

Scpt to the Ld. Chancellor
St James's March 15. 1782
on 46 p. 3. Pk

4513

My Lord I flatter myself your little ^{excursion} ~~excursion~~ into the Country for the two last nights has been of advantage to your health; I trust now you come back you will continue trying whether it is not possible either to widen the present bottom, or form a new Administration on an extensive plan;
the changing from one Party to another can answer no real good, besides I must then give up my principles and my honor which I value above my Crown; I hope to see you on Wednesday and to hear what steps you have taken.

St. James's

March 15. 1782.

on
46 p. 3. Pk.

[Faint, illegible handwriting on lined paper, possibly bleed-through from the reverse side. The text is mostly obscured by the paper's texture and fading.]