

London May 16 1791

Sir

I take the earliest opportunity to acquaint Your Majesty with my safe arrival here yesterday evening, I did not receive the King of Prussia's answer to the letter which I wrote to him for leave to serve with the Troops, till last Tuesday at Hannover, there were one or two expressions in it which I could not well comprehend, I therefore thought it better to push on here, in order to obtain an explanation, before I troubled Your Majesty upon that Subject, I am happy to express to Your Majesty that every one of my apprehensions have been cleared up in the most satisfactory manner to me, ^{and that the expressions I allude to} which were totally owing to the very delicate situation in which the King of Prussia found himself at that moment, and which is now quite altered he received me in the most gracious manner possible, and expressed himself in the handsomest manner towards Your Majesty, he returns here tomorrow here, and only last two days after he then at Berlin begins, and last three days, I shall then accompany his Majesty to the Marches at Magdeburg, and shall then return to Berlin and wait with patience for the event of Peace or War.

I stopped two days in my journey at Hanover in order to see my two Brothers, I saw not but gave Your Majesty the best accounts possible of both of them, they are ^{both} grown very handsome and Ernst is about two inches taller than he and Adolphus is nearly my size, I went out one day to see Ernst exercise a Squadron of the Queen's Regiment, which he did most exceedingly well, and General Freytag has assured me, that there is not an Officer in the whole Regiment, but how men attend to or know how what he is about that he does, Adolphus is a prodigious fine and perfectly natural, seems to have a great deal of sense, and a great desire to learn. I found the Duke of Brunswick not at all altered, and in the usual high spirits and good humors.
The Duke returned to Brunswick the second day I was there with a very violent Ague which he had thought he had been free of but which had returned with redoubled violence owing to the badness of the Weather, I saw likewise ^{at Brunswick} the Hereditary Prince, he is very far from handsome, but seems excellently well brought up, and has a very good Manner.

As I have to do myself the Honor of writing to Your Majesty soon again, I will not suppose longer upon

Your Majesty to give my 43947

Your Majesty's desire I shall therefore only entreat You be to your duty to the Queen, and say myself, be

Your Majesty's

most dutiful son and subject

Frederick

er than er to see Herbert
Madame
Dolphus erous a exceedingly is not as knows how Dyons fine now, and now with good humor.
Herbert
to had been lined Munich
the the but seems handed.
ing to or upon

16 May 1791

very poor

43948

Berlin May 24 1791

Dear Brother

Do not let the Couriers slip off without writing a few lines to You to tell You how much I was alarmed at the news of Your escape. Worcester Lake has now been informed that it is now over, and that You at present require nothing but care and rest. I will take this kind of notice and beg You for God's sake to take more care of Yourself.

Our reviews are all over at Potsdam and here they were wonderfully fine though there was not so many troops this year as usual as they the Huzars and 18 Battalions of foot are already marched towards the army in Prussia. Tomorrow is rather bright I go to Magdeburg to see the reviews there and shall then return here, and wait the event of Politics; My dear brother did not choose to see, I am sorry for it as I am

Since the world have been best, I am very impatient to hear some news of Newmarket, and how the first Spring Meeting went off. We have had last night the Duel to pay among the young English headed by those of the first Regiment, they got drunk and tried to beat the Guard, nothing could be done better or more nobly than the Professor did upon this ^{occasion}, but I was less found himself obliged to deny the few of them who were in the way to leave the country directly. Having nothing more in the Parliament to reform for of I shall not add here at present except my love to William and well friends take care of your health and believe me ever

The Duke of York
to
The Prince of Wales
May 24th 1791

Yours best affectionate
Frederick

Berlin June 4 1791

Sir

Though I know how much Your Majesty dislikes a general Compliment upon Your Birthday, yet I trust that You will not regard it that slight. My Congratulations upon this Day, that Heaven may shower down its choicest Blessings upon Your Majesty's Head, and that Your Majesty may enjoy every Health and Happiness for a long long Series of Years, are my constant and most ardent prayers.

I am returned about three days from the review at Magdeburg, which was wonderfully fine, I think there is no comparison between that inspection and the one here, the Troops are infinitely finer in point of dress and much more exact in their evolutions, The Duke of Brunswick's Regiment surpasses all the others, There was likewise at Magdeburg four Battalions of fusiliers, as they are called here, or rather of light Infantry, which are really wonderfully good, and remarkably well exercised, they are very small men, know perfectly the light Infantry exercise, and at the same time are as active and as well as any other Battalion, The Cavalry likewise at Magdeburg, are very good, and I think are very much improved in their Horses, This was the first year that the Duke of Weymar appeared as Inspector and he really seemed to have given himself a great deal of trouble. The Duke of Brunswick was not sufficiently recovered to be at the Camp, and therefore General Keibel was the senior officer commanding

43950

48880

[Faint, illegible cursive handwriting on a piece of lined paper pasted onto a larger sheet.]

166, 2nd 7
4 June 1791
Arch. 2.0

43951-2

Berlin June 24 1791

Dear Brother

It is now above ten weeks since I left England and I have writt three times to You, without receiving a single line from You which I really think a little extraordinary as You may easily imagine how anxious I must be to hear from You particularly as You have been ill, and as there are so many Subjects upon which You had promised to write to me.

We have still no absolute decision answerd from Russia about peace or war, but I am very much affraid from every thing that

I see and hear that we are watching the progress of it now in England which after the length we had gone so long, when we meet again which unless something very extraordinary happens, will certainly arrive in by September, I will lay the whole of this matter every thing before you and you shall then judge yourself of it. middle or

It is the most unlucky thing for me in the world that the war does not go on, for I never began to give up all hopes of it at least for this season, had order, as I never should have had so fine an opportunity in the course of learning my profession, as I should have served my present under the King of Prussia, who has shewed every degree of of attention and friendship towards me, assisted by the Duke of Brunswick, and General Mollendorf will always who are certainly the two greatest officers of this life count age, and with the finest army that ever entered last, then the field, Upon my Honor I can hardly think at what Business of it with patience

I shall ^{soon} wait for the business enclosed which is now my only hope left, and which I trust certainly arrive in two or three days, should that put an end to to better every thing, I shall then set out from Leves about the of it. Middle or latter end of next week and then to pass there then to visit at Byromston in order to receive my Hornet I see what thanks to the Messrs of last year is a very has been had order, and then go to Spa, and return to England Sunday in the course of the month of September then can I see my present projects, subject however to be changed. my degree I shall be in the way of our Ten Water, to the led by as the most central place from whence my letters ofendorf will always be forwarded to me. Our way of of this life continues just the same as when I wrote to you entered last, then an hour at least three times a week think of which I am obliged to dance continually, and as You know that I am not very fond of that amusement You will easily conceive that it is not very agreeable Adieu remember me to all friends

J. J. Having had no letters from your most affectionate from Warwick lately about Newcastle I do not (Frederick know whether he has won or lost but I suppose that he must have won something upon St. David. By the account that Ralph wrote me of Trevelyan's success I don't think he cannot have still a good chance for the Colliery over one Adam.

