an establishment here. We leave today for Holkham, where I shall remain with 1911 Please till the 9th or 10th on the 15th we shall without fail be at Dorington. Should any thing occur your Holiday, we shall be delighted in receiving you & be there.

Believe me ever

Yours faithfully
John Lubbock
