

I am of the arrangement made by Sir H. Hall, after his absence of twelve hours

That one general consultation of all the Physicians would be sufficient ^{in the course of the week} which was to take place on a Saturday, unless the Ministers (or such part of them ^{as} might be ^{able} to attend, would be at Windsor to receive the report of the Physicians. That Dr. Hester and Willis, would remain in the Castle, that each of the other Physicians, Hall, & Baillie were each separately, to make only one intermediate visit in the course of the week.

None of the Physicians sit up at night with the King which is known to Sir H. Hall.