Mr Duke of York
to
The Prince of Wales
June 14. 1799

AA

43953 - 4

My dearest Frederick,

Perhaps it may appear extraordinary to you that I have not heard from me as yet, but the truth of the matter is this, I can not bear to write about trifles & always deferred writing upon subjects of consequence till I could find a safe conveyance, in short I have so much to say, & I hardly know where to begin. However as there is no time to be lost I will begin with Gastrow's commission wh. I think is more important than any thing else. He will deliver this to you & bring Papers with him for gr. Inspectors for you to sign wh. both William & myself have already signed, it is his authority to treat with the Landgrave for a sum of money, wh. Neither whom William & myself saw & conversed with at some length assures us of the Sandgreve's readiness to let us have upon terms wh. I think very reasonable, Jastrow's also carries with him a Letter from me to the Sandgreve wh. I shall send under a Flying Seal, in order that you may read it, & when you are satisfied with the contents you will be so good as to close it & let Jastrow go on in his mission; as far as I can understand the Sandgreve will let us have 100, or 150,000 directly, & perhaps more wh. is the sum I do not mention the precise sum in my Letter to him as we think it best to leave it open to extend the loan if we can. Besides this negotiation there is a person & a person well recommended who comes from Vienna & is acquainted with many money'd People in Germany whose sole business is to transact or negotiate a Loan for us with certain views of advancing naturally to themselves however I do not believe they exam the p agm we prom whe or ne if & if est abm tell does will you some com

has have Gostrow's
 the Land order that with the let
 I can make
 £
 150,000 in I would to him as tend the loan is a sum from him ple in want or view of adding believe they are unreasonable at first sight, Hammerley examined him & seems to think so, ~~the~~ this really is the state of the case we will not be ~~pleas'd~~ the fool again as we have been of late in all the negotiations we have had respecting money, of ~~the~~ & by our promise to go over himself with this man, & to see whether there really is, or not the smallest probability or not of effecting any thing advantageous to us, all if there sh^d. not, to put a conclusion to the transaction & if there sh^d. to push it for as to terminate it expeditiously. So far so good, I have said little about Gostrow to you as he will better be able to tell his own story respecting himself & what he does not explain the Papers he carries with him will, but there is another subject wh. will astonish you much when I mention it to you ~~as he was in~~ some measure tho' not directly, the occasion of my coming to the knowledge of it, I think it ought to dwell much upon it in order yt. You may thoroughly comprehend me. Well then, the Week in wh. My Mother's Birthday fell in in May I had occasion to go to the C^o. St. & a job with My Mother when our eldest Sister was alive, whom I jested much with in a good humoured way about herself in presence of my Father, soon afterwards I took my leave & went up stairs to sit with my other Sister when the eldest followed me & beg^d to speak two minutes in private with me to wh. I immediately assented, she then told me how much oblig^d to she sh^d. be if I ever w^d. joke with her again yt. smallest trifle in presence of her Mother, as I did not know how she jested for it afterwards how she was treated &c. &c. &c. I gave her my word I certainly w^d. do as she desired & had I should yt. former she never sh^d. have jested

43955 - 6

a single moment's uneasiness by my means or it was was the principal object of my life to do everything in my power to render every individual of my family as happy as possible, & far from wishing to make myself the means or cause of uneasiness & unhappiness to you. Thus the subject dropt for the moment, however going two days afterwards to dine with my little sister Miss G. & to see Mr. G. she had our youngest sister, who had expressed herself in the terms of the warmest gratitude towards me for the kind manner in wh. I had conversed with her, & Mr. G. she believ'd she means to seize the earliest opportunity of conversing with me still further, I said Mr. G. whenever she wish'd it I shd. feel myself bound both by every tie in the World to attend with pleasure to whatever she had to say, to give her the best advice

I sd. if it was necessary, & at all wants to keep most secretly her secrets had she any to entrust me with.
 Some days after this I saw her in my Mother's Room & she begg'd I wd. call upon her some morning wh. I did, & she then began by talking to me in the very strain I am going to relate to you wh. she told me she had in part mention'd to you & desired me to write the rest wh. She took this opportunity of saying. She said yt. the evident partiality yt. was shewn in every & in every thing by both her Parents, to all her other Sisters in preference to her, the manner in wh. she was treated on all occasions particularly by her Mother, the constant restraint she was kept under, just like an infant, the perpetual business & employ'd life she was oblig'd to lead, no attempts being made at getting her abroad, or of giving her a species of were than Mother's te not only Steve, m were su to me & w for nothing she had part, yt.

 part of the inquiry to argue nothing w out in con provided considered a species of establishment at home, but what was worse than all, the violence, & the caprice of her Mother's temper sh. hardly grows worse, to wh. she is not only oblig'd to submit, but to be absolutely a Slave, in part of all these circumstances combin'd were such, as had led her to speak her mind openly to me & to consult me, as she said she had done for proprating shd. make her undergo another Year that she had for some Years past, of her resentment, & that, if at home or abroad she wd. seek for some part of a Lett, as any thing was preferable to the misery she was a Slave to at present. I endeavor'd to argue with her, to temperize with her feelings, but nothing wd. do, she said she was very ready to act in any manner we might think best for her provided we wd. take her situation into our consideration & endeavoring to form some outlet an alliance for her abroad, or in case it did not prove to prove some sort of an establishment being found for her, but it if we had not both us of enter into these views cordially, & engaged to do the best we could for her, she gave her to understand she was determined to pursue her own plans of education & with great determination to follow the course of her parents, without listening to any of us. She then entered into an argument with me where the impropriety could be, supposing no arrangements could take place abroad for her, were an alliance to be thought of for her with our Friend the Duke of Bedford, & to tell you the truth my dear Frederick I think she seems more anxious for them for any foreign match in the world, she says she is grown to a time life of it will not admit of any scheme of this sort being proposed 43957-8

