Lord North After having yesterday in the most voluminous manner assured you that my sentiments of honour will not permit me to vend for any of the Leaders of Opposition and personally treat with them; I could not but be hurt at your letter of last night. Every Man must be the sole Judge of his feelings, therefore whatever you or any Man can say on that Subject has no avail with Me.

If I have heard what the Chancellor has done from his own mouth, I shall not take any step, and if you resign before I have decided what I will do, you will certainly forever forfeit my regard.