who tell you the truth I could hardly forbear laughing when she said this, I told her I thought of it I knew my father wh. I thought I did pretty well of. he never wd. think of giving his consent to any thing of the kind, however of. she must take a little patience of. I wd. in compliance with her wishes write to you a small note for ^{you} ~~her~~ what was best for her interests, & endeavor as far as in as long to allviate those distresses wh. seem to press so much upon her mind.
 Now for Justice, a day or two previous to this conversation, Justice told me of. he was writing to the R. of B. - & wd. be ready also to sign as wd. a Union be effected between our Sister & his Son provided they wd. not be averse to it, I made him no answer of. time to him, but in the course of this conversation between my sister & me the subject remain'd to my mind & I ask'd her if supposing such a thing w'd be effectu'd whether she sh'd have any objection to it, she instantly propos'd it & entreat'd of me to visit immediately the whole of your conversation to desire you to try whether you w'd not know such hints if not speak out directly, as might lead to some offer being made from themselves if this must be left entirely to yr. judgment & the wishes of. You will write as often as you as possible yr. ideas ^{to me} were before you take any steps towards this affair, when I mention'd so far my sister having no objection to such an union provided it w'd be effectu'd to Justice he must not be saying & said it was the greatest piece of good fortune from Heaven possible as it w'd be yr. success of relieving entirely

As the or m lines my p what
 I have as kno thing
 my p
 you under yr. m wh. m
 I ha ver day my m

As those from all our distresses. After I have said so much upon business I think I may add a few lines upon subjects of less consequence, as to myself I have been very seriously ill indeed what with the numberless causes of vegetation I have had, & last of all yr. departure, wh. I acknowledge made me suffer more than any thing else, & tho' I did every thing I possibly could, to restore myself at yr. time you set out, yet when you were gone I could not ~~hold~~ hold of any longer, but was under feelings wh. are not easy to be described, & yr. hurried me on into yr. violent complaint wh. has more or less hung upon me for some time I have been bled five times & not tasted sleep ever since you went till within this two or three days, & tho' I am nearly well at present still my nerves feel but in a shattered state. As to you my dearest Frederick, I am excessively obliged to you for your two very kind letters I have received from you, I own I never thought much of it. There wd. be War of still continue of y^r. way of thinking, & can only say y^t. I shall most cordially rejoice when you return home. As to our studies you will see how unluckily we have been, there has been some damned shameful transactions going forward there, my present intention is to dismiss Deale, perhaps Price, & to retain Charles Hindley as our Tutor, who is unacquainted from riding any more owing to a Fistula he has had, I mean to sell a great many of our Books, & return a complete way of Ariel Stoves besides the y^r. ones wh. we have also at present, I shall also sell between twenty & thirty good horses & put keep enough for present exigencies, & the revenue

43959 - 60 the best of what I have in order to open the papers to remove my training stables from Newmarket to the Winchester Downs, as Agreement has done in Sussex, for every trial has been shown this year in every stable except Agreement's as he only tries his stables in Sussex, & merely sends 9 or 10 to Newmarket to run, wh. is the Plan I mean to propose, as the Blacklegs have it in their power by means of money & watching to know the state of all the stables at Newmarket, wh. has been the case in every instance that these late meetings so much sopt. several Gentlemen have threatened to leave the Fair entirely, or at Winchester I am certain if they do get into our secrets it will be with more diffy & trouble than upon the spot itself wh. is feared 170 miles distant speak. I will not prefer you any longer after having written thirteen odd leaf paper to you, except just to say so. In view of your self see the necessity of observing the strictness necessary respecting our sister as she wd. suffer immensely in it. Would some her ideas to get hold before some plan is adopted for her, pray write yr. ideas fully to me so you know they are safe in my hands & judge whether I wd. not attend more than I have done. God bless you my ever dearest Frederick, believe me tho' wife

Brighton
 June 18th 1759.
 Your most affectionate Mother

P.S. I was obliged to make Justice tell & I cannot believe to go over & at the same time to return, wh. was yr. You had left him some business to transact, for wh. he must go over to Germany before he wd. conclude here wh. got him his leave. I have put this in your hand

It is there is with it one is
 St. Sep review him You be the w of J me
 I writ in the wa or the but but of left you side of

 side of suffer as to get her, pray they me
 ed. cut
 In my the life But then to believe left him some to be id.
 it was hard

It since we last news from Lunnwallis & Abercromby there is fresh bad news arriv'd from India, wh. comes with it ye. must peruse expect. but what it is so we as yet distinctly know. Pray thank Jack St. Leger for his two kind Letters one of wh. I received this morning & tell him I will answer him in a Post or two, before ye return will ye be so good as to make I will send me over the compleat uniforms accoutrements ^{saddle & bridle} &c. of one of Zutter's Company that were, as well as one of the Officers compleat uniforms, clothing sword, cap, saddle & bridle & harness parts in short every thing compleat, as well as of an Officer & private of the Carapians or the Guards, as they were. & as they have me, pray forgive my giving ye so much trouble but ye know I have long intended to have them

18 June
1791 in one day another they may give us some little ideas for our own books. Mr. You also meet with any fine blades, Anson, Turkish ^{or any} or old blades, may come you for me, & if you do meet with such a thing as a good fine blade as Gray's Propagium or for list of good size & price I beg you will buy him for me. You will think I suppose you will ^{be} thinking but I do not know any one who can execute you as well as yourself. By the by pray tell Mr. Ligon I have not as yet received his book of Mountains, & if I beg he will enquire about it. One thing more before I conclude at I am certain will give you pleasure & it is that Dr. M. & I are as good friends if not better than we have been in our lives, & all personal friends about the same we at our end, & we have spoken hands are come to perfect and ^{ending} & I believe we never shall have another dispute more again I must be then affectionately yours

Berlin July 5 1891

Sir

The Personal Affection which Your Majesty has shown upon every occasion towards me, emboldens me to take up my pen, in order to lay open my whole heart to Your Majesty, and to entreat Your approbation, and leave to take a step, upon which my whole future happiness depends.

It is about three years ago, that Your Majesty did me the honor to express to me Your wish, that one of Your sons should marry; from that moment, this idea has never been out of my thoughts, and I only waited for an opportunity of coming abroad in order to be able to make a choice, which might be worthy of Your Majesty's approbation. The only delicacy which I felt upon this subject, was, from not being informed of the sentiments of my Elder Brother, the Prince of Wales, but having taken an opportunity of speaking to him very openly, he declared to me repeatedly the disinclination at present to matrimony and the wish that I should marry, I had therefore intended to have asked Your Majesty's leave to have come to Germany this Autumn, had nothing extraordinary happened. The Appearance of an immediate War. which hurried me away from England made me for a time lose sight of my objects but the instant the probability subsided I began to consider again of my first plan.

I think it my duty to confess to Your Majesty that from the first time that I saw the King of Prussia's Elders Daughter the Princess Hedevig she was to me wholly indifferent to me, and though I did not think it right at that moment to encourage any hope concerning her not being acquainted with Your Majesty's sentiments, yet the very instant I knew that she was always my object. Having had an opportunity during my stay here to see her and to enquire every particulars after her, I am perfectly convinced, that her person perfectly as my to marry Father, upon it.

a hurry and mat
Your
Your Wellfare and a myself,

43962

Her person and Disposition are such as to make me perfectly happy, Allow me therefore, Sir, to entreat You, as my Father and my King to grant me Your consent to marry her, and to obtain her for me of the King her Father, Indeed, Sir, all my future Comfort depends upon it. This resolution of mine is not one taken in a hurry or from paper alone but after thorough and mature Consideration.

Having thus laid open my whole Heart to Your Majesty, I will not happen longer upon Your leisure, but with every wish for Your Majesty's Wellfare and prosperity, and a prayer for a propitious and a speedy answer, I shall conclude with signing myself, Sir

Your Majesty's

Most dutiful Son
and Subject

Frederick

[Faint, mirrored handwriting, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The text is illegible due to fading and mirroring.]

5 July 1791

43963-4

Dearest Brother

I must beg your letter by acquainting you that Lashow arrived here on Sunday and delivered to me your ^{very} kind and affectionate letter which gave me greater pleasure and satisfaction than I can properly express, and to which you shall receive a full answer, but I must first beg by writing to you upon another subject, which is of much more consequence to me individually, and upon which my whole future happiness depends, you will remember my Dearest Brother the conversation which you and I had before I left England about my marrying, in which you expressed strongly your wish that I should, I will now confess to you that ten years ago I was very sincerely attached to the Princess Endorgue the King of Cyprus's eldest daughter and that I should then have declared it if I had been informed of the Majesty's sentiments and of yours upon

^{the} ^{of my messenger} ~~that~~ subject, ~~and that~~ when I returned to England four years ago, I then intended to have asked your consent the different business through which he ^{having that time been} had been prepared, when continually hindered he from doing it, and ^{therefore} resolved to take the first opportunity to come abroad in order to see the said of I still remained in the same mind, toward her, and found that I was not disagreeable to her, to apply for leave to marry her, the idea of a bar hurried her first away from England, and had it gone as I should certainly have delayed still longer taking any resolution upon this subject, but as soon as I knew how I returned to my first object, and I must confess that having had an opportunity since I have been here of seeing the Princess very often, I am grown more attached to her than I can possibly describe, I have made every enquiry about her, and then is but one opinion about her and I am perfectly convinced, that her disposition and character ~~and~~ ~~that~~ to England seems to really deal too had ever King to actual take my acqui depends

 You but when the say that but the

4A

43964

to England
Your consent that kind has helped, when business resolved to order to and, toward this to has turned I should of resolution I returned having had having the to the my enquiry them and tion and

Character as such as will make me perfectly happy ~~and I have been~~ of ~~the~~ ~~the~~, I had at first intended to have returned to England and have applied myself to the King for this leave to ~~make~~ my proposals to the Council, but I sully ~~too~~ a great deal too much in love, and a great deal too anxious to be able to wait so long, I therefore had one my servant George write a letter to the King to ask the Council, as I suppose that the whole actually speaks to You upon the subject for God's sake. My dearest Mother persuaded them to grant my request, indeed the whole happiness of my life depends upon it. I know Your affection and that You You will do every thing in Your power for me when You hear how much I have at stake. I do not say that he is the handsomest Youth that ever was formed but he is full enough to give me, and in disposition he is being one of the reasons

My dear Sir, I have been so much ^{being one of the reasons} informed by your ~~letter~~ about this matter that I am obliged, I am well I surely see that the risk of infirmity, too great consequence both to the good and to the bad. Your affairs will be sufficiently tried with this letter by the time you have read this far, and indeed my head is too full to think upon any other subjects. I shall therefore delay answering your letter till the first opportunity, I need not tell you that I shall not have a moment to hear till I receive the Majesty's answer and that if she refuses my request I am desirous to obey I need not repeat the request itself. You will assist me if you can, I am too well acquainted with your affection towards me, God bless you and bless the most Dear Sir Brother

Berlin July 9
1791

Yours most affectionately Frederick
1791.
The Duke of York

43965-6

Potsdam July 10 1791

Dearest Brother

As My mind was so full of the subject upon which I wrote to You by my Servant, last week that I was not able to answer any part of the letter I received from You by Easton. I take the opportunity of a Courier setting off from Berlin for England tomorrow to give You my full sentiments upon it,

And first with regard to the project of getting money from the Landgrave, having talked it fully over with Easton, I think that it is very feasible and I have therefore signed and sealed, and despatched him away directly to Capel, from whence I hope in a few days that he will conclude his negotiations, for it is absolutely necessary to get some money directly otherwise by every thing which I hear from England here is a pretty large

AA

43966

I have received two or three very pleasing letters both from Adam & Constance with different projects for the arrangement of all our affairs at once, but should His Majesty ^{approve of} ~~approve of~~ my intention of marrying, it will actually make a total alteration in my situation, I did not think it was worth while giving them an answer, till every thing is settled.

Secondly concerning your question about my sister, I will tell you fairly that though no body judges I have her situation more than I do, as wishes to be the married some, knowing what a dreadful life she must lead, yet I can not think that she can expect to marry the Royal son, because he is now five and twenty and she is only one and twenty, Besides though I know that it is his great plan to marry one of our sisters, yet I believe he looks forwards to Mary, who certainly in every respect is more suited to him in age.

to be every one my opinion that she
 You will best de will be
 I have
 of view her expe that cer she all Cultivat
 I can an con attachm

43966 both the

 D. this
 A. will then, I as answer, about, lady just named at lead, my thiborne and the know that ten, yet certainly age.

tell the Prince^{the} Royal however from me that I will make every enquiry, and when I return to England will give her my opinion very fully how to proceed, and that I only beg that she will have patience till then.

Having answered your two great questions You will allow me now to mention the subject which is most dear to me, You can have no idea of the impatience with which I wait for the Kings answer to the application I have made to him to marry, I think that in every point of view it is a project he ought to approve of, as he has expressed his wish that one of us should marry, and that certainly in a political light, it must therefore be allowed to be most justly anxious to be cultivated, I am not at all ashamed to confess that I am most sincerely attached to the girl, and I really am convinced that she is fond of me, I have new attachments for I have liked her for these ten years

As for her character I have given myself a great deal of trouble to enquire of different persons concerning her, and then what opinion about her, she has had the most difficult words to play on account of the situation of the different Courts her, and I am convinced from what I have seen of the people her and of their free way of talking of every body, that if any thing could have been said against her, I should have heard it.
In short I am thoroughly persuaded that I shall be perfectly happy with her and that I never can be happy without her I saw her yesterday upon a party with the King and his two Daughters and a great deal of a company from West We were all lodged together at the new palace of St James which so certainly, the present palace I never saw.

I have not time to add I am very busied to dinner, when I shall hear from you as soon as possible Pray Heaven it may be to acquaint you with my having received a gracious answer to my request remember me to all friends and believe me ever Yours most affectionately Frederick

43967

P.S. I forgot to say I liked to mention the subject of the Race Horses, I am highly of your opinion that it will be infinitely best to get rid of almost all the Bad ones, and of as many of the Good ones and Colts as are not capital, which will have a very good effect in the Bullwhip, without at the same time in the least diminishing the amusement. As for training away from Newmarket, I am convinced it is the best way, but I do not think that Hampshire is a good country for it I should recommend very strongly taking your time about it and not putting upon any spot, till you have had time examine thoroughly different places, as it is very expensive afterwards to make a second change. I think likewise that it is a very serious thing discharging Hacks, and requires a great deal of consideration, should you find it absolutely necessary, I should think Charles Bentley by far the best man to take. One more Observation

1791

The Duke of York

to

The Prince of Wales

July 10. 1791

43968-9

1.

My Dearest Frederick,

I sit down to take the pleasantest of all tasks upon me, which is that of communicating good news, especially to those we love.

I was more happy than I can express at the communication which your letter contain'd, as well as the terms and manner in which you made me acquainted with your wishes and intentions. whether I have used my best endeavours feeble as they are to second the

AA

43969

Hears
of of others we used which
of
I wholly at suspect to tell you of any off on you or consequently a plain one besides myself can know, unless it is from the account they may have received from either one or other of us three.

I received your Letter on Sunday evening last about two in the morning as I returned from Windsor where I had been spending the Day with the King & Queen. George arrived about eleven at Night but would not proceed on to Windsor as he understood I was expected in London. Immediately on the Receipt of your Letter I determined to go the ensuing Day to see the King & Queen at Windsor and to communicate the contents of your Dispatches, tho' engaged to a large Party at Memphis when I left to shift for themselves till I had transacted your Affairs with as little Delay as possible. I first sent for Budi and ask'd him if he had received any Letters for the King & Queen from you and if he knew the contents of them. He told me that he had and that he well knew that I was also acquainted with them. We then thought it best for him to go a few hours before me in order that the King's mind might be prepared upon the subject previous to my going to discuss it with him. I arrived between three & four o'clock and put your letter into the King's hands, His Majesty at the same time putting your letter to him into mine.

He then was pleased to express himself as astonished that you should press so very strongly for an immediate answer saying that you always thought that a thing could no sooner be thought of than put into execution. He said also - that before he had received your letter He had received a Dispatch from Lord Guernville containing a letter from Ewart, mentioning the state of your Heart & mind and that it had been supposed to be the state of the case for these six years last past - that this had been the very first word he had ever heard on the subject, and that he had written Lord Guernville word so. He then ask'd me if I had ever understood anything upon

the
you had to ha
that was it to in th flatter very to lei inter
the
to 17

AA

43971

-that letter from
letter
that
that
the six
had had
and Gambetta
if I upon the subject of your marrying from you directly and hoped that you had mentioned it to me previous to having taken any resolution on that head, and even before you ever thought of having communicated it to him in the most distant way in this His Majesty's consideration flattered me I cannot help confessing very much. I then requested of him to listen patiently to me without interruption as I wish'd much in the presence of the Queen & them to express my sentiments fully and 1798 without reserve on the occasion in order to prevent every species of misunderstanding which might possibly arise if I did not take that opportunity of humbly laying my poor Sentiments fully & unequivocally before them

I then began with stating to their Majesties or rather recalling to their recollection the manner in which we had been educated, and brought up together - that we had never known but one wish, one mind & one affection from the moment of our birth towards each other to The present period - that consequently at this moment, which I considered perfectly in the light in which you stated it, as the moment in which you felt you had every thing at stake, and in which every thing that was nearest your heart was entirely wrapped up, it was a Duty which I felt incumbent upon me, possessing still in the fullest force the sentiments which I have mentioned in the upper Part of this Page, to strain every Nerve to promote the Happiness of your future Days by accomplishing the only object which could in my opinion, grounded on your own letter, trace the subsequent years of your life with scenes of undisturbed felicity & Quiet. That I look'd upon this as the most essential Crisis of your life that it was only at moments like these that a man could know whom he had to depend upon, and that being call'd upon by you both as a Brother & a Friend I felt myself doubly bound to stand forth and to

AA

43973 forward at any rate that which alone could with His Majesty's consent form the happiness of your Life. — On His Refusal the very Person must be the infallible consequence. I then assured the King that you had taken no step in this business without having so far communicated your wishes to me that on the subject of matrimony, and both as having been acquainted with my own opinions, so that you were perfectly and to authorized at any time to take the step you had with regard to the Princess in consequence of the communications I told him we had had previous to your departure and that altho' I could not swear to your having absolutely told me you were determined upon marrying the Princess Frederigna or any other woman before your return from Berlin yet that I had entertained the strongest ideas that such was your intention and that in all probability it would be so. — Then to reduce into the shortest compass the conversations we had had together I would use as few words as I possibly could. That on your asking me my opinion relative to marrying myself, or as to my objecting to or approving of your marrying should you have any such intention I had answer'd as nearly as I can recollect in the presence of William that as to marrying myself I had no such immediate intention or inclination, that I had wish'd some years ago to have you abroad in order to have seen whether I could have met with a woman who would have been likely to have suited me - that his Majesty having objected to it, my views and intentions on that score instantly stopp'd. That I was come to a time of life when I thought I might be allow'd to have tolerably well weigh'd my own Sentiments and Prospects, that it was not everyone who could expect to be as lucky as his Majesty had been to meet with a Person whose

Dispo
his
me
the reign us of a
and I did to d
very
the consid

43975

Disposition suited so perfectly with his own as the Queen's died if we might presume to judge by the unanimity that appear'd to reign between them. - That as to us Princes particularly the choice of a wife was indeed a Lottery, and one infrom the wheel of which I did not at least at present intend to draw a Ticket. There were very few Princes compos'd to the number of Blanks. That I consider'd your situation as quite different - it was neither interest nor family views that had guided your choice - inclination & Attachment had been the only motives which had led you to fix upon the Princess Frederica - that I accorded so perfectly to your way of thinking on that score, and my sentiments were so entirely the same that I believed I never should marry unless at the moment I did I thought I preferred the woman I was going to marry to every creature existing in the world, and knew enough of the Disposition of my Wife to think it would form the happiness and not the misery of my future Days.

- That I had likewise said to you when I gave you my assent, Dear Brother to your marrying, supposing you thought it would be conducive to your happiness that I did not at all mean to bind myself not to marry at any future Period, but that I thought it most likely I should not as the sentiments I had express'd were Prejudices I could not get the better of, at the same time it was possible that sooner or later I might think of marrying, but at present to speak of myself (without considering their Majesty) if you should marry a woman whom I approved of, & whose conduct towards me was such as I liked I felt pleas'd with, and that you had Children, whom as your Children I naturally must feel attach'd to, the inducement then would certainly be

 I did
 bein
 to be so g app
 and
 me
 of w
 his
 He
 to rece
 I too

AA

43977 be left to me to marry, tho' I repeated I did not chuse by any means to bind myself that I should never take such a step. The thing was so good as to assure me that he approved much of my sentiments, and added that soon had you wish'd me to give you such an assurance, of which I took the liberty of assuring His Majesty you were quite incapable, He himself would have advised me to have said precisely what you recollect me to have said, and what I took the liberty of stating to bein.

I then presumed to urge to the King that as these were my Sentiments the absolute necessity of one of us marrying and that as inclination led you to it and you had found a Person so perfectly calculated to make you happy I considered it it as the most fortunate event possible - for were had His Majesty been to point out the Person he could have wish'd one or other of us to marry he would not have selected one more proper or one more accomplish'd or better calculated by by Birth situation & education for our alliance than the Princess your Heart had led you to fix on.

- That therefore I only wish'd His Majesty would be graciously pleas'd to listen to my entreaties in addition to yours and then I flatter'd myself that being acquainted with my sentiments & ideas and ^{understanding} ~~understanding~~ to approve of ^{them} yours, I hop'd his sanction & consent would be given as decidedly & unequivocally as I freely acknowledged mine was.

That all I could add on the subject was that I only hoped the thing would be so good as to point out in what way I should act what I should say, or how conduct myself to forward your views in every respect, and that I could assure him that I was selfish in so saying, for promoting your happiness was the surest way, my Dearest Frederick of promoting my own, and that I could also assure his Majesty that if in any idea of settlement for which he must apply to

Pow
 from
 that a ble appl to m a h mov
 his nor such
 the
 which of o

Parliament He was to be deterr'd from that measure by thinking that some Friends of mine thro' a blind zeal might wish on an application being made for you to make use of the opportunity as a handle for endeavouring to increase my income, I could assure His Majesty that neither directly nor indirectly would I countenance such a Proceeding, nor give him the least trouble on an occasion which must give every individual of our Family the truest Pleasure.

Being the last man on earth who at any Period of his life had been or ever would be guided by a personal or self-interested views.

Thus my Dear Brother have I related in as short a compass as I could what has pass'd with my Father & Mother. Since which He has been kind enough to crown your wishes with consent, tho' to be attended with some little Delay - which tho' not very accordant with your Temper & Disposition at any time will I fear be still left so at the present moment. However it must be submitted to, tho' there are ways & means which I have been turning over in my mind to obviate perhaps this little temporary mortification if pursued with Propriety & caution. But I will say no more at present, as you must be tired with my ravel, except to express once more How truly I rejoice in the Prospects of Happiness which are now open to you, praying that you may long live to enjoy them, and hoping that you will believe me thro' Life

Your ever affectionate Brother

George P.

~~Castle~~ House
July 24th
1891.

AA

may hoping tho' timate

?

The Prince of Wales

to

The Duke of York

July 24th 1791.

Reservative of what passed at an interview with the King & Queen previous to the Marriage of the Duke of York.

AA

43983-4

1991
The Prince of Wales

My dearest Brother,

I have received yr. kind letter by the last messenger, concerning wh. I shall say something presently, but first of all, Jeffrey in spite of all our caution not to say anything concerning the King's desire respecting yr. marriage came to me & told me yr. he was going to Baylles a spur thence to Berlin & said yr. he hoped I shd. not think yr. he was impertinent for yr. nothing wd. be further from his intention, if he related to me what his plans were in going abroad, in the first place yr. he always took a tour abroad every summer, yr. he meant at first merely to have gone to Bregelle, but yr. having heard a Report she believ'd a pretty well grounded one yr. You were a going to be married, he intended on every account to push on to Berlin, yr. I was well acquainted with his devotion & attachment both to You & me, & yr. he only hop'd if such a thing was true You wd. recollect the fidelity with wh. he had & ever yr. endeavour'd to execute our commands, & consequently yr. if any thing was to be made either in Jewells or in any thing else yr. he might have the honor of being employ'd, I answer'd him generally, but wd. not refuse him a Letter to yr. ^{from me} ~~from me~~ he is really to be trust'd, upon his promising to deliver my Letter into yr. own hands I have writt'n this on purpose for him to deliver ^{to} yr.

With
 to re affa all them lett min tot
 they
 You
 rec con am
 be
 int

With respect to our affairs I am extremely anxious to hear either from Jastrum or from You, our affairs present that, yet I can not help for all our Jakes business You a little, pray do You think of it. You then Beau Pleu id. not do a little some thing in the same way, speak of mind fairly & openly, for this You must be taken up in general with many pleasant thoughts & ideas, still my dearest Frederick You must for all our Jakes strain every nerve whilst You are abroad to ~~co-operations~~ ^{at the same time of. I am asking at home for You,} conjuncture with Yourself, for the position of affairs unless something is done, will be too serious to be faced the coming Winter. Forgive my intruding upon You, but I can not help it, I hope You will not love, fight of this as it is of too much consequence to be neglected, & yet You will spare Yourself an able Negotiator. There is no news going except yet. My Birth Day is to be kept at Windsor, by wh. I think You will easily guess yet. The whole Family are better together than they have been for some time, wh. I think will give You Pleasure to hear & therefore I mention it. As to every thing else I can say but little as we are literally quite at a standstill, there being such a dearth of every thing yet. is like news yet. The whole of the Company at this place are enquiring but in vain of each other for Topics yet. bear any resemblance to novelty. God bless You my dearest Brother, yet. You may enjoy very pleasure & happiness this World contains is the sincere Prayer, of your affectionate Brighton July 29th 1751. my love to Jack. George B

Duke of York

July 31. 1791

43985

Berlin July 31 1791

Sir

My Heart is so full of joy at the gracious approbation, which Your Majesty has been pleased to send me, through Lord Grenville, to my ardent request to marry the Princess Frederique, that I take the earliest opportunity to return Your Majesty my most humble thanks, and to assure You, Sir, that it shall ever be my first care to act in such a manner, as to deserve the proofs of paternal affection which Your Majesty has ever been pleased to give me. It is impossible for me to find words strong enough to express the joy which I felt on receiving the account, or the very kind and gracious manner with which His Prussian Majesty has expressed the pleasure and satisfaction, which Your Majesty's approbation gave him.

I shall not trouble Your Majesty at present with a longer letter, I shall therefore only entreat the des, agree and again to receive my most humble and most hearty thanks for Your good resp towards me, and beg myself

Am

Your Majesty's

most dutiful son
and subject

Frederick

The Duke of York

AA

to

The Prince of Wales

July 31. 1791.

43986

Berlin July 31 1791

Dear Brother

Since we have no acquaintance You that I received by a messenger the night before last a letter from Lord Grenville, with the King's thorough consent to my marriage with the Princess Frederica.
I can not express to You the joy that I feel. But with the word of the King and brotherly favour wish what You believed upon the occasion, which gave me the greatest pleasure, and for which I believe You have thought. Leston is returned here and has fully succeeded in his commission. I will shortly send them off for England tomorrow or at the latest next day, God bless You I have not time to add more,

Yours ever best affectionately
Frederick

Handwritten text on a piece of paper pasted onto a larger sheet. The text is written in cursive and is mostly illegible due to fading and the angle of the paper. Some words are difficult to decipher but appear to include "Dear Mother" at the top right, "I am very well" in the middle, and "I love you" at the bottom. The paper is aged and shows some creases and discoloration.

AA

43989 90

Berlin August 5 1791

The Duke of York
to
The Prince of Brunswick

Aug 5
1791

Dear Brother

I must needs to express to you the pleasure I had read and affectionately letter gave me in my joy at finding the whole family consent to accompanying to my proposed to marry, being always thoroughly acquainted with your affection for me, your conduct did not surprise me but certainly nothing could be more noble, more frank, and more like yourself, I will believe me, I must, when I say, that I did not want this to increase my affection for you, but that if possible it has done so. The conduct likewise of both their Majesties has been wonderfully gracious, and their letters beyond measure friendly. The only thing which vexes me is that the period of the wedding is put off till after the meeting of Parliament which is as age, and to a person never heard or seen or heard, that this I am not in the least ashamed to confess that I am, that truly said, I should not however have known or that way to persuade Her Majesty to allow the promise to be done if the King of Prussia, when I delivered to from the King's letter, had not himself expressed a wish that the marriage should be done. I then said that by His Majesty's letter the reason that Mr. Knolly the the great delay to till that period was that no settlement could be made till Parliament met, upon which the King of Prussia answered me that the demand touching to declared what establishment and what dowry He meant to propose to Parliament that He should be satisfied and should be very glad that the marriage should be as soon as possible. He has therefore been to give us to touch upon this or His answer to the King and has ordered his Ministry to mention the same to Mr. will as the Princess writes to You and He shall formally by House,

0808N

43990

I am, this that every day I am been attacked, and am often surprised that I never could enjoy any happiness without her.
 She is really the best girl that ever was formed. I am very sorry William has talked such nonsense, You know very well that I never should have trusted this affair said that in her hands, and that our affection has ever been united from our earliest youth. The only reason that I wrote to her about my names was that I thought she might have been out of town, and that I wanted them they would come over soon. I have wrote to Wrenwick to send ^{to} ~~her~~ the present over as soon as he can, and two coaches in order to bring my new Dubarry and Harry with me, and have dinner here, to apply to you, to choose a new town coach for me.
 With regard to the Diamonds, I wish you would inquire whether I can see them on any order or not, and if not will you be so good as to order them for me, for the stone, since certainly is a great deal too small, and I

King of Prussia to Duke of York

43991

Monsieur

Ma satisfaction est bien grande de voir le bonheur d'une fille que j'ai toujours tendrement aimée, épousée, par le choix de Votre Altesse Royale, l'assentement de Sa Majesté Prussienne lequel se conforme à nos desirs. Il est bien d'une bonne heure & de voir les desirs de l'amitié sincère que je porte à Votre Altesse Royale encore répétés par les desirs de Son Roy, est avec ces sentiments que je recevrai de vous

Monsieur

De Votre Altesse Royale etc

FG

[Faint, illegible cursive handwriting on aged paper]

[Small handwritten mark or signature]

[Vertical handwritten text on the right edge]

Windsor - 12. Aug
1791

AA

The Pr: of Wales

43992

My dearest Frederick,

I have only time before the beginning of our Ball to write these few lines to acknowledge the receipt of yr. very very kind letter wh. gave me the purest & most heartfelt satisfaction, believe me my dearest Brother yr. the being in any way unnecessary to yr. happiness will ever upon reflection afford the truest sensations of happiness to my mind. But alas as I have but few minutes to scribble, yr. commissions shall all be faithfully, carefully, & punctually executed.
I have already commenced a negotiation for a House for yr. wh. is with the Pr of Cumberland, & wh. I have commission'd Mr. Steiner to conclude if he can, & who will deliver this letter to yr. with my sincere hopes of his Embassy being to yr. satisfaction & meeting yr. approbation. Pray let me hear tell soon of this

The Duke of York
to
The Prince of Wales,

AA

Aug. 13. 1791.

43993

13 Aug 1791

Dearest Brother

As You have been so good as to say that You would execute any commissions I might have, I should be infinitely obliged to You if You would look out directly for a Person who can dress Ladies Last well, and can ~~act~~ as groom of the Chamber, as the Princess is very much in want of such a Person, as that our servant does not choose to accompany Her, as soon as You have got one I wish You would send Her over here, as it will be very troublesome for Her to leave this place without Her. I wish likewise that You would send me over some blue and some red Ladies Cloaths as there is no such thing to be gotten ^{to make a dress} for Her to travel in. I do not remember whether I mentioned in my last letter that I had got three blades for You, which You shall receive the moment I get to England, the rest of Your commissions I will take care to execute. I take this opportunity to wish You most sincerely joy ^{and many happy returns} of Your Birthday which I had kept ^{here} yesterday, and a great Ball given by Dawks, I hope You are as thoroughly convinced of my Love and affection, not to ^{desires} to ~~congratulate~~ of his success and best wishes for your well fare and prosperity and that you may see many and happy returns of that day, The Prince has desired me to say every thing for that to you likewise upon this occasion. I must anxiously wait the Kings answer to the last letter which I look to them very joy then to allow the money to be sent that the affairs proposed, it will be very hard if he does not consent. I shall snap the post if I add now ^{it} and present, I then for only beg to be remembered to all friends, Believe me ever

Dear & Beloved

Berlin August 13
1791

Yours most affectionately Frederick

AA

43994 -5

Boyle - 28 Aug. 91
The Princess of Wales

Ten thousand thanks my dearest Friend, for yr. last two kind & short Letters, yr. commands will be faithfully & I trust carefully executed.
 In the first place yr. Carriages I believe are ready, in the second place I have seen Taylor & given him particular directions about the horses wh. he tells me he is very apprehensive will not fit well till he has seen the Coach & measured her himself.
 I hope they are finished & that they will be able to go by this same conveyance, I also think I have found a man, a steady good man who is a lapetote Ladies Hair Dresser, & will suit well as a Groom of the Chambers, the minute I am satisfied about him

I will dispatch him over. As to the Pass I send over the two print I ed. Lay my Hands upon at this time of the Jew, wh. I beg you will present in my name to the Princeps, together with an answer to the Letter she was so good as to write me, if you think it a proper one. With regard to a House, I have spoken to Gauthier myself who put out the best Day to see the Sp. of Cumberland, as I may expect an answer. And Melmsbury or Anthony St. Leger ^{comes with him} who brings over the Commission to you wh. you entrusted to my vigilance to execute, & will put this Letter into your hands, I have authorized And Melmsbury my dearest Frederick to speak to you in a very confidential manner, & on subjects wh. it wd. be highly imprudent to commit to Casper besides wh. it wd. be difficult to disguise what I wd. wish to say respecting you. within the Company

Letter
 any fall
 them
 read, consider it was conveyed effects involve if any took Freder
 you,
 Bright
 August 1751.
 St. J.
 Freder

Letter of any size or magnitude. I presume my saying any thing more at present, as I have had a very bad fall with my Horse a few days ago, by wh. I was thrown a considerable distance from him on my head, my Hat cut through, & my Head having a considerable wound the the fullest ^{in the least} danger, however it was a monstrous shock, & tho' no dangerous consequences are in ^{the most degree} the least apprehended, tho' the effects of it are not pleasant, wh. need in it inconvenient, & rather unpleasant to me to write, if any thing can be considered ^{by me} as an unpleasant task wh. concerns You. Adieu my dearest Frederick, pray every happiness in life attend You, in the truest Prayer,

Brighton. P.
 August. 23.

of your ever affectionate

George R.

P.S. I forgot to return You my thanks my dearest Frederick, for yr. kind wishes on my Birthday, believe me you wd. not feel or think more cordially about mine, than I did about you. We kept Mr. Bostons William's here in a grand style, a great dinner Ball & supper &c. Before I could see ~~Stanhope~~ had desired me to say you he hopes as he is so personally attached to us both, you will have the good sense to present ^{him} in you particular respects to the Prince, & name him as much as a particular friend of you, & advise when you do present him better. I have had so many incessant applications respecting you & the Prince's Annuity whenever it is to be funded, you you can form no idea of you. To myself, however I will not plague you with them at present except merely you poor Kennedy hopes you will not forget him whenever the time shall come.

23 Aug
1791

One more adieu. Yours affectionately J. G. B.

43996

Berlin August 29 1791

Dearest Brother

I take the earliest opportunity to acknowledge the receipt of your kind letter by Meyney who arrived here yesterday, and to write to you a few lines about the House. You are so good as to try to get for me the Cumberland House I am not so very anxious to get it, because though there is certainly a possibility of enlarging it considerably if necessary, yet in its present state it is but very little, if at all, bigger than my own House, and besides by no means so well laid out, for in my House there are six rooms together to see company in, but in Cumberland House there are only three, besides Cumberland House wants new furnishing and thoroughly repairing before it would be possible to inhabit it, and likewise has no Stabling or Coach Houses belonging to it, which my present House with a very trifling expence ^{might} have. All these things considered I confess I am not very desirous of exchanging Houses particularly if I am to give any considerable sum of money besides, You know I always have longed for Melbourne House, which from its size is the

Capabilities of improving it, would be infinitely preferable for me, and I should be infinitely obliged to you if you would try if possible to persuade Lord Melbourne to part with it, (Not being however perfectly acquainted with the views of these two Houses, I have only mentioned what strikes me at the moment), and leave it totally to you to decide, I am waiting impatiently for the Kings answer to determine when I am to marry, Pray Heaven that he may consent to its being immediately, for every reason I wish it first of all because I think I should find it hard to wait, but beside an account of my own private affairs, which I left when I came away perfectly unarranged expecting to be back in the Autumn and which it is totally impossible to settle ^{them} without my being ^{present} when I am thoroughly resolved that not be till after I am married.
Adieu Dear Brother I shall not come to see you before I return

The Duke of York

to

The Prince of Wales

Aug. 29. 1796

Your Obedient Son

Frederick